TERMS. $2.00 A YEAR

REFUSE PONY EXPRESS LICENSES

Vote By Aldermen Stands 15 to 1. Action Pleading To Good Government Association

The principal matter before the Board of Aldermen at its meeting on Monday evening was the question as to whether or not permits should be issued in the City of Newton during the coming year for the transportation of intoxicating liquors, or, as they are more commonly known, "pony express" licenses.

The Board was called to order promptly by President Blakemore, every seat in the chamber being occupied and with standing at a premium.

Mr. M. J. Mulcahy, a Newton expressman, was the only person to appear in favor of the continuance of these licenses, he, however, not responding until after those who opposed the renewal of the licenses had been heard.

Two communications were read by the Clerk favoring the granting of the permits. Butters Express of Watertown stating in a letter that its business had always been conducted under the careful supervision of the Police Department and strictly in accordance with law.

The following communication also in favor of the licenses was read:

"To the Board of Aldermen: Believing as we do, that the refusal of your Honorable Board to grant the so-called 'Pony Express' licenses this year will result in great inconvenience to the hospitals, physicians, druggists and painters of our city and also to many others who have a legitimate use for alcohol in a large way, and, furthermore that said action will result in the invasion of our peaceful city by the trucks and teams of the brewers and by the agents and delivery teams of the grocery grocers of Boston and Brighton, and also in a marked increase in objectionable advertising by the Rum Interests,

"We, the Newton Board of Trade, do hereby petition the Honorable Board of Aldermen and pray that one license be granted in each of the several sections of Newton for the transportation of liquor.

"Respectfully yours,
Newton Board of Trade,
W. L. Sampson, Secretary.
Approved,
Fred A. Hubbard, President."

In the absence of Mr. Thomas Weston, Jr., one of the leaders of the opposition, Mr. Fred S. Retan of West Newton introduced the various opponents of the "pony express" permits.

Dr. H. S. Pomroy of Auburn spoke on the matter from a physician's standpoint, protesting against the members of his profession being dragged into the matter by the expressmen. He said the granting of these permits had no interest whatever to the members of his profession and he could see no reason why it should interest the Newton Hospital.

Mr. Retan in his preliminary remarks said: "We feel the seriousness of this occasion, we who come to protest, and the far reaching consequences that may result from anything we may say or do that the members of the Board may do. We come from a sense of duty and not for pay."

He then called on Rev. Alon H. Robinson of the Unitarian Society of Newton Centre.

Twenty-eight churches and other organizations petitioned against granting further licenses.

Mr. Allan S. Emery, president of the Newton Y. M. C. A., read letters from the officials of different cities, showing that conditions had improved after the bolition of these licenses.

Senator Charles M. Cox spoke of the conditions in Melrose. He thought Newton people would be pleased to know that a former Newton woman, Mrs. Frank A. Stone, president of the Melrose W. C. T. U., was a leader in bolishing the licenses in Melrose. He believed in the five years that Melrose had been without the licenses the consumption of liquor in the city had greatly decreased. He stated that it was a curious fact that real estate values had materially advanced.

Mr. Freeman H. Newhall told of the handling of the matter in Lynn.

Mrs. Bertrand E. Taylor, president of the Newton Federation of Women's Clubs, with a membership of 1800, particularly emphasized the fact that the bringing in of this liquor and the placing of it at such easy access to the women and children, greatly handicapped the work which her association and other associations were doing for the betterment of the homes and lives of many of the citizens of Newton.

On behalf of Mrs. Hilton of the community House of Upper Falls, she stated that the refusal of these petitions would greatly improve conditions in that district.

Mrs. W. E. Birdsall, president of the Newton Civic Council, cleverly illustrated the points of her arguments with interesting stories. She said that the Newton Civic Council was particularly interested in this matter because it meant the improvement of Citizenship. She spoke on the subject from different standpoints, from that of the expressmen who simply desired to make as much money as possible, which she believed was perfectly natural, from that of the great body of uplifiers present, who desired to improve social conditions in the city, and from that of the Board of Aldermen, which stands as a judicial body to hear the evidence and make a decision.

She reminded the board of the fact that the "uplifters" were ever ready to stand by the board in any action that they might see fit to take, where-by the evil might be corrected.

Rev. W. W. Ryan, pastor of the Myrtle Baptist Church, told of the conditions existing in his locality, and said that the freedom with which the liquor is now being distributed was greatly injuring the homes and his church.

Dr. W. K. Lewis of Newton, believed that if the Board should refuse to grant these permits, they would have the support of practically all of the community, because he believed the overwhelming vote of the city against the sale of liquor manifested the sentiment of the city on the liquor question as a whole.

Mr. H. Huestis Newton of Everett spoke on the legal side of the question. Mr. Retan in closing for the opponents believed that the members of the Board did not question the fact that the expressmen had gone too far with this traffic. He believed their claims that the city owed them a continuance of these licenses because they are citizens and have families to support, had no weight when one considered the vote of the city against the sale of liquor.

At this point Mr. M. J. Mulcahy took up the cause for the expressmen, declaring that he had always been a law-abiding citizen and had conducted his business under the supervision of the Police Department and in accordance with the law. He believed any other expressmen present should make themselves known and answer the charges brought against the expressmen.

The hearing was declared closed. The following report of the Committee on Public Franchises and Licenses was submitted to the Board:

"On the question of whether licenses for the transportation of liquor shall be granted by this Board for the coming year, your committee after a careful investigation beg to submit the following report:

"On April 9th a hearing was given by your Committee to the petitioners and any one else favoring the granting of these permits. At this hearing a majority of the Expressmen asking for this privilege appeared. They asked that licenses for the transportation of liquor be given them for several reasons:

NEWTON V CATION WEEK

Annual Dividend of Happiness To Be Declared June 1

The work of the Newton Vacation Week will begin June 1, trusting in the continued interest of those who for many years have made it possible. The $360 received last year yielded its full dividend of happiness, and many worn out workers are even now anticipating their yearly outing. In addition to the usual donations to the Old People's Home, and the Pomroy Children, ten family parties, including 32 people, enjoyed a day at beach or park, fourteen people spent a week or more at Sharon, and four, at Good Cheer Camp, while six more had longer sojourns at quiet homes in the country. Travelling expenses were paid for five, to visit friends, and seven old people were lifted over the dull season, when all the money people were away. Much-needed dentistry made the summer brighter for one, and a Membership Ticket to the Y. M. C. A., for another.

This year a special case of need calls for $50 extra, and at least $300 will be required for cases already on the list. Donations, large or small, may be sent to any of the committee: Mrs. Geo. Agry, Mrs. A. B. Bassett, Miss Emma Walker, Miss Margaret Wilder, Miss Elizabeth Spear.

MISSIONARIES IN SESSION

More than 500 Delegates at Two Days' Meetings at Newton Centre

In the First Baptist Church, Newton Centre, Wednesday and Thursday, the 43rd annual meeting of the Woman's Baptist Foreign Missionary Society was held with more than 500 delegates from the Eastern States present.

Scripture was read by Mrs. M. Grant Edmonds of Chestnut Hill, president of the society. She also told of the Judson Centennial celebration.

Mrs. H. G. Stafford of Newton, foreign secretary, gave an account of her missionary trip around the world last year. Mrs. C. E. Nichols, State secretary of New York, conducted a memorial service, and Miss Linnie M. Holbrook, a missionary at Assam, told of the work in that section.

Luncheon was served in Bray Hall. The meeting adopted the recommendation of the directors, changing the name of the organization to the Woman's American Baptist Foreign Mission Society. Greetings from the secretary were read by Mrs. Andrew MacLeish of Glencoe, Ill., and Mrs. R. R. West of Newton Centre extended greetings from the Home for the Children of Missionaries.

Wednesday evening the session was devoted to the young women. Miss Harriet S. Ellis having charge. Miss Marie A. Dowling of China, gave an exhibition of "The Priest of Shaohsing". Greetings were also given by eight young women, who are soon to depart for foreign fields, under the direction of the society.

Dr. Anna Degenring, who has charge of the hospital at Nellore, India, spoke on the work there in the last year. Oriental curios were exhibited in the parsonage Wednesday.

PRESENT CHURCH TO CITY

Newton Centre Raising $5000 To Move Structure To Playground

The gift of the present edifice of the Trinity Episcopal Church, Newton Centre, to the city, on condition that it be moved and located on the Newton Centre Playground, was accepted by the Board of Aldermen Monday evening. The building is valued at $10,000, and one of the conditions with the gift is that the upper part of the structure shall be continued to be used as a place of worship until the contemplated new church shall be ready for occupancy.

The building is 75 feet by 35 feet, of wooden structure, and is now located at the corner of Centre and Homer streets. The new building will be built on the present site, plans for which are now being made.

In order to move the present church to its new site on the playground the sum of $5000 will be needed, and this amount is now being raised among the residents of that locality. When the church is located on its new location, the lower part of the building will be used for heating purposes, locker rooms and whatever else the Playground Commission deem best, while the upper part will be continued to be used for worship until the new building is completed.

VETERAN DRUGGIST DEAD

John J. Noble Had Been in Business At Newton Centre Since 1868

Succumbing to a shock which he sustained 10 days ago, John J. Noble, the veteran Newton Centre druggist, died this morning at his home, 31 Pleasant street. He was in his 68th year. For 46 years he had been in the drug business in Newton Centre.

The funeral will probably take place Sunday, although at a late hour today the arrangements had not been fully made.

Mr. Noble was one of the best known business men of the South Side, and was favorably known to a host of friends. He was born in Augusta, Me., in 1842. As a young man he was employed in drug stores in Brookline and Charlestown.

Coming to this city, he opened a drug store in Newton Centre in 1868. His store was nearly opposite the one which he had conducted for the last 16 years in the Associates' Block, 1217 Centre street.

Mr. Noble was many years active in the upbuilding of Newton, particularly of his home ward. In his profession he was a veteran member of the Massachusetts Pharmaceutical Association.

While attending to duties in his store Monday evening, April 20, Mr. Noble was stricken by a "shock." His clerk, on returning to the store, found him unconscious in the rear room. Becoming ill he had started to get a drink of water, it is presumed, and fell exhausted.

Mr. Noble was taken to his home in a wheel chair. He remained conscious until yesterday, although little hope for his recovery was held out at any time. Yesterday his condition became slowly worse.

A widow and one son, Walter E. Noble, of Fall River, survive.

GETS PHI BETA KAPPA KEY

Newton Centre Student Wins Academic Honor at Brown.

Frederick Hartwell Greene, Brown, '15, of Newton Centre, was this week elected to the honorary society of Phi Beta Kappa. Election to the society is on the basis of scholarship, not more than one-sixth of the class being eligible for membership. Greene has also been quite active in debating at Brown. In his freshman and sophomore years he debated on the class teams, and this year he was a member of the varsity debating team which defeated Williams. Greene has won his "B" by playing on the varsity tennis team, and is manager of the team this year. He is a member of the Delta Upsilon fraternity.

BRIDGE PARTY

Mr. and Mrs. N. Edwin Covell entertained at bridge, on Wednesday evening at their residence on Highland avenue, Newtonville, in honor of their guest, Mrs. W. B. Taylor of Halifax, Nova Scotia. Four tables were arranged in the reception rooms, and the decorative scheme was pink. The same was auction bridge, and the first prize for ladies was taken by Mrs. Alvah J. Steadman of West Newton. Dr. Lewis H. Jack captured the first prize for gentlemen.

BIG ODD FELLOWSHIP BIRTHDAY

Seven Newton Organizations Join in Brilliant Observance of 95th Anniversary

No entertainment in the history of any of the seven organizations which participated ever eclipsed in attractiveness the 95th anniversary observance of Odd Fellowship Monday evening in Odd Fellows' Hall, Newtonville.

Throughout the evening two halls were filled to overflowing. Members and their guests came from every part of the city.

The lodges that took part were Newton Lodge of West Newton, Waban Lodge of Newtonville, Home Lodge of Newton Highlands, Highland Rebekah Lodge of Newton Highlands, Tennyson Rebekah Lodge of West Newton, Sumner P. Lawrence Rebekah Lodge of Newtonville and Garden City Encampment.

One of the features was an address of welcome by Mayor Childs, who only recently had taken his third degree in Newton Lodge. Briefly he traced the history of Odd Fellowship in this city, and touched upon the work of the seven organizations in assisting in upbuilding Newton. He paid tribute to the officials and the rank and file of members, who, by faithful work, have made the local organizations leaders in Odd Fellowship in Massachusetts.

The Mayor was introduced by Noble Grand Skelton of Newton Lodge of West Newton.

As the Mayor was about to begin his address of welcome, the Lotus Male Quartet, at that moment in an ante-room, struck up the strains of "Sweet Adeline." The incident caused not a little amusement, and Mayor Childs joined in the laugh.

The entertainment, which lasted until 10 o'clock, included additional selections by the quartet, and readings. Throughout the evening whist was played in the smaller hall, 100 tables being occupied.

At 10 o'clock the floor was cleared for dancing, which continued until midnight, when special trolley cars carried the members of the gathering to their homes in different parts of the city.

From 9.30 to 12 o'clock a buffet luncheon was served. There was an attractive menu.

The anniversary celebration was attended by about 600 persons.

The reception committee comprised the noble grands and vice-grands of each lodge and the chief patriarch and senior warden of Garden City Encampment.

The dance committee comprised the following:

Floor manager, Fred R. Gardner; Floor director, Theodore O. Bjornson; Aids, John C. Skelton, Edith M. Russell, Archie A. Wilson, H. Jennie Fewkes, and Addie M. Peck.

The whist committee included, Chas. F. Dow, Harvey C. Wood, Joseph G. Kilburn, and Ralph L. Hamilton.

Refreshments were served under direction of Hiram W. Forbes, John C. Skelton, Reuben Rottler, Joseph G. Kilburn, Frances S. Wilson, Lillian Hamilton and Addie M. Peck.

Following was the general committee in charge of the observance:

Garden City Encampment—Charles F. Dow, C. P.; Ralph L. Hamilton, S. W.; Charles W. Fewkes, Edwin C. Richardson, Hiram W. Forbes.

EDITORIAL

John Kendrick Bangs, who is himself said to be an "enthusiastic motorist" criticizes his fellows in these severe words in Lippincott's Magazine:

"We go with out cars where we have not been asked to go; we tear up the country roads with our heavily built cars; we require our unwitting hosts practically to rebuild at their own expense these same highways every season; and then we call them mossbacks and fossils because we do not find boulevards and parkways waiting for us on every hand. We know my lord's answer to this—that we leave enough money behind us to pay for it all—but as a matter of fact we don't! And even if we did, it would hardly be polite of us to call a host a mossback and a reuben, excusing ourselves on the ground that we had tipped a few of his servants. No. Our manners need some amending in this particular—and in another particular as well."

Will his fellow motorists roast Mr. Bangs for making this confession? Some of them will; not all.

"There will not be an unsightly spot in the whole city. Fences and out-houses are to be overgrown with perennially blooming vines, vacant lots will be cleared and sown with flowers that bloom the year around, houses will be freshly painted, streets cleared of all weeds and rubbish, bare walls adorned with window ledge flower boxes, and hanging baskets from roof ledges, and flower gardens will appear everywhere, until the town becomes one great, fragrant beautiful bouquet. Arrangements have been made to secure by property owners a certain number of small ornamental trees in pots, cuttings of creeping vines and packages of flower seeds for the asking. Ideal, isn't it? Where are all these wonderful things to be done? At San Diego, Cal., where they are going to hold an exposition in competition with San Francisco. Pity that all the cities and towns in the country could not be exposition cities all the while!"

While the board of aldermen has in my opinion, somewhat indiscreetly bowed to the recent agitation, made by a few of our good citizens, and turned upside down the policy of this city in regard to the liquor question, every one will join in the work of making conditions in this city as good as possible. The only difference, it seems to me, is one of methods, and not of results. We all desire a clean, temperance city, with the maximum of efficiency and the minimum of evil, and while the new policy will undoubtedly bring new and possibly unexpected conditions, which will have to be met and solved, there should be no hesitation on the part of every good citizen as to where he should stand in the matter.

More Boston playhouses are turning to motion pictures. But the Newton dramatic season seems still in full swing.

Senator Weeks spoke tersely Monday about the bill which proposes to increase from $500 to $2000 the total of an individual's deposit in postal savings banks. He alluded to an amendment by Senator Gallinger of New Hampshire fixing the limit at $1000. Mr. Weeks said he is opposed to both provisions, but of the two preferred the Gallinger amendment. He pointed out that there are many third-class and fourth-class postoffices not equipped with safes. Business men in small towns, having considerable sums of money on hand, would deposit these with the postmasters and the government would become responsible. Senator Weeks also spoke against the grain inspection bill, pending in the Senate. It would increase the number of government employees, and in other ways the senator said he believed it is undesirable legislation.

CITY HALL NOTES

The City Hall will be represented in the Suffragette Parade on Saturday, by Miss Marie A. Nolan of the Mayor's office and Miss Alice M. Wright of the City Treasurer's Department.

Andy Prior, our genial Sealer of Weights and Measures, is expecting a new Ford machine to arrive this week, which accounts for his broad grin.

UNDER THE GILDED DOME

Governor Walsh's success in ousting from office Adjutant General Pearson may cost the Governor a large number of Democratic votes next fall. Shrewd political observers say that the Governor should not have allowed himself to be drawn into a controversy among commissioned officers of the militia, and that he should have considered his political future before taking any part in a controversy wherein some of his staunchest supporters were enlisted on the other side. It has been known ever since he took office that the Governor was "after Pearson," but the Governor has never publicly declared his reasons for seeking the Adjutant General's removal. Instead, the Governor has been in the position of urging upon the Legislature a bill providing for a change in the tenure of office of Adjutant General from five years to one year. Many of the Democrats were inclined to balk until assured that it would avail them nothing if they did. General Pearson is a prominent Democrat and has been appointed by Governor Foss. Furthermore, he has a host of friends among the Democrats of Lowell, his home city, and of that vicinity where, by the way, there are many leading Democrats of the State. Well, it's all over now. The Republicans should worry.

Senator Hilton did his utmost to secure on Wednesday the passage of the bill to compel the railroads to issue three months season tickets as formerly. He answered the argument that the matter was one for the Public Service Commission by stating that business men of various communities had appealed to the Public Service Commission but had obtained no satisfaction. The bill was rejected, however, by a vote of 10 to 15.

The Progressive members of the House seldom if ever agreed on a single measure. Two of them in particular are as bitter in debate toward each other as if they represented opposite sides.

Tuesday the House threshed out the question of druggists' sixth class licenses which they finally settled by refusing to substitute for an adverse committee report a bill which provided that licenses of this class should be abolished. Sarcastic reference to Newton was made in the course of the debate by opponents of the bill. As there were present in the chamber among the spectators several Newtonians who have been conspicuous in the crusade against the druggists some of the things said must have made their ears tingle. The attempt to substitute the bill failed 93 to 119. Messrs. Bothfield and Ellis voted for substitution and Mr. White against.

There is daily shown continued evidence of the excellent work of Newton's representatives, both on the floor and in committees. As chairman of Ways and Means Mr. White has given much time and study to the many subjects before that body and has ably presented the committee's attitude to the House. As House chairman of Metropolitan affairs Mr. Bothfield has again proved one of the most efficient members of that body. Mr. Ellis as House chairman of the committee on railroads, has had a busy year with the prospect of many more days of hard work before adjournment. His success on this committee is already well known.

MORRISSEY-McDEVITT

The wedding of Miss Gertrude McDevitt of Somerville, the daughter of Mrs. Margaret McDevitt, and Mr. Frank Howard Morrissey, recently of Newton, took place Sunday at St. Catherine's Church, Somerville. The ceremony was performed by the Rev. Jas. J. O'Brien.

The bride wore white crepe de chine with pearl and chintilly lace trimmings, her veil being caught with orange blossoms. She carried a shower bouquet of white roses. Miss Angela Morrissey, sister of the groom, was the maid of honor, and wore pink tulle trimmed with cream lace with pink picture hat to match, and carried Killarney roses. Mr. Jas. P. McDevitt of Somerville was best man. After a brief reception at the home of the bride's mother, Mr. and Mrs. Morrissey left on a trip to Atlantic City and Washington. They will be at home after July 1st at 214 Highland avenue, Somerville.

POP CONCERT PLEASURES

Novel Features in Newtonville Program Amuse Large Audience

One of the delightful entertainments of the season at Newtonville, was last evening's pop concert in Masonic Hall, under the auspices of the Young People's League of the New Church Society, for which preparations had been going on for several weeks. There was a large audience.

The program opened with a selection by an orchestra directed by Schuyler Adams. Then came a humorous Greek dialogue by Miss Alice Sampson and Miss Helen Kempton. A song, "Parla Waltz," by Ethel Walcott Ross (Florence Parker Stoddard), was followed by "A Bit of Old Holland" by Miss Miriam Kimball and Miss Helen Beebe.

Mr. J. R. Osgood Perkins and Mr. Albert F. Pickernell were a hit in their sketch, "A Pair of Vaude-Villains." A group of songs by Ethel Walcott Ross, which were well received, were followed by an amusing monologue by Mr. E. Miles Sumner, who was billed as making "positively his last appearance in America." Two orchestral selections and the appearance of "An Impossible Quartet," comprising Messrs. E. Miles Sumner, Sturgis Plishon, Albert F. Pickernell, and Clinton Kyle, closed the program.

Refreshments were served under direction of Mr. Clinton E. Willey. His assistants included the Misses Bertha Howard, Emily Howard, Virginia Diamond, Mary Daboll, Sylvia Church, Metaleene Maxim, Eunice Clark, Margaret Sampson, Dorothy Wheaton, Margaret Wheaton, Helen Seavey, Marion Seavey, Helen Maxim, Beatrice Cook, Bertha Robinson, Charlotte Sibley, Eleanor Vinson, Anne Kimball, Marjorie Bellows, Margaret Kempton and Kathryn McLaughlin.

"THE CRICKET ON THE HEARTH"

The dramatization of "The Cricket on the Hearth" was admirably presented by the pupils of the class of 1914, Newton Technical High School, on Friday and Saturday evenings in the School hall.

The program was divided into three "chirps," and the first and third scenes represented the interior of John Perrybingle's Cottage. Walter Fletcher was excellent in the role of "John Perrybingle," a carrier, and the second scene was the work-shop of Caleb Plummer, in which Raymond Hammell took the part of "Caleb" to perfection.

The characters were well portrayed, many of the pupils displaying no small amount of talent. The cast included Lillian Cotter, Ruth Elliot, Walter Fletcher, Albert Kerr, Raymond Hammell, Roderick Blood, Gladys Hadley, Louise Moffatt, Mary MacDonald, Albert Considine, Lillian Fitzpatrick, and Charles Gilday. Knight's Orchestra was in attendance at both performances, and rendered an exceptionally fine program of 5 numbers including the popular selections of the day. Dancing followed the play.

The committee included Joseph Byers, 2nd, business manager; Corabel Robinson, Karolina Sundling, Genevieve Stuart, Philip Bourne, and Henry Jenkins.

The patronesses were Mrs. Spaulding, Mrs. Palmer, Mrs. Byers, Mrs. Maxim, Mrs. Wingate, Mrs. Kidger, Mrs. Hadley and Mrs. Thurber.

PRESENT DOUBLE BILL

Professionals Assist Local Amateurs In Plays for Newton Woman's Exchange

Under auspices of the Newton Woman's Exchange, amateurs and professionals presented a double bill in Players' Hall before good-sized audiences on Saturday and Tuesday evenings.

The program was opened with a one-act drama, "The Forgotten Melody" by Edward F. Payne. The story centers around Prof. Otto Meinsinger, an old German musician, a melody from whose opera has been stolen by a vaudeville performer named Tommy, who was his friend. Tommy's stage partner Daisy, wrote words for the melody and they produced it as a popular song. The parts were all played by professionals of well-known ability. Hubert Pierce taking the part of the Professor, George Wellington that of Tommy and Miss Betty Barnicot that of Daisy, and they were obliged to respond to curtain calls.

"David Garrick" a comedy in three acts was presented with a mixed cast of amateurs and professionals, under the direction of Mr. Hubert Pierce, who also played the leading role. Other experts were Mr. Harry Anthistle in the role of Squire Dick Chivy, and Miss Ruth Garland in the part of Ada. They were assisted by a well-picked cast of Newton's best amateur actors, and although the parts were not large they had an opportunity to display their talents and did so effectively. It would be impossible to mention the good parts of each character, but it is sufficient to say that the play seemed far too short to the spectators. The costumes used were those of Garrick's time, about 1742, and the stage setting corresponded making a very pleasant effect. The cast was as follows:

David Garrick . . . Hubert Pierce
Simon Ingot . . . F. W. Sprague, 2d
Squire Chivy . . . Harry Anthistle
Mr. Smith . . . Willard E. Higgins
Mr. Browne . . . J. Ellis Gammons
Mr. Jones . . . Bradford Howe
Thomas . . . Ernest Clark
George . . . George Toney
Ada . . . Miss Ruth Garland
Araminta . . . Miss Marion Bassett
Mrs. Smith . . . Miss Alice Sampson
Russell's Orchestra gave a pleasing program between the acts and also played for dancing which followed in the small hall.

The ushers for Saturday evening were Miss Ruth Homer, Miss Gladys Keesler, Miss Marion Kelsey, Miss Mabel Mason, Miss Ruth Pierce, Miss Hildegarde Shirley, Miss Mary Sprague, Miss Margaret Spaulding, Miss Elizabeth Van Tassel. And for Tuesday evening were Miss Dorothy Lucas, Mrs. Edward Van Tassel, Mrs. D. M. Lodge, Miss Barbara Wellington, Miss Esther Wing, Miss Elizabeth Ganse, Miss Clara Webster, Miss Helen Wadham, Miss Emily Wellington.

MANY STUNTS IN CARNIVAL

Entertainment at Eliot Chapel Has Appreciative Audience

There was an attendance of about 200 at the Carnival given last evening at Eliot Chapel by the Young People's Christian Association.

A varied program included music and athletic stunts by members of the Y. M. C. A. A circus, a burlesque on the Mexican Army, the mysterious head and the pianist room, were among the interesting features. The Y. M. C. A. Orchestra furnished music. Ice cream and candy were sold at booths, presided over by young lady members of the association. The decorations were pink and white and pink roses were arranged on the tables.

The entertainment was under direction of Mr. Edward McCarroll and an efficient committee which included Miss Irene Brown, Miss Bernice Perry, Lohair Van Buskirk and Philip Horn. The proceeds are for the benefit of the Daily Vacation Bible School.

NEWTON CLUB NOTES

Afternoon bridge on Wednesday, April 22, was largely attended by members and guests, filling about fifteen tables. The ladies receiving were Mrs. H. J. Nichols, Mrs. H. Belden Sly and Mrs. Norman Bankhart.

On the following night, the usual neighborhood party gathered, filling the house in all parts with large numbers of members and guests. The dance hall had about forty couples from early in the evening until nearly midnight, and under the influence of the spirited pianist, a great many happy moments were passed. The maxixe was danced by about half a dozen couples on two occasions, and young and old entered into the spirit of the evening. It was one of the largest attendances of the season, the alleys being well patronized, and a great deal of keen competition for the prizes was in order. The ladies' prize was won by Mrs. F. A. Toole, with a net score of 105 sticks laid flat. The billiard and pool tables were kept busy throughout the evening, and a special luncheon was served at 10.30 by Steward Piper.

Competition for the club championship is going on, and also for the handicap championship, which will be finished in time for the grand final roll-off between the winning teams of the ladies and gentlemen in the tournament. The roll-off is scheduled to take place on Thursday, May 14, and plans are now in the making for one of the most notable affairs of the season. The competition for the president's cup, which has been going on all the season, was finally won by Mr. F. A. Toole, with an average of 103.7-11 for 71 strings, the close second being W. Dana Follett with an average of 103.15-59 for 59 strings. The rest of the competitors were well bunched, there being but a small fraction between the high and low man. On Patriot's Day, the alleys were kept busy all day, prizes being won by Mrs. W. D. Fulton and Carl F. Schipper.

On Tuesday, April 28, the L'Africain trio gave an interesting program which was heartily received by a large audience. Florence M. Carter was at the piano, Almee L. L'Africain, violinist, Hazel N. L'Africain, cellist, were assisted by Helen Mathews-Arey, contralto and Edward J. Quinn, reader. The children's May party will be held Saturday, at 2 P. M., with the following ladies in charge: Mrs. W. C. Bamburg, Mrs. Horton S. Allen, Mrs. John W. Field, who will be assisted by a large number of young ladies of the club. The ladies in charge have asked all of the members to have their children attend this party, and, with the dance, refreshments and favors, it is expected that the success of the affair will vie with the Christmas party.

Annual Meeting Next Monday—Boys' Department Pet and Hobby Show A Success.

The annual meeting of the Newton Y. M. C. A. will be held next Monday evening. Dinner will be served at 6:30 and a very interesting program setting forth the year's work will be presented. The Boys' Orchestra will play and the occasion promises to be one of great interest to association members and their friends.

Six directors will be elected at this meeting to serve for three years. After the annual meeting the new Board of Directors will meet to elect a president, vice-president, treasurer, and clerk for another year.

where the Waban playground is to be if seniors wish to play ball juniors and midgets have to vacate. It is understood that a fence is soon to be erected by private parties that will make the present playground still smaller.

BENEFIT AUCTION

Newton society was well represented at the Auction Benefit given on Monday and Tuesday afternoons at the Brae-Burn Country Club, and the affair, both socially and financially, was a great success.

The tables were arranged in the large dining-room, and on Monday
there were thirty-three, and on Tuesday forty-two, tables.

A substantial sum was realized at the candy table, which was in charge of a committee of ladies under the chairmanship of Mrs. Frank Stone of Newton Highlands, and included Mrs.
Robert Hayden and Mrs. William E.
Shred of Newton Centre, Mrs. Albert
E. Flint of Auburndale, Mrs. Goldwin
S. Sprague, Mrs. Edmund Leeds and Mrs. Vernon B. Sweet of Newton.

Refreshments were served in the small dining-room which was attractively decorated for the occasion in Wellesley blue, with an effective arrangement of flowers on the table.

On Monday afternoon the ladies who poured were, Mrs. Vernon Sweet, Mrs.
George Fernald, Miss Alice Rowe and Miss Walworth, and on Tuesday the pourers included Mrs. Albert P. Carter, Mrs. Edmund Leeds, Mrs. Lewis Eaton and Miss Alice Paine.

There was an attendance of about 325 from Boston, Brookline, Wakefield and the Newtons, and the proceeds are for the benefit of the Endowment and Re-Building Fund of Wellesley College.

The success of the affair was largely due to the efforts of Mrs. Robert G.
Howard of Waverley avenue, Newton, who was chairman of the committee in charge. The ladies serving on the committee were, Mrs. Curtis Nye Smith, Mrs. Vernon B. Sweet, Mrs. Edmund L. Leeds, of Newton; Mrs. Albert P. Carter and Mrs. George Fernald of Newtonville; Mrs. Robert F. Hayden, Mrs. Lewis F. Eaton and Miss Walworth of Newton Centre; Mrs. Robert Chapman, Jr., Miss Alice Paine, and Miss Alice Rowe of West Newton;
Mrs. Henry P. Dowd of Waban; Mrs.
Frank Stone of Newton Highlands, and Mrs. Albert E. Flint of Auburndale.

WOMEN'S CLUBS

Miss Grace M. Burt, Editor.

The coming week will see the close of the meetings of all the clubs of the city. That the year has been a good one and that the future looks bright cannot but be realized from the club notes as they have appeared from week to week in this column. The Club Editor takes this occasion to thank all the clubs for so kindly cooperating to make the column a success. The friendly relations which have existed on the part of the club correspondents, and the Club Editor have made the reporting of club doings a pleasure. If the column has served the clubs then indeed has the work been worth while.

Newton Federation

On Tuesday morning, May 5, at 10.30 at the Central Congregational Church, Newtonville, the Newton Federation of Women's Clubs holds its annual business meeting with annual reports of officers and chairman of committees, election of officers and reports from the club presidents. Luncheon will be served at one o'clock in the same place. The afternoon session will be held in the New Church parlors on Highland avenue and the attraction is a play given by members of the Waban Woman's Club. Club women will be admitted upon the presentation of their club membership tickets, as the meeting will not be open to the public owing to the limited seating capacity of the hall.

Local Announcements

The Newton Mothers Club will be entertained at luncheon on Monday, May 4, at the home of Mrs. Daniel Wing of Otis street. The annual business meeting will follow.

On Monday the Newton Highlands
C. L. S. C. meets with Miss Bacall, corner Forest and Walnut streets, for luncheon at one o'clock, after which will come the business of the annual meeting.

At the meeting of the Social Science Club on Wednesday morning there will be a short business session after which one of the members will tell of "Vacation Experiences," the talk being illustrated by lantern slides.

The Pierian Club meets for luncheon and the annual business meeting, with Mrs. Nutter on Wednesday, May 6, at one o'clock.

Local Happenings

The Newton Highlands Monday Club met with Mrs. H. B. Walker on Bow-doin street on April 27. Mrs. Hiram A. Miller gave a paper entitled "As Others See Us," and a quartet sang MacDowell's "Parting," accompanied by Mrs. Florence L. B. Robbins. The annual reports showed the club to have had a prosperous and profitable year. The new officers are: president, Mrs. L. H. Marshall; first vice-president, Mrs. C. H. Keeler; second vice-president, Mrs. S. A. Thompson; recording secretary, Mrs. H. W. Osgood; corresponding secretary, Mrs. George W. Barker; treasurer, Mrs. J. H. Turnbull. The club will divide its study next season between South America and Modern Literature.

On Monday afternoon the Newton Highlands C. L. S. C. closed its year's study with the consideration of "Social Essays," Miss Webster being in charge.
She quoted Dr. Burton's definition of the essay as being "an expanded collection of notes." There are many kinds, but in a way all are social, though the real social essay is strictly individual. The present style of writing is simple and direct. Selections were read from Dr. Crothers, "In the Hands of a Receiver," "Woman in Government" by Jane Addams, "Our Loss of Nerve" by Agnes Repplier,
"Citizenship in a Republic," Theodore Roosevelt, and "Studies in Political Science" by Woodrow Wilson. Mrs. J. W. Mc-Intyre, who was a guest, told of her vacation experiences in Canada last summer.

The Waban Woman's Club held its Annual Meeting on Monday afternoon, April 27th, in the Union Church vestry instead of at the home of Mrs. George M. Angier, the president, who was unable to be present on account of sailing for Europe. Mrs. Pietro Isola, vice-president, took charge of the meeting in her usual able manner and after the reading of different reports songs were charmingly rendered by Miss Hanson, and violin selections pleasingly given by Mrs. Piser, both being accompanied by Miss Marion Miller. A short description of the Women's City Club was then given by Mrs. Irving and a most delicious tea provided by Mrs. Angier, was served.

The officers elected for 1914-1915 are as follows: president, Mrs. Emma G. Angier; vice-president Mrs. Marcia
B. Marsh; recording secretary, Mrs.
Florence P. Kimball; corresponding secretary, Mrs. Harriet B. Pinkree; treasurer, Mrs. Florence R. Guppy; director for three years, Mrs. Sarah B. Souther; chairman entertainment committee, Mrs. Margaret S. Dowst; nominating committee, Mrs. Abigail W.
May; Mrs. Ruth L. Wiley and Mrs. Ruth Winchester; auditor, Mrs. Clara Heald.

Parliamentary Law Club held its annual meeting in the hall of the Newton Library, the president, Mrs. Walter A. Beedle, presiding. After the usual practice session came the business of the annual meeting, when the following list of officers were elected for the coming year: president, Mrs. Isabella W. Hardon; first vice-president, Mrs.
George Kuhn Clarke; second vice-president, Mrs. Myra G. Hall; third vice-president, Miss Elizabeth C.
Wood; recording secretary, Mrs. Walter A. Beedle; treasurer, Mrs. Willard D. Tripp; auditor, Mrs. James I. Wingate.

The Auburndale Woman's Club held its second meeting on Tuesday, May Charles A. Brown, the president, in the chair. Mrs. G. M. Winslow was elected first vice-president; Mrs.

Wentworth, second vice-president;
Mrs. Heuter, corresponding secretary.
Mrs. Arthur Lane is recording secretary; and the Executive committee are Miss Pelouchet, Mrs. St. Amant, Mrs.
W. K. Chandler, Mrs. Herron is chairman of the hospitality committee and Mrs. J. N. Draper, chairman of the program committee. The program of the afternoon opened with a group of charming Spring songs sung by Mrs.
Lyman Gore, with Mrs. McNutt at the piano. Mrs. Joseph N. Draper read a paper on the work of the Federated Women's Clubs and the advantages of the Auburndale Woman's Club's joining the State Federation. It was voted that this be done. Refreshments were served, Mrs. Sweet and Mrs. Thomas, presiding over the tea table. About two hundred and fifty have joined, and much interest is shown in the plans for the coming year.

The West Newton Women's Educational Club held its thirty-fourth annual meeting in the rose room of the Hotel Lenox on Friday, April 24.
This was a departure from all previous annual meetings which, hitherto, have been held in West Newton or in Auburndale, but quite in keeping with the club's motto, "The old order gives place to the new."

Everything, including the weather, conspired to make the occasion a happy and memorable one, and to the efficient chairman, Mrs. Arthur B.
Munroe, much credit is due.

Luncheon was served at one o'clock.
The tables were artistically decorated in asparagus vines and pink carnations, which were later distributed among the ladies.

The president, Mrs. George W. St.
Amant, presided at the head table with her officers and guests of honor, Mrs.
J. W. McIntyre, president of the Newton Federation, and Mrs. George C.
Phipps of Newton Highlands, an honorary member of the club.

Seated at the various round tables were the members and their guests.
Remarks appropriate to the occasion were made by Mrs. St. Amant and by Mrs. McIntyre.

An entertainment followed consisting of vocal selections, delightfully rendered by Miss Carr, accompanied by Mrs. Nickerson.

Recitations by Miss Slattery, a young artist of promise. Presentation of a beautiful picture to Mrs. M. E.
Beardsley, the retiring treasurer; of roses to the retiring corresponding secretary, Mrs. C. Edwin Quinn, and also to Mrs. St. Amant.

A vocal selection, "Come to My Heart," by Miss Davis, accompanied by Mrs. Sibley, was greatly enjoyed and finished the program.

A short recess followed after which the annual business meeting was held, and the officers for the ensuing year elected.

President, Mrs. George W. St.
Amant; vice-presidents, Mrs. W. A.
Beedle, Mrs. George D. Byfield; recording secretary, Mrs. John R. Mc-Lane; corresponding secretary, Mrs.
J. L. Seaver; treasurer, Mrs. F. E.
Nowers; directors, Mrs. Arthur B.
Munroe, Mrs. I. T. Farnham, Mrs. C.
Edwin Quinn; auditor, Mrs. Harry Wells.

There was a large attendance at the annual meeting of the Social Science Club on Wednesday morning. As usual the reports of officers and committees were full of interest, bringing together as they do the whole work of the club for the year. The club has given $500 for philanthropic work, including gifts to the Stearns School center, to the Newton Hospital, to the Social Service work of the Newton Federation, a scholarship at Hampton Institute and a smaller sum to the school gardens. The stamp savings committee has collected from the children of the Lincoln, Undervood and Bigelow schools, a little more than $350. These are a few of the things done by the club, not to mention the good program which has been maintained during the year. Mrs. Edmund
I. Leeds, chairman of the education committee, told of an investigation made by her committee into the heating, ventilating and sanitation of the school buildings of this ward. These officers were elected for the ensuing year.

President, Mrs. Louis Stoughton
Drake; vice-presidents, Mrs. Everett
E. Kent, Mrs. James W. McIntyre, Mrs.
Charles H. Breck, Mrs. Alfred W. Fuller, Mrs. Sterling E. Elliott, Mrs. Vernon B. Sweet; recording secretary, urer, Mrs. Henry K. Hobart; auditor, board of directors, Mrs. Henry I. Harrigan; directors, Mrs. Jessie M.

Fisher, Mrs. William H. Daggett, Mrs.
Charles B. Gleason, Mrs. Edward W.
Howe.

Following the business meeting the members sat down to a dainty lunchcon arranged by the social committee,
Mrs. Edward M. Hall, chairman.
The tables were decorated with artistic floral arrangements.

WOMEN'S CLUB

tically arranged baskets of white sweet peas and ferns, green and white being the club colors. These were also carried out so far as possible in the courses served, in the candles and the place cards. After the luncheon Mrs. Drake called the company to order and presented Mrs. Alfred W. Fuller, who acted as toastmistress. The first speaker was Mrs. Walcott Calkins and her subject, "Club Traditions". Mrs. Elizabeth W. Whitbread read an original poem on the club motto, "Privilege is Obligation." Miss Grace Weston told something of her winter spent in Nantucket and of the clubs she visited there. Miss Grace M. Burt brought greetings from the State Federation, Mrs. J. W. McIntyre from the Newton Federation. Miss Georgia H. Emery, who has recently returned from a visit around the world, brought word from Mrs. H. H. Powers, and told of social incidents along her journey. Mrs. Charles B. Gleason contributed a humorous poem to the occasion and Mrs. Fuller, who made a delightful toastmistress, closed the program with original verses on the club colors, "Green and White." The affair was greatly enjoyed by all present and there were universal expressions of the hope that it may be made an annual feature.

NEWTON WOMAN'S CLUB

Monday afternoon the Newton Woman's Club held their last programme meeting, at the Newton Club. An excellent entertainment was given by the Hinton-Verdi company, composed of Miss Hinton, well-known for her characterization in dialect, and Mr. Verdi, the "One Band-man" of great musical ability. This troupe was augmented by selections of Liszt's and Schumann's, charmingly played by Miss Manning of Newton. The next meeting will be the business meeting and luncheon at the Brae-Burn Club, Thursday, May 7 at 11 A. M.

NEWTONVILLE WOMAN'S PLAY

Mrs. Ethel R. Fried of Walnut street, Newtonville, has written a one-act pantomime with a large cast, which was given its first performance before the students and friends of the New England Conservatory dramatic department last Friday afternoon. This piece, "The Briar Rose", is based on an ancient Irish legend concerning a young girl who, in crossing the heath coming home from the market town, picks a flower that has been cursed by the "small folks". The baleful influence is finally dissipated by the blossom's coming into contact with the crucifix that is a part of the pious peasant home. This theme gives opportunity for introduction of several episodes and of various characters appropriate to Irish rural life. Mrs. Fried took part in the performance.

NEWTON LADIES' HOME CIRCLE

The Newton Ladies' Home Circle, in its annual meeting in Grand Army Hall, Newtonville, elected the following officers: President, Mrs. W. H. Brown of Auburndale; 1st vice-president, Mrs. Joshua Seaver of Newton Highlands; 2nd vice-president, Mrs. W. J. Sperl of Auburndale; recording secretary, Mrs. W. F. Hadlock of Auburndale; treasurer, Miss A. G. Chamberlain of Auburndale; corresponding secretary, Mrs. W. J. Sperl of Auburndale. The next meeting will be held on Thursday, May 7, in G. A. R. Hall.

THE SUFFRAGE PARADE

Flores, costumes, special features and the roster of women who are to take part in the big suffrage parade tomorrow, May 2, have been completed and suffragists are sanguine that the first parade ever held in New England will be a great success.

From more than 80 cities and towns in the state, delegations of women will go to Boston to represent their local leagues. Newton will be represented. There will be a separate division in the parade for the men who are brave enough to declare themselves in favor of votes-for-women.

The line of march will start, rain or shine, from Beacon street. It will form at 4.30 and will move at 5. First, the parade will march to the State House where Governor Walsh and Mayor Curley will review it. Then it will proceed to School, Washington and Elliot streets, to Park square, Boylston and Tremont streets to Tremont Temple where a mass meeting will be held.

NEW RECREATION FIELDS

The Aldermen this week appropriated $1800 for the purchase of lots adjoining the Horace Mann School, Newtonville. Under the present conditions the students have little room for exercise at recess. The sum of $2250 was also appropriated by the Board on condition that the residents of Auburndale raise $500 for the purchase of a baseball field in Auburndale Park. This section has been without a baseball field, and the residents have been conducting a canvass of that ward for the past few weeks to raise the necessary amount.

THE WORK OF THIRTY YEARS OF THE NEWTONVILLE WOMAN'S GUILD IN PHILANTHROPY

"The founders of our Guild, whom we regard with ever increasing admiration as the years roll by, intended that it should minister to the social, intellectual and philanthropic nature of the members and then to the community. In taking a backward gaze over these three decades of our existence, let us see if we have measured up to their ideals.
"I think we are all so keenly alive as to what our Club means to the community from a social and educational standpoint, that I will consider only the philanthropic side of our work, that upon which our founder laid such strong emphasis. This is pre-eminently an age of social service. This spirit is much more pronounced now than it was thirty years ago, and while at the present time every Woman's Club considers social service work indispensable to its well-being, it was not so when Mrs. Dickinson and her co-laborers formulated the plans for our Guild, they were decidedly in advance of their day in laying so much stress in serving the community in a broad way.
"From the very beginning the Guild adopted the Hospital as its special object of charity. Its first hospital committee, like those who have followed, was composed of women who worked ardently for the welfare of that institution long before it was anything more than a project in the minds of its founders. Our first donation was the sum of $145, for the furnishing of the dining-room. This from a small club, just starting out in its career, meant more labor and sacrifice than three times that amount would mean to us today.
"Perhaps the most striking illustration of the energy and devotion of the women of those early times is seen in the year when the Training School for Nurses was established, (the season of 1888-89) $340 being appropriated for that purpose, with a membership of only 110 and an annual fee of $1.25. This was in addition to small donations from other charities besides running expenses!
"As soon as the Training School began self-supporting we decided to maintain a free bed, at an annual expense of $300. This we continued to do for ten years. Since then we have donated sums ranging from $100 to $400 a year according to the various demands upon our treasury. It would be interesting, did time permit, to trace just the channels by which these sums have contributed to the comfort and welfare of the inmates of this institution. It is often said that figures are lifeless, but when we realize that during these thirty years we have given nearly $6100 to the Hospital, and when we reflect upon the thought, energy, and labor that this represents, it seems to me that these figures glow with the spirit of service.
"In our fifteenth year it seemed advisable to broaden our horizon a bit and assist some other of our local charities as well. The three which engaged our attention at first were the Associated Charities, the Newtonville Nursing Association, and the Home for Aged People. Of late we have contributed generously to the Nonantum Day Nursery Association, having given nearly a thousand dollars to that object.
"Twenty-one years ago we formed a branch of the Needlework Guild of America, made up of women who enthusiastically, and has distributed literally thousands of new garments to various worthy charities. During the last 14 years it has dispensed 9929 articles. We are proud to congratulate this child of ours in becoming of age this Spring. We have fostered it with affectionate care, and it has in turn made up to us by its sturdy robust and vigorous and eager for still greater usefulness.
"Another charity through which we have ministered to the sick and suffering, bringing bits of God's beauty and glory into shadowed lives, is the Flower Mission. This was founded in the first years, and it is interesting to note that our able director, who has been in charge of this work for the last four years, is the daughter of one who was active in the charitable work of the early years. Among other charities to which we have donated small sums in the past, may be mentioned the Floating Hospital, the New England Hospital for Women and Children, the Francis E. Willis Settlement, the Crescent Street Girls Club, and the Country week.
"We assisted in the relief of the sufferers from the San Francisco earthquake and the Chelsea fire, and have helped the tuberculosis work by selling Christmas stamps. We have given a substantial amount to our own American Red Cross, and have contributed to the Mary Clavin Scholarship, and the James Russell Lowell Memorial. We have come into close touch with the work of the schools through the School Gardens, the Nonantum Summer School, and our gift of $200, to the Technical High School forming the nucleus of their library. We also gave $850 towards the purchase of the Clavin estate.
"To sum up, during the first twenty-one years we donated to one cause and another $5871. These last 9 years we have added $4550, making the total of our charities as exactly as can be ascertained, in round numbers, $11,421.
"May we not feel that we have been of practical value to the community in which we live? But let us temper our pride with modesty and remember the words of Dr. Holmes, 'There are one-story intellects, two-story intellects and three-story intellects with sky-lights. All fact-collectors, who have no aim beyond their facts, are one-story men. Two-story men compare, reason, generalize, using the labors of the fact-collector as well as their own. The three-story men idealize, imagine, predict: their best illumination comes from above through the sky-light.'
"Therefore let us not dwell too long upon the achievements of the past, but let us rather idealize, imagine and predict a far more glorious future."

"That the larger part of them were citizens of Newton, taxpayers, and had families to support:

"That the taking away of these licenses would deprive them of a large revenue;

"That if no permits were given, liquor would still continue to come into the city and that the revenue incident to its transportation would go to outsiders rather than to citizens of Newton to whom it rightfully belonged;

"That under the present system the Police had full knowledge of the amount of liquor brought into the city by the Expresses but would have no way of obtaining this information if this liquor was brought in by out-town deliveries over whom they had no control.

"No one other than those financially interested in the granting of these licenses spoke in favor of them.

"On April 10th a hearing was given to all citizens asking that no liquor transportation permits be given. Representatives from a large number of Newton churches, from the Newton
 Civic Council, the Associated Charities, the Federation of Women's Clubs (with a membership of 1300), the Y. M. C. A., the Y. W. T. C., and other organizations appeared and strongly protested against the granting of these licenses.

"After considering carefully the arguments presented at these hearings, the Committee decided to investigate for itself and delegated certain of its members to ascertain how this problem had been handled in other non-license towns and cities, Melrose Lynn, and Everett were selected, all of which cities report that no licenses whatever were given with every satisfactory result. Winchester has recently refused to grant any of these licenses.

"The legality of refusing all licenses has been tested recently in the Everett case where Judge Bralley of the Supreme Court refused to order the City Council of Everett to issue at least one license on the ground that this matter lay entirely in the discretion of the Council. An appeal from this decision to the full bench is now pending but we feel that we have a right to follow the decision of Judge Bralley as being the last word on the subject.

"Taking into consideration all the information and facts before us, your Committee believe that by refusing to grant any permits for the transportation of liquor the Expressmen of this City will suffer a certain loss of revenue. On the other hand we believe that the City as a whole will be benefitted financially, ethically, and morally, and that in the end we shall have one of the cleanest, if not the most ideal, city in the Commonwealth. Impressed by the very strong protest that has gone up all over the City by its best citizens, knowing as we do that Newton has always voted No License, believing that we represent our City
 by this action, we recommend that no licenses for the Transportation of Liquor be granted.

"Abbott B. Rice,
 "Henry W. Jarvis,
 "Arthur W. Blakemore,
 "George F. Malcolm,
 "G. M. Cox,
 "Frederick W. Cobb,
 "William S. Wagner."

The Board voted, fifteen to one, to accept the report of the committee and refuse the permits, Alderman Bartlett voting "No."

Following is the discussion on the report of the Committee:

Alderman Bartlett:
 "In the first place the citizens of Newton have never voted on this question, and when the question of their vote is brought into the issue, I want to call attention to the fact that the vote was on this question: 'Shall licenses be granted for the sale of intoxicating liquors in this city?'

"This question before us is not a question of licensing the sale, it is a question of licensing the delivery of liquors for hire or reward. The act authorizing the granting of these permits was passed in order that the City Governments might regulate the transportation into their cities, and for the purpose of preventing the illegal sale of liquor in these cities. Now it has been stated that a decision was revered by Mr. Justice Bralley on this question and I want to state the facts.
 Mr. Newton, who spoke, was an attorney for one or two of the Aldermen of Everett. It happens that the firm with which I am connected was attorney for the Expressmen's League of Everett in that same litigation.

"The proposition presented by both sides was the Judge Bralley should report this case to the full bench in order that the question might be finally settled. We did not ask Judge Bralley to give a decision, although it is fair to say that he gave his opinion to both sides that if he was to pass on the question, he would say that this law was directory and not mandatory. If he had passed and found it to be mandatory, it might not have gone to the supreme bench. It is simple to say that other cities have done this and we can do it, but I do not think that is the position this Board should take. I admire the men and women who have worked so hard on this question.

"Now feeling as I do that the law is mandatory and feeling that men in whom I have great confidence believe it to be mandatory, I believe I should vote to grant licenses to all regularly established expressmen. If there have been illegal sales by expressmen and if such conditions as have been testified to before us, I think our Chief of Police had better be looked after.

"The Supreme Court heard this case in November, and as every member of the bar knows, it is a most unusual thing for a case to be held as long as this has been held. The Supreme Court comes in on May 18. The City of Everett, which has refused to grant permits, has this year laid the question upon the table in order that they may not possibly make another mistake. If we take such action the licenses will not be in force until the matter is taken up again, and I therefore move that the matter be laid upon the table."

The motion of Alderman Bartlett was lost.

Alderman Cox called attention to the fact that last year he alone had voted against the granting of the "pony express" licenses and believed that some of the members of the board should explain what reasons they have for their change in opinion since last year. Several members stated that the refusal of the druggists last year was merely an experiment, and as it had proven to be for the best interests of the City, they believed it best to take this second step.

Alderman Blakemore spoke as follows:

"The Alderman from Ward 3 has stated that there are men who were favorable to granting these licenses last year and this year are against them. I am one of those men. In 1911 I opposed the granting of the 6th class licenses and the Alderman from Ward 3, was in favor of them at the time. In 1912 I also opposed the granting of the licenses and the Alderman from Ward 3 was in favor. In 1913 he changed his vote. I felt at that time and I think that some of the rest of the members thought the same, that this was a two-sided question, that no man knew how the question of these class licenses was going to work out, and that it was very unwise from a prohibition standpoint, to attempt too much at once. It seemed better to take one side at a time and take the worst evil first. I think it wise to try this system which has worked well in other places and will work well here in view of the sentiment."

Alderman Cox replied to President Blakemore stating that he believed this to be partly a political game, an effort on the part of the Progressives and Republicans to "get together" and keep the Democrats from securing control of City Hall, and he was glad to keep out of any such political deals.
 He called attention to the fact that he was elected by the citizens of his own ward and reminded those present, that there were men in the Board who were obliged to get the assistance of other wards than their own in order that they might be elected, and he believed this was a good chance for them to pull a few votes. He received a hearty round of applause from those in the audience.

Alderman Jarvis quoted many interesting figures giving various comparisons between License and Prohibition States. He stated that in his years of charitable work, he had found that the chief cause of insanity, pauperism, and crime was the use of intoxicating liquors.

Alderman Jamieson, Clark, Winslow, Murphy and Rice, also expressed their view on the subject, favoring the acceptance of the Committee's report.

The Mayor submitted among other communications of a routine nature, the appointment of Mr. George E. Stuart as Street Commissioner for the City of Newton. This appointment under the rules was laid over until the next meeting. An order was adopted establishing the salary of the

NEWTON TALENT AT LAWRENCE

The M. Millie Beardsley Concert Company furnished an exceptionally fine entertainment at the Anniversary Celebration of the Odd Fellows on Wednesday evening at Lawrence.

An excellent program was presented which included orchestra selections, cornet selections by Miss Grace Swain of Waltham, violin selections by Miss Marie Zelesmy, leader of Filene's Orchestra, and cello solos by Miss Frances Mont. Edna Knight, the clever entertainer, was the accompanist, and contributed pianologues in costume.
 "When Grandma Had a Beau", and others. Miss Bertha Morgan, teacher of elocution at Mt. Ida School, entertained most delightfully with recitations, "When the Auto Ran Down", and
 "Here Comes the Bride". Character songs by Miss Hazel Lorraine, and contralto selections by Mrs. Beardsley, admirably rendered, completed the program.

VOL. XLII.—NO. 33

NEWTON, MASS., FRIDAY, MAY 8, 1914.

TERMS, $2.00 A YEAR

GIVE $5000 FOR Y.M.C.A. CAMP SITE

Further Generosity of the Late Frank A. Day Evident in Annual Session

In the annual meeting of the Newton Y. M. C. A., William T. Rich, treasurer of the trustees, announced that a gift of $5000 had been placed in his hands to purchase a camp site to be known as the Frank A. Day Camp.

The members expressed their appreciation of the gift by a rising vote of thanks.

Mr. Day left instructions that he wished that sum of money to be given to some form of Newton Association work. Mrs. Day felt that nothing could be more in accord with Mr. Day's preferences than a camp site which would be a perpetual benefit to the boys and young men of Newton in whose welfare Mr. Day was so much interested.

With President Allan C. Emery presiding, the annual meeting and dinner was held at the Association Building on Monday evening. Mr. Emery first called upon A. W. Fuller, chairman of the nominating committee, who brought in the nominations of six directors to serve for three years. They were elected as follows: C. L. Ellison, C. D. Kepner, William F. Chase, Frederick D. Fuller, Mayor Childs, and W. A. Somerby.

Treasurer J. William Blaisdell then reported that in each year for the last decade the association had closed its year free of debt. He paid tribute to the generosity of citizens who have made the upbuilding of the association possible.

General Secretary H. W. Bascom, who has held that position with the Newton Association 10 years, then made his annual report, for which he received a rising vote of thanks.

The gift to the association of the fund for a camp site was then announced. The members sent greetings to S. M. Sayford, a former general secretary, and Mayor Childs was called upon for impromptu remarks.

Dr. C. P. Gifford of Brookline, was the principal speaker, and his address was of much interest. Pitt Parker, a former secretary, gave his chalk talk, which won applause.

There were about 115 members present at the dinner. Throughout the feast the Boys' Orchestra furnished a musical program. The dinner was in charge of a committee comprising William Kellogg and Edward Bacon.

Later the new board of directors met and re-elected these officers: President, Allan C. Emery; vice-president, Edwin O. Childs; treasurer, J. W. Blaisdell; clerk, C. V. Moore. Two trustees were re-elected for three-year terms. They were James E. Clark and Hiram E. Barker.

In his annual report, General Secretary Bascom said in part: "A feature which has attracted much attention has been the series of 18 Educational Trips in which 60 boys participated. These trips were made to places of interest including many large manufacturing concerns. During the Easter vacation eight boys made a trip to New York.

"A unique feature of the season's work was a Mother and Son Banquet held in our own hall. About 40 mothers and their sons partook of a supper provided by the fathers and then Mrs. C. D. Kepner, representing the mothers, spoke on the topic, 'If I were a Boy, the kind of a Boy I would be' and Hugh Boyd spoke on the subject 'If I were a Mother, the kind of a Mother I would be.' Newton had the distinction of being the first association in the country to hold a Mother and Son Banquet. Since then many associations have followed the idea.

"Under the leadership of our physical directors, William Macpherson and John Sonderman, and of Mr. F. D. Fuller, Chairman of the Physical Department Committee, 548 boys have used the Physical Department privileges during the year ending May 1. It would be hard to estimate the benefits received by this large number of men and boys.

"Some figures in regard to the physical work may be interesting. Eighty-three men were given physical examinations and 48 boys, a total of 131. Four health talks were given by the physical directors and Mr. Macpherson also conducted a class in first aid with an enrollment of 15. During the year 510 classes were conducted in the natatorium and 160 men and boys were taught to swim. A free swimming campaign was conducted for our school boys who did not know how to swim. During the year 205 gymnasium classes have been held for men, 237 for boys, making a total of 442. The attendance of these classes totaled 4,130 men, 4,600 boys. The total attendance, including all the activities of the physical department for the year, was 11,047 men and 13,921 boys, making a total of 24,968.

"Two gymnastic demonstrations were held during the year in which 255 took part. We have a tennis club composed of 26 boys and 40 men; 1200 used the tennis courts during the season and 2670 our athletic field. Our representative teams last year did exceptionally well; 36 men were on these teams and 63 boys.

"An interesting feature of the Summer work is entertaining groups of boys from Boston once a week. About 40 boys come in a group and are entertained by the Association officers. A group of women look after the lunches and the boys are kept busy playing baseball and other games. Two swims in the pool, one before and one after dinner, are the most enjoyed of anything, except perhaps the lunch. There was $105 given by nearly as many people to carry on this work last year. The total expense was $74.13.

The average number of boys each week was 38. Seven groups came and the cost was $10.95 for each group. The average cost per boy was 28 cents.

"Ninety men have occupied the dormitories during the past year. The capacity of the dormitories is 35 and only at one time have the rooms been all full.

"Last October thirty men agreed to give some of their time for a few days to the association. During noon hours and evenings, often in the rain, these men called upon men and women in our city and told about the work of the association and asked for their support. The result was that 127 memberships and 70 contributions were received. It enabled the association to close its financial year free of debt. The best part of this service was the fact that it was rendered cheerfully. Next fall there will be a similar campaign.

"The Woman's Auxiliary has rendered efficient service this year under the leadership of the president, Mrs. W. F. Ganse. They have been helpful at many of our social events, have contributed $300 toward the support of the Boys' Work and have done many other things.

"Perhaps the most important event of the year was the dedication of our building. This was not done sooner because the building committee, of whom the late Frank A. Day was chairman, had determined to turn over the building free of debt and it was only about Christmas time that this was accomplished. It seemed fitting that in connection with this dedicatory service a memorial service should be held for the man who more than anyone else made this building possible. Hon. George Hutchinson gave the memorial address at this service and J. Garfield Stone sang Mr. Day's favorite solo, 'Adore and Be Still.' A beautiful tablet was unveiled in the lobby by Mr. Chas. E. Riley representing the Trustees. On it was the following inscription:

In Memory of Frank Ashley Day
1852-1914
Most Generous Benefactor

RAILROAD FARES GO UP

Commission Approves Increases to Various Newton Stations

A new schedule of passenger fares on the Boston & Albany Railroad has gone into effect, by permission of the Public Service Commission.

The railroad some time ago asked for authority to increase the rates, and the Commission, after hearings, has allowed a readjustment on the basis of a rate of two cents per mile. This results in an increase to some stations and a reduction to a few. The following list shows the old rates, the rates asked for by the railroad, and the rates approved by the Commission:

VICTIM OF AUTOMOBILE

John Zacksowski, who was struck Saturday night by an automobile owned by Herbert M. Sears of Beverly while walking through Newton Upper Falls on his way to his home on Highland street, Needham, died Tuesday at the Newton Hospital. The police are now investigating the accident, but it is said that no blame is attached to the chauffeur, Clarence M. Linn, who lives in Needham. The accident happened on Needham street, which is without sidewalks. A number of men were walking together and Zacksowski stepped from the side of the street in front of the automobile. Linn carried him to the hospital in the machine.

Chairman Building Committee The Newton Young Men's Christian Association

"No words that I can say can express the loss which the Association has met with in the death of Mr. Day, but it is a source of inspiration to think of the splendid work which he accomplished for the institution in which we are so much interested."

BRILLIANT NAVAL CEREMONY

Miss Willcutt and Lieut. Roberts Are Wedded At Newtonville

A notable social event of the week, was the Navy wedding on Wednesday evening at the residence of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Davis Willcutt of Newtonville, when Mr. Willcutt's sister, Miss Mildred Willcutt of Commonwealth avenue, Boston, daughter of Mrs. Emma F. Willcutt and the late Francis H. Willcutt, became the bride of Lieutenant Frank Hamilton Roberts, United States Navy. Lieutenant Roberts is an attaché of the Torpedo Destroyer Duncan, and the son of Dr. and Mrs. F. P. Roberts of New Haven, Conn.

The young couple did not intend to be married until December, but owing to the Mexican troubles the boat will sail in about two weeks, so it was decided to have a quiet home wedding.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles D. Willcutt's residence on Mill street was elaborately decorated for the occasion with palms, roses and southern smilax, and the bridal party stood in an alcove in the sun-parlor, which was draped and decorated with American flags.

The ceremony was performed at 6 o'clock, by Rev. Ernest Meredith of the Third Religious Society of Dorchester, and as the bride party entered Wagner's Bridal Chorus from Lohengrin, was rendered by Atwood's Orchestra.

The bride, who was given in marriage by her brother, Mr. William B. Willcutt of Dorchester, was charming in a beautiful wedding gown of white tulle, and carried a bouquet of pink sweet peas.

Lieutenant John H. Hoover, U. S. N., of the McDougal, Bath, Maine, was the best man, and the ushers were Lieutenant D. W. Fuller, U. S. N., Boston; Lieutenant T. J. Kelleher, U. S. N., of the Torpedo Destroyer Duncan; Assistant Naval Constructor, R. D. Weyerbacher of Boston, and Assistant Naval Constructor T. B. Richey of Boston.

A large and brilliant reception was held immediately after the ceremony and Lieutenant and Mrs. Roberts were assisted in receiving by the bride's mother, Mrs. E. F. Willcutt, and Dr. and Mrs. F. P. Roberts, parents of the bride-groom.

Mrs. Willcutt was exquisitely gowned in gray brocade chiton, cut en traine, with Roman pearl trimmings, and carried red sweet peas, and Mrs. Roberts wore black silk with lace and jet trimmings, and carried pink roses.

Mrs. Charles Davis Willcutt, the bride's sister-in-law, was very handsomely gowned in white crepe meter with trimmings of crystal and white tulle, and carried a bouquet of American Beauty roses.

In the dining-room the decorative scheme was pink, and the wedding cake, which was decorated with miniature flags, was cut by the bride, with her husband's sword.

Musical selections were rendered by the orchestra during the reception. Lieutenant and Mrs. Roberts received a profusion of beautiful wedding gifts including cut glass and gold and silver.

The guests included many prominent members of society from Brookline, Boston, and New York, and brother

TO LOSE SUPERINTENDENT

Dr. Spaulding To Go To Minneapolis After 10 Years Here

Dr. Frank E. Spaulding, for 10 years superintendent of public schools in Newton, will not serve in that capacity after the end of the present school year.

He will become superintendent of public schools in Minneapolis on Aug. 1. Early this week he was elected to that position by the unanimous vote of the Minneapolis School Committee.

Dr. Spaulding's resignation is yet to be tendered to the Newton School Committee, but he has confirmed the announcement that he will go to Minneapolis.

Announcement of his election to the position in Minneapolis came as a complete surprise to the School Board of this city. In Minneapolis he will receive a salary of $8,000 a year. The place is awarded for three years. The Minneapolis School Board visited cities all over the country and studied the methods of many applicants before picking a new superintendent.

Dr. Paul S. Hanus of Harvard, in a letter to the board, says Dr. Spaulding stands highest in this country in public school work.

Dr. Frank Ellsworth Spaulding was born in Dublin, N. H., and was graduated from Amherst College in 1889. Then he studied four years in Germany, Paris and Clark University, England, receiving the degree of PhD from Leipzig University in 1894.

He was educated in Westford, N. Y., and engaged in manufacturing until 1892. After four years in business in New York he became Boston manager of the Aetna Life Insurance Company.

Mr. Chester was town clerk and a supervisor at Westford, N. Y. He was a member of the City Council of Newton in 1876, '77 and '78. When the form of government changed he was Alderman in 1879, '80, '81, '83 and '84, being president four years.

He was president of the Newton Trust Company, the Newton Centre Trust Company, and the Newtonville Trust Company; a trustee of the Newton Centre Savings Bank and a director of the Needham Trust Company. For many years he was a deacon of the First Baptist Church, Newton Centre, treasurer of the Newton Baptist Theological Institution and the Boston Baptist Social Union. He also held membership in the Neighbors of Newton Centre, the Brae-Burn Country Club and the Boston City Club.

Mr. Chester was twice married. His first wife being Miss Mary J. Storrs of Worcester, N. Y. He is survived by his second wife, who was Miss Anna C. Stiles of Auburn, N. Y., and a daughter, Mrs. Emery S. Laud of Washington, and two brothers, Judge Alden Chester, of the Supreme Court, New York State and Mr. Horace Chester.

His illness, it is believed, was in a large measure due to the death of his life-long business partner, F. A. Hart, which occurred in November.

Mr. Chester was born in Schenectady, N. Y., March 2, 1835, the son of Alden Chester and Mary H. Chappel. He was educated in Westford, N. Y., and engaged in manufacturing until 1862.

When certain hotel keepers recently adopted the practice of chaining to the washstands the soap provided for their patrons, to keep it from being stolen, it was asked why on earth anybody should want to steal a piece of hotel soap. Nobody could offer a plausible reply to that question. Now comes another mystery equally perplexing. One of the great railroad companies of the West announces that travellers using its lines will have to supply their own towels or go unwashed. The company declares that $21,000 worth of towels were stolen from its cars in one year by passengers. If this allegation is well founded, it is evident that the towels provided by that railroad possess mysterious attraction which the ordinary traveller has not yet discovered.

In the ten years that Dr. Frank E. Spaulding has served Newton as its superintendent of schools, he has aided materially in advancing the standard of education in the Garden City. Newton's loss of her superintendent will be Minneapolis' gain.

It would be more difficult to find a more fitting use for the most recent gift to Newton Y. M. C. A. than providing a Summer camp where annually many young men may find health and recreation under superior conditions.

A church on the Newton Centre Playground ought to make that recreation field a centre of interest one more day in the week.

Before you plan your rest you might help along the Newton Vacation Week work. It will make your vacation all the more enjoyable.

Few residents ever took a more sincere interest in the welfare and up-building of their city than the late Dwight Chester.

The clean-up squads put the rub in rubbish.

ARCHERY NOTES

The Newton Archers held their weekly shoot Saturday afternoon, May 2d, on the Archery Range at the Newton Centre Playground. As the weather was more favorable than on any previous time when the archers had met, it was decided to extend the competition for the men to take in both the York and the American Rounds. The York Round is the long distance event in Archery and consists of 72 arrows at 100 yards, 48 arrows at 80 yards, and 24 arrows at 60 yards. In shooting at the 100 yard range, the distance is so great that the variation from the correct position of the arrow at the instant it is loose by so small an amount as one-fifth of an inch will throw the arrow entirely off from the target. Hence great skill is required to hit the target at all at this distance.

On Saturday the ladies competed with the men in the American Round which consists of 30 arrows at each of the distances 60, 50 and 40 yards.

UNDER THE GILDED DOME

Newton constituents, according to the Newton members, the House of Representatives, seem to feel more interest in the bill, soon to come before the House, which provides that children may attend school without being vaccinated if their parents object to vaccination. The bill further provides that in the event of an epidemic all school children shall submit to the regulations of the Board of Health as at present. The Senate has already passed the bill, which comes before the House some time during the latter part of the session since it has been placed at the end of the calendar. The letters received by the Newton representatives are said to be mostly in favor of the bill, which is urged by many Christian Scientists.

The three Newton Representatives voted against the two-platoon firemen bill, which provides that cities of 50,000 population may hold a referendum on the question of a day and night shift for the Fire Department. Messrs. White, Bothfeld and Ellis declared in debate that the increased cost should be argument enough and pointed out further that each city or town could make whatever rules it wished for the management of the Fire Department. The Boston Democrats jammed the measure through the House solely for the political prestige they expect to attain among the firemen. And this despite the attitude of Mayor Curley and Corporation Counsel John A. Sullivan, who were strongly opposed to the measure. It was funny to hear Mayor Curley's political platitudes of six months ago "wallowing the life out of him" in the debate. The Senate is likely to kill the measure when it reaches there.

The Senate has passed to be engrossed a bill which smashes the Boston City Charter and which among other changes makes the number of Councilors 17 instead of 9. It is the first time since the present Boston charter was adopted over five years ago that the Democrats have succeeded in getting the legislature to tamper with the document. Representative Martin Lomasney and his followers of the Boston Democracy are elated over the fact and feel that the Good Government Association has been dealt a knock-out blow. Lomasney and his henchmen are busy getting votes enough to put the bill through the House and judging from the trades they are offering they will secure enough votes to do it. The Newton Representatives will be unanimous in fighting the charter change, but unfortunately not all the men in the State legislature represent such high civic ideals. Equally sad for the cause of good government was the election last fall of number of Progressive Party Candidates.

"IT PAYS TO ADVERTISE"

Prof. Paul T. Cherington of Harvard University Graduate School of Business Administration says:—

"Advertising to most of the world is known only by its most common form, the newspaper, and the portions of newspapers and magazines devoted to certain forms of pictures or reading matter in large or small type and we call it advertising. We see signs and cards and lights and colors, and we say that is advertising. And it is difficult for us to realize that these are all the means by which certain ends are being aimed at."

"The chief end of advertising is a sale. Perhaps it is an immediate sale, perhaps a repeat sale. Advertising does its perfect work when the sale is made."

"There are other ends to be sure: To build up good will, to create a new demand, or to renew a former demand for goods."

"Perfect advertising should make each descriptive appeal create the same desire to buy that would be produced by offering the goods themselves. If, for instance, I were to advertise an article in a newspaper with 200,000 circulation with an average of three readers to each copy, the advertiser would have the same effect that I could draw by offering my article to 600,000 people. And so every glimpse of a billboard and every glance at a car card, would multiply by that much the appeal of the product itself."

"The clamor for honesty in forms of advertising, the search for knowledge about them and the striving for skill in using advertising—in short, the demand for truth which characterizes the Associated Advertising Clubs movement—can be explained only by a recognition of the fact that the result sought for in advertising is being appreciated at something like its real value."

"The consumer's interest in this fight for truth in the means of advertising is thus made plain. If the manufacturer puts a roof on his factory and it does its work, the cost can readily be absorbed by the normal profits on the business. If he is obliged to pay a large amount for poor roofs which give him no protection, the time is coming when either he will be obliged to put up the price of his product to get money to put on more roofs or go out of business."

"And so it is with advertising. Good advertising, which makes sales quicker and larger and easier, can be absorbed easily by the product without appreciable price increase, if the business is honestly and wisely run. But poor advertising can pay its own way only by fortunate chance. It is an economic waste as surely as is fire or any other destruction of value. Good advertising has nothing to fear. Dishonest advertising is going to be wiped out of reputable company, and the Associated Advertising Clubs of America are going to have a hand in its disappearance."

FORMER NEWTON BOY DEAD

Roland H. Passananti, 12-year old son of Mrs. Ellen H. Passananti, of Brighton, formerly of Newton, died at the Boston City Hospital, Tuesday night of injuries received at his home the previous day. While cutting grass with a pair of shears on the lawn, he tried to dodge a frolicsome dog, and fell backward onto a stone, which penetrated the skull.

The funeral took place this morning at St. Columbkille's Church, Brighton.

The players were then divided according to rank into classes of eight for knockout match play, the winners of each eight to receive a prize and the winner of the higher class to be the winner of the President's Cup for the year.

At Woodland, 45 players turned out in the flag tournament. R. M. Purves was the winner with C. P. Whorf as the second best player. In the handicapped medal play at Commonwealth, in two classes, W. F. Cooling captured the trophy in Class A, with a 74 net, while D. A. Weir won in Class B.

MAY PARTY

The May Party, which was held Saturday afternoon at the Unitarian Church, West Newton, was a most successful and enjoyable affair and there was a large attendance.

The children assembled in the Sunday School room from 2.30 until 5.30 and sixteen little girls danced gracefully around the May pole. They were dressed very attractively in white with colored ribbons, four in blue, four in green, four in pink, and four in yellow.

The dancing was excellent and was in charge of Miss Rachel Whidden and Mrs. Coddington furnished a delightful program of music. After the dancing a pleasing entertainment was given by Miss Bassett's Kindergarten Class, which included living pictures, that were representations of famous paintings by the old masters. Following the entertainment refreshments were served.

No Other Car in the World Like This

The handsome Saxon is the first motor car—and the only one selling at or near its price to embody the essential features of standard motor car design. It is not a cycle car—but a real automobile.

There is nothing skimpy or cramped about it—spacious body, ample leg room, generous doors. The well-shaped body, molded over fenders, tapered bonnet and graceful, sweeping curves, make this car a delight to the eye.

PUPILS IN ORIGINAL PLAYS

2-Days' Program at Bigelow School's Public Visitation

An event of great interest to parents and pupils was the public visitation Wednesday and Thursday at the Bigelow School, Newton. A very entertaining program consisted of folk dancing, singing, gymnastics, recitations and dramatic sketches, under direction of the head master, Mr. Frank W. Chase, and the teachers.

The program opened with an exhibition of folk dances by the members of Miss Bertha O'Connor's class, Grade Five A. Seven dances were gracefully executed by the children. There was a recitation by Mary McEnroy.

Miss Thurston's class, Grade Five B, gave an Indian play, "Pocahontas," by fifteen of the pupils, some arrayed in Indian costumes and armed with bows and arrows. Following the play there were recitations of poems and chorus singing.

Miss Winslow's class in gymnastics and dancing, Grade Six B, gave a pleasing demonstration.

The morning exercises closed with an original dramatization of "The Little Princess," by Miss Stearn's class, Grade Six A, which was well presented by 12 pupils. Frank Hennigan was excellent in the role of Governor, and Roscoe Fuller, who was recently promoted to the seventh grade, took the part of First English Officer. Angus Mackerron was Second English Officer. Others in the cast included Howard Fairweather, Robert Wallas, Carleton Pearson, Everett Kenseller, Burton Monroe, Clark Hodder, John Low, Rogers Weed, George Cone and Clarence Forsyth.

At the afternoon exercises, Miss Searle's class, Grade Three, and Miss Coolidge's class, Grade Seven, gave an interesting program of folk dancing, music and the dramatization of "Little Miss Van Winkle," an amusing playlet admirably performed by seven little girls.

An interesting feature was the exhibition of sloyd work, sketches, fancy work, sewing, embroidery and samples of the regular study work. Miss Mattee is teacher of the sloyd work and Miss Costello of the sewing.

The program for Wednesday was printed by the boys of the school. On Thursday a play, "The Blue, the Black and the Gray," written by the members of the play committee, of which Bradford Story is chairman, was presented by Grade VIII.

The prologue was by Doris Moore and the play was in 4 acts. The characters were admirably portrayed by the following cast: Bradford Story, Steven Palmer, James Munroe, Hallett Blandy, Raymond Ford, Henry Pinkham, Dorothy McNamara, Florence Mandell, Emma Wilder, Margaret Pierce, Dorothy Emery and Gertrude Westlake.

PLYMOUTH THEATRE—The feature of the beginning of the 21st week of "Under Cover" at the Plymouth Theatre, on next Monday night, will be the distribution of a beautifully illustrated booklet to each lady patron in attendance. In fact the souvenirs will be given out at every performance during the entire week. The production has surpassed the longest record run achieved in Boston in the last 5 years and is only a few weeks away from topping the record mark for theatrical history of the city. "It's a long lane that has no turn" is the familiar adage which, in other words implies that all things must come to an end. Therefore those who have not yet witnessed the charms of this extraordinary play had better take advantage of the present opportunity. The safest thing for you to do, is to send in your order for seats right now. Be sure and have your money order or check made payable to Fred E. Wright, enclosing self-addressed and stamped envelope stipulating the date and price of seats desired. Remember that "Under Cover" will not be seen in any other city this season, or even next for that matter. Regular matinees are given on Thursday and Saturday.

CORT THEATRE—Mrs. J. Cunningham Gray will return to the stage at the Cort Theatre on Monday, May 11, to sing the prima donna role in the new musical comedy "Phyllis," the book of which was written by her husband, "Jimmie" Gray, with music by Harold Vicars. To theatregoers Mrs. Gray is better known as Miss Grace Freeman. As Miss Freeman, she grew up in Malden, where her father, a retired naval officer, lived, and under her maiden name she made her first appearance on the stage. She was married to Mr. Gray after her success in the original production of "The Country Girl," at the old Boston Museum. After her marriage she retired from the stage only to return to take part in the revival of "The Country Girl" at the Tremont, and a year ago at the Boston Theatre in "The Courtin'" of Quincy Adams Sawyer. She admits that it was in her very childhood that the dramatic instinct was noticeable. She sang little seafaring ditties in a quaint little voice when she was young and small that she was generally lifted to the top of the piano in order that she might be seen. When quite young she went to see Augustin Daly and he heard her recite the portion scene from "Romeo and Juliet," an ordeal which she will never forget. Mr. Daly admitted she had considerable talent, but thought she was too young, and to come to see him again when she was a little older. Miss Freeman then went to a well-known boarding-school near Boston, from which institution she ran away to join the chorus of one of Mr. Daly's companies, just before his death.

CASTLE SQUARE THEATRE—A play that is brimful of smiles and laughter, "The Ghost Breaker," will be given by John Craig at the Castle Square next week. It is a romantic melodrama-farce, and it recounts the highly amusing adventures of Warren Jarvis, a young Kentuckian in New York and elsewhere. Because New York does not approve of him, he shakes the dust of the metropolis off his feet and finds himself in the midst of the most exciting and amusing episodes in a castle in Spain. It all ends with his marrying a fair princess and his bringing her back to her native land of America. The leading roles of the hero of "The Ghost Breaker" will be played by John Craig, with Miss Doris Olsson as the heroine, and Walter Walker, Frederick Ormonde, Mabel Colcord and Florence Shirley in the other leading roles.

SCIENCE LECTURE DRAWS MANY

One of Newton's largest audiences crowded Players' Hall, Monday evening, filling the body of the house, the stage, and a good part of the adjoining hall, during a lecture on "Christian Science" by Mr. Bliss Knapp, C. S. B. Mr. Knapp is a member of the Board of Lecturers of the Mother Church, The First Church of Christ, Scientist, in Boston, which gave him the message all the weight of an authorized utterance.

The purpose of this, and of similar lectures, is to further explain the teachings of Christian Science especially those which experience shows are the most liable to be misunderstood. The lecturer was introduced by the first reader of the Newton Church, Mr. Geo. H. Moore.

Mr. Knapp spoke as follows: Not in contravention of law, but in fulfillment thereof, did the man of Galilee announce himself and forthwith present the only perfect system of healing known to humanity—a system which no one can improve, but one that should be understood by all. The method employed was by mental or spiritual prayer. Consequently the only perfect system of healing must be mental and in fulfillment of law. The mission of Christian Science has been to present the meaning or explanation of the Christ law with such comprehensive simplicity as to effect a return of Christ to the world.

In all that Jesus did, he made it clear that the power he employed was not of himself. He specifically declared, "The Son can do nothing of himself, but what he seeth the Father do." His ability, therefore, to obliterate disease and sin was the result of what he actually knew about God, the Father of us all. When he taught that same understanding of God to his disciples, they were able to perpetuate his healing ministry. Indeed Christian healing was continued for a period of three hundred years after the time of Jesus. The ability of a Christian Scientist to heal the sick and sinning through prayer is wholly due to a better understanding of God, who is the divine Principle of man's existence. This is in agreement with the Scriptural command, "Acquaint now thyself with him, and be at peace." One who is sick is not at peace. One who is distressed either in mind or in body is not at peace. Nevertheless, acquaintance with the divine nature endows one with that peculiar intelligence which enables him to heal with peace, and thereby rules out all disturbance, whether mental or physical. Therein do you have presented in the briefest possible statement the precise method of Christian healing—acquaintance with divine nature. How then shall we acquaint ourselves with God?

Divine Acquaintance
One of the earliest ways of gaining an insight into the realm of God was given by Moses in the Ten Commandments. He led people to think of the divine nature as manifested through a form but through well defined laws. Idolatry had its origin in thinking of God as a form. When men undertook to fashion what they might conceive the precise form of God to be, they became thereby idolaters, for which we have the second commandment of the Decalogue. As divine Principle, manifesting His power, intelligence, and loving-kindness through well defined laws, He can be understood.

Jesus declared his relationship to this same law in his Sermon on the Mount; for there he said: "Think not that I am come to destroy the law, or the prophets; I am not come to destroy, but to fulfill." Having said this, he undertook to teach this law, not so much intellectually, as by a direct appeal to one's moral or spiritual nature. Not that intellectual training should be disapproved; for, on the contrary, the right sort of training is necessary to the proper conduct of everyday affairs. But the one thing of special importance in this connection is the fact that Jesus addressed himself, not so much to the intellects of the disciples as he did to their spiritual faculties; to their natural tenderness and spiritual aspirations. He recognized that one who has never enjoyed the advantages of an education may have spiritual faculties as well developed, if not outshining those of a student. This is evidenced in a little child. He has not had time to develop his intellect. Nevertheless he has well developed spiritual faculties. By addressing himself to one's spiritual faculties, that gentle Nazarene was able to impart to humble fishermen the actual understanding of divine law—an understanding that endowed them with the power of divinity to heal sickness and sin. Herein do we observe an understanding that is wholly apart from the human intellect—an understanding to which Job referred, when he said, "There is a spirit in man, and the inspiration of the Almighty giveth them understanding." It is the spiritual understanding which we gain through the exercise of the spiritual faculties in prayer that acquaints us with the nature of God, and endows us with the power of peace unto healing and salvation.

Right Desires
If an individual is made to believe that he has no faculty for apprehending spiritual law, he is cheered in Christian Science by the sweet assurance that men are natively and inherently spiritual. They are so in childhood. Indeed it is impossible for them by the process of education to lead themselves entirely away from that native spiritual sense. Even the supposedly wicked man may know God and be saved from his evil ways. This is not a mere high sounding theory, for it is a familiar saying that no one is wholly bad, for there must be at least a spark of goodness in him. Suppose, then, that you address yourself to his ever wicked man and ask him if he has ever experienced the desire to be better and to do better; has he really desired to be good? Few will deny that there have been periods when they have entertained such desires. Where do these desires for good come from? What is their origin? Do they originate with the individual? No. They must have their origin in the infinity of good, and that to us means God—even as Jesus declared, "None is good save one, that is God." Infinite good is the source and activity of all right desires that inspire the individual consciousness such as honesty, tenderness, loving-kindness and so on. As one experiences those right desires, yields his obedience to them, and looks in their direction, he is looking towards God; but that is not so much a bodily movement as it is a state of consciousness; indeed, a state of spiritual consciousness.

If, on the other hand, the individual believes himself to be the originator of his goodness—that it is a mere personal possession humanly circumscribed,—it could not be of God, and would not therefore be good but evil. Some there are who really believe their goodness to be a personal possession, humanly circumscribed, and that is usually what is the matter with them; for they are invariably characterized by a tremendous degree of self-righteousness; and self-righteousness is the most tenacious evil known to the human consciousness. Such a sense of ownership or control over a divine quality gives rise to the belief that man can be separate from God—that he can lose his goodness and fall and suffer the direful consequences thereof; but the entire situation is the result of a mistaken or false belief.

Job's Revelation
This may be illustrated by the experiences of Job. According to the record in the book of Job, the sons of God came to present themselves before God, and Satan came also. When asked where he came from Satan replied, "From going to and fro in the earth, and from walking up and down in it." Surely that is not so much a locality as a fluctuating wave of error. However, it is to be noted that Satan presumed upon the notion that Job's goodness was a form of selfishness, that it was a personal desire expressed merely for the hope of a reward in heaven,—and that if that hope of a reward were to be withdrawn, Job would curse God to his face. Satan declared, in other words, that Job's goodness was a mere personal sense with him, a form of selfishness, a mixture of good and evil. But the question arises as to whether that was a correct charge. Permission was granted to make a trial of his charge, to prove whether he was good merely for the sake of a reward.

The first trial or temptation was the destruction of Job's property, but that had no disturbing effect on his goodness. Next, he was told that his wife, who had been a comfort to him, had been destroyed, but that did not change his divine purpose to be good. Finally the trial was made more personal. Job was afflicted with grievous diseases which tormented him so sorely that his wife broke down under the stress of it. Job, however, stood fast; he was good just the same. The trial had been made, the proof was conclusive, that Job's goodness was not entertained for the sake of a reward. It was proved to be as unchanging as God himself,—a divine attribute that is reflected through all alike.

With the recognition of one good who is God, it naturally follows there can be no goodness to express him, which expression is the character of all alike. Indeed it is so pure and simple as to be recognized and obeyed by a child. The activity of that right desire in the consciousness of Job enabled him to look up through the law to its divine source and declare that divine vision, "Yet in flesh shall I see God." Those words are entirely simple and direct, what Jesus himself later declared in the Sermon on the Mount, "Blessed are the pure in heart; for they shall see God." Job therefore acquainted himself with the divine nature, not so much by the human intellect, as by the understanding of his goodness in simple purity, as an attribute of God. He was entirely simple in his faith, but it endowed him with the power of God to heal and save himself. The healing power of God was actually communicated to his human consciousness through the law of goodness, scientifically understood. For example: The groping student of metaphysics never goes directly to its basic principle, but he seeks to effect cures of its rules. The first task set for the beginner to do is to assimilate the meaning of the simplest rule into his understanding, and he reaches the basic meaning by way of its several rules. So it is that no one goes directly to infinite good. He must go by way of the law of God. As Job said, "Not only did I believe in God, but I was entirely simple in my faith, and I was able to effect cures of its rules. "NEWTON THE IDEAL SUBURB"

In an article on Newton, the Christian Science Monitor characterizes the city as "the ideal residential suburb," and declares that now, more than ever in its history the municipality deserves its title of "The Garden City of the Commonwealth."

The Monitor prints two interesting illustrations, which are reproduced herewith.

The article says:

"With many visitors, Boston is perhaps best remembered by its park-like suburbs, with their hospitable homes and highly developed social and educational life. The largest of these suburbs is Newton, with all these suburban features emphasized to an unusual degree. Why this is so, and how Newton came to have this particular kind of development is the purpose of this article.

"As early as 1830 practically all the solid ground in Boston had been built on or otherwise occupied. The filling in of the Back Bay and South End had but scarcely begun, and residential Boston had to overflow into neighboring towns.

"Nearly suburbs like Cambridge, Charlestown, Dorchester, etc., were the first to receive this overflow; but the opening of the Boston & Albany R. R. in 1834 made more distant places equally accessible, and it was then that Newton fully started upon its career as a high class residential suburb.

"Newton had always been noted for its fine estates, and for the inviting opportunities it offered for the newly awakened tendency towards suburban life. The movement towards term is used advisedly for it is the charm of Newton that it is made up of some 10 villages each with its strong local interests and social life. This tends to bring the residents of each locality closer together and promotes not only sociability, but a common and active interest in civic affairs.

"Newton people consequently are given to discussion of city problems, and use the ballot with unusual intelligence. The city—for Newton is a municipality of 40,000 inhabitants—has a non-partisan city government, and in its officials is served by men of character and high business standing. Newton has always been a strong no-license city and this accounts for the very significant fact that there is an almost complete absence of crime or lawlessness. This leaves more money for the higher uses of the city, and we are not surprised to learn that over 70 per cent. of its taxes are spent on its schools and streets.

"Newton's highly developed educational system has a national reputation, and is what might be expected from such an enlightened community. Each village has its model Primary and Grammar School, while in Newtonville, close to the geographical centre of the city, are the Classical and Technical High Schools having over 2000 pupils. Newton is so near the college centres of Cambridge and Wellesley, that its students in Harvard, Radcliffe and Wellesley, can attend institutions and live at home, if they so desire. The Newton High Schools fit for these colleges as well as for the Institute of Technology.

"So much is Newton an educational centre that several unusually high grade private schools have found its atmosphere congenial, and have located and prospered here. Lasell Seminary, the Mt. Ida School and the Misses Allen School for Girls, and the Fessenden and the Allen School for boys have a large enrollment from all parts of the country.

"But apart from all these advantages, what Newton most prides itself on is being a city of homes, homes in the truest sense, where home life and neighborly intercourse are at their best. Practically all the residences are single houses with generous and attractive grounds. The parklike effect predominates, which is especially emphasized in the fine old time estates, as well as in the larger of the newer properties. The large apartment house is scarcely known here, for Newton is a community of homes, and its improved building laws tend to keep it so. Now more than ever, does it deserve the title it has so long borne, 'The Garden City of the Commonwealth.'

RECEPTION

Mrs. R. A. Powell of Post Mills, Vermont, entertained a company of friends at an informal reception on Friday afternoon from 3 until 5 at the residence of her father, Mr. D. G. Burr, of Grove street, Auburndale.

The dining-room was attractively decorated for the occasion in pink and snap dragon was arranged in a large May basket as a centre piece for the table. Miss Elizabeth Ordway poured a complete window display, appropriate slogan cards, booklets and postage stamps. In fact, it is stated that this promises to be as comprehensive country-wide advertising as has ever taken place.

"Newton is but eight miles from the State House, far enough away from Boston to give a complete change, yet near enough through its transportation facilities to make the city's manifold attractions readily available, and it is reached by the finest roads and boulevards leading from Boston. Whether one goes by automobile, trolley, or train, the route is through the beautiful Back Bay section, along the banks of the Charles River, or past the many handsome estates on the boulevards.

THE SEASON IS ON

The Charles River at Auburndale Sunday had the appearance of mid-Summer, several hundred canoeists taking advantage of the beautiful weather to enjoy a day on its calm water. The crowd was by far the largest of the season, both on the river and along the wooded banks, which are now covered with blossoming foliage. The crowd was not confined to Auburndale alone. Hemlock Gorge, one of the most beautiful spots in Upper Falls, near Echo Bridge, also attracted an immense number.

Not an accident marred the day.

PASTOR INSTALLED

Rev. O. Paul Thompson was installed pastor of the Mount Zion Baptist Church, West Newton, this week. The exercises began Monday afternoon, and will end tonight with a concert. Tuesday evening was Citizens' Night, and one of the addresses was by Mayor Childs.

sachusetts delegation and application for rooms should be made immediately to Mrs. Henry C. Mulligan, 7 Highland street, Natick. It is expected that the club women of the other New England states will also avail themselves of this special train. Much of the pleasure of attending a Biennial comes from the friends made on the way, and that all club women who are planning to go will do well to start at this time.

The Hotel Bancroft, which will be the headquarters in Worcester, for the annual meeting of the Massachusetts State Federation of Women's Clubs on May 20 and 21, is a most comfortable and attractive place and the delegates may count themselves fortunate to be so well taken care of during their stay.

Local Announcements

On Tuesday, May 12, the Newton Parliamentary Law Club will enjoy an all-day meeting at the home of Mrs.
Joseph P. Hall, 53 School street, Watertown. Luncheon will be served at one o'clock and there will be music, readings and bridge for recreation.

The Brighthelmstone Club will hold a Country Fair on the Allston Golf Grounds, Commonwealth avenue, on June 4, 5, and 6. The proceeds will go for the work of the club. Since the middle of March the committees have been holding weekly meetings and these will be continued through the month. Further particulars will be given in a later issue.

Local Happenings

The Newton Mothers' Club met for luncheon at the home of Mrs. Daniel G. Wing of Otis street on Monday, May
4. Afterward the annual business meeting was held and the following officers were elected for the ensuing year: president, Mrs. Hubert L. Carter; vice-president, Mrs. Charles S.
Cook; secretary, Mrs. Ernest F. Lovejoy; treasurer, Mrs. Eustace B. Rice;
chairman of program committee, Mrs.
Henry D. Lloyd; delegates to Newton Federation committees, Mrs. F. E.
Jones, and Mrs. Maynard Hutchinson, education.

On Monday the Newton Highlands
C. L. S. C. met at the home of Miss Bacall. Luncheon was served at one o'clock, after which charades created considerable amusement, the names of many of the men studied during the year being acted by Mrs. Logan, Miss Cobb, Miss Bacall and Miss Myers.
The business of the annual meeting followed and these officers were elected: president, Miss Anna Thompson; vice-president, Mrs. C. Peter Clark; secretary, Mrs. Fred Hayward; assistant secretary, Mrs. W. T. Logan; treasurer, Mrs. Sanford Thompson.
The club then adjourned to meet the last Monday in September.

The Social Science Club held its closing meeting at the Hunnewell Club on Wednesday morning. A short business meeting was held when the committees for next year were confirmed. Mrs. W. N. Irving of the Women's City Club was present and told something of the object and beginnings of this new club. It has already 2500 members, but needs 3000 in order to maintain the house, and the limit has been set at 3500. It is intended to make the club as democratic as possible and will provide a forum for the presentation of any interest which the members may have. The house at 40
Beacon street has been leased.

As the program of the morning Mrs.
J. W. McIntyre gave a most entertaining talk upon her experiences of last summer spent in Algonquin National Park in Ontario, when she and her son with two guides traveled 450 miles by canoe, sleeping for eight weeks in the open. She brought her outfit and showed how it was packed and how it was used. Her story was illustrated by one hundred slides made from snapshots, which added much to the interest. It was very much enjoyed by all and was a pleasant close to a profitable year.

Newton Federation

Notwithstanding the rain on Tuesday a large number of club women were present at the Central Congregational Church for the annual meeting of the Newton Federation of Women's Clubs. There were the annual reports of the officers and chairmen of committees, interest centering in those of the Social Service and Education committees. Mrs. B. E. Taylor reporting for the former and Mrs. L. H. Marshall for the latter. The Social Service report will be found in another column. For the Education committee Mrs. Marshall told of the luncheon given the committee by the girls of the Household Arts department of the Technical High School, fifteen persons being served at an expense of $3.40.
The committee has studied into the work and needs of the high schools has looked into the quality of the lunches served the scholars and the condition of the Rest Room. During the poster campaign posters were placed at both schools and upon the Newton cars.

The committee has spent much time considering the vital question of the social life and the schools and will continue work on this line another year. Mrs. E. C. Hinckley, chairman of the Nominating committee presented the following list of officers who were duly elected: president
Mrs. J. W. McIntyre, Social Science
Club; vice-presidents, Mrs. Charles T.

Bartlett, Newton Highlands Monday
Club, Mrs. C. F. Rogers, Jr., Pierian
Club, Mrs. Charles A. Andrews, Waban
Woman's Club; recording secretary, Miss Alberta J. Crombie, Newton Highlands Shakespeare Club; correspondence secretary, Mrs. E. J. Cox, Newton Woman's Guild; treasurer, Miss Lilla A. Rider, Auburndale Review Club; auditor, Miss Minnie R. Wheeler, Parliamentary Law Club.

The reports from the clubs were given as follows: Auburndale Review Club, Mrs. W. A. Knowlton; Ladies Home Circle, Mrs. George M. Fiske; Newton Mothers' Club, Mrs. F. T.
Walsh; Parliamentary Law Club, Mrs.
W. A. Beedle; Social Science Club,
Mrs. L. S. Drake; Newton Centre Woman's Club, Mrs. F. H. Stewart; Newton Highlands Monday Club, Mrs.
Henry E. Williams; Newton Highlands
Shakespeare Club, Mrs. W. M. Mick; Pierian Club, Mrs. C. F. Rogers, Jr.; Newtonville Woman's Guild, Mrs. Irving O. Palmer; Waban Woman's Club, Mrs. George Guppy; West Newton Women's Educational Club, Mrs. George W. St. Amant. These reports are always full of interest, bringing together as they do the whole work of all the federated clubs of the Newtons, and they were not less so this year.
After a vote of thanks to the retiring correspondence secretary, Mrs. Bernard Early, the business meeting was adjourning for luncheon. In the dining room below the members found evidences of the skillful hands of the Social committee in the attractive table decorations of marguerites and green and further evidences in the delicious luncheon which was served.

For the afternoon's entertainment
the company went to the New Church parlors where John Masfeld's play,
"The Tragedy of Nan," was presented by members of the Waban Woman's Club. Miss Miriam Bates of Newton Highlands accompanied by Miss Ethel Wentworth delighted the audience with two songs, "Waltz Song" by Arditi and "In May Time" by J. A. Lord.

The play was a remarkable performance, all the parts being creditably done, but special mention should be made of the work of Mrs. William C.
Collar as "Nan Hardwick," and of Mrs.
Allen Hubbard as "Gaffer." These women comprised the cast.

Mrs. Charles W. Elmer, Mrs. Pietro Isola, Mrs. Everett W. Farmer, Mrs.
William C. Collar, Mrs. Charles A.
Andrews, Miss Helen V. Patterson,
Mrs. Allen Hubbard, Miss Fanny C.
Rane, Miss Clara E. Wiley, Miss Eleanor Putnam, Mrs. Frederick G. Marsh, Miss Marion Miller.

Report of Social Service Committee of the Newton Federation

"During the season of club work and play and the united effort of the Newton clubs, federated for the purpose of greater strength and broader results, and for general good of our whole city, along educational, phre-nologic and charitable lines, there has been ever increasing proof of the need of concerted interest and action among club women."

"Today, as never before, there is need of intelligent and responsible and self-sacrificing effort in meeting conditions which are of vital importance to us all. And after all, the work is not so arduous, because it brings so large returns of interest."

"The one largest and most time consuming work of the Federation during the past year has been the Dental Clinic for school children. The clinic has been open and in operation the full time for which we arranged—three half days each week, for a year.
There have been discouraging days when no dentist appeared, or when some electric attachment refused to work, or when we were unexpectedly deprived of heat from an adjoining room and reduced to the use of a little oil stove which the janitor of the Clar-lin School most kindly produced. That was only one of the many times when he has saved the day for us."

"The ages of the children have ranged from three and four years to seventeen or eighteen, the average age being twelve or thirteen. There have been as many boys as girls, about eighty cases treated each month in the regular clinic office in the Clafin School. Through the kindness of Dr.
Leach, his office and his time have been available one whole Saturday each month and he has treated there from fourteen to twenty-one children, coming from Upper Falls, the Highlands, and Newton Centre, each month.
The children and their parents are appreciative, the children come in neat condition and are well behaved."

"The children who come to the clinic are guaranteed as needy by the school nurses and here let me say that we can not overestimate the value of the work which these women are doing. Their work is out and about,
they have long hours, do very tiresome work, and are not living in the shelter and comfort of a hospital nurses' home, but the most of them are in boarding or lodging houses. As there are no nurses connected with our high schools we have been unable to reach a large number of young people who need dental care. A few cases have come to us through teachers or through social centers where they have received other help."

"The clinic is not self-supporting although the income, ten cents paid each day by the children, has so far largely covered expenses. During the year the clinic waiting room has been furnished with chairs, a couch and pillows, a desk, books, games, etc.
We are greatly indebted to the City Board of Health, nurses, the janitor of the school where the clinic is situated, and to others for help. Most of all we are indebted to the dentists who have given so much of their time to the actual work of the clinic. Those dentists are: Robert F. Hayden, Newton Centre; J. Arthur Furbush, Auburndale; E. C. Leach, Newton Centre;
L. H. Marshall, Newton Highlands; E.
U. Ufford, Auburndale; S. B. Sargent
West Newton; H. W. Shedd, Newton-ville; George F. Fair, Newton. Others have substituted upon occasion and there are still others who have pledged time for next year."

"Certainly there has been constant

NEWTON CLUB NOTES

On Saturday afternoon one of the largest attendances of children and their parents gathered in the ballroom of the club for the annual May party. About 100 girls and boys were present.

The party was under the auspices of Mrs. William C. Bamberg, as chief patron, who was assisted by Mrs. Orton S. Allen, Mrs. Charles E. Coant, Mrs. L. B. Hunter, Mrs. Walter Marsh and Mrs. G. B. H. Macomber.

These ladies were also assisted by Miss Carpenter and the Misses Bamberg. The good old friend of the children, Mr. Harrison of Hanley's orchestra, was at the piano, and assisted in putting life and spirit into the children's toes. Dancing began at five o'clock and continued until about seven, when the May queen, Francesca Karner, was drawn in a gaily decorated wagon by her pages, Masters Billy Packer and Henry Page. The May queen's maids of honor were Doris Wilkinson and Dorothy Shute. At half past three, the entire party marched down to the Highland-avenue porch, where they were tastefully grouped and a photograph taken. They then turned to the clubhouse and to the dining-rooms, where a delightful collation was served.

CELEBRATE SILVER WEDDING

Mr. and Mrs. Swenson were married on May 4, 1889, in West Newton by the Rev. H. J. Patrick and have resided there ever since. Numerous beautiful and costly presents were given them.

appeal to sympathy and to the hearts of us who have been often at the clinic. The opportunity for service has been almost beyond belief. We certainly do not need to wander from Newton to find social service work, when it lies right along our path."

Other matters mentioned by Mrs. Taylor included the work for pure food, the sending of articles for Twombly House at Upper Falls, the proposed Bureau of Activities, a History of the Social Service work of the Federation, which the chairman is about to prepare, attendance on hearings at City Hall relative to the Post Express licenses.

CH'NOH CH'N

Mrs. Henry H. Wilcox opened her residence on Birch Hill road, Newtonville, Saturday afternoon from 4 until 6, for a "Ch'noh Ch'N" (tea-drinking), given by thirteen young lady members of the Sunday School of St. John's Episcopal Church.

The decorations were most appropriate for the occasion; Oriental costumes and the mystery and enchantment of an Eastern setting, made the affair very interesting and novel. Small tables were arranged in the tea room, at which tea was served in dainty China cups.

The servers were eleven very attractive young ladies, who were arrayed in brilliant silken Chinese costumes, which were most effective and suggestive of the Orient. They included the Misses Frances Rimbach, Armenia Houghton, Gertrude Hicks, Mildred Merrill, Kate Wheelock, Virginia Eddy, Lillian Russell, Florence Barnard, Helen Shelton, Gladys Evans, and Olive Kenney.

The guests enjoyed a rare treat in the musical program which was given during the tea. It included a Eugene Yesaye "Sonata," by Cesar Franck, "A Love Song of Elmiri," and "Guitarero," by Franz Drda, Op. 88 in 4 movements, which were exquisitely rendered by Mrs. Richard T. Loring. Her performance of a thoroughly enjoyable writing was admirable, and she showed great mastery of the art of interpreting, and the piano accompaniments by Mrs. Hermann C. Lythgoe, were very beautifully rendered.

A group of songs, "Thoughts Have Wings," "The Beauty of Morn," and "The Swallows," were delightfully sung by Miss Gladys Avery, soprano, who was also heard with pleasing effect, in "Fiddle and I," and Massenet's "Elegie," with violin obligato by Mrs. Loring.

A unique feature of the entertainment was the presence of two little Chinese sisters, Marian and Dorothy Goon of Boston, and the singing, by Marian, of "Jesus Loves Me," in Chinese dialect.

Mrs. Wilcox was assisted in receiving the guests by Mrs. Hubert G. Ripley and Miss Rosalind Kempton.

There was a large company present and the occasion was most delightfully social and informal. The proceeds are for the benefit of St. Mary's School and Orphanage, Shanghai.

LADIES' MINSTRELS

The Ladies' Minstrels won a cheering reception on Monday and Tuesday evenings in the chapel of Central Church, Newtonville, and the show was brimming over with bright local hits and tuneful melodies.

There were eighteen ladies in the chorus, and the opening number, "Oh Look Who's Here," was excellent, the words being written especially for the occasion, by Mr. Edwin C. Vose.

When the curtain arose on the opening chorus, a colorful and pleasing ensemble of black-faced entertainers greeted the audience. The 4 end-ladies, with their white dresses and red satin coats, and the chorus singers, all in white with red turbans and tamboourines, looked the part of the real Southern plantation coon, and their dialect was unusually good.

Mrs. Anderson made an exceptionally fine interlocutor and the end-ladies were Mrs. Edwin P. Crawe, Mrs. H. B. Sly, Mrs. A. L. Wakefield and Mrs. F. E. Mann. Their song and dance specialties and their repartee were very amusing to the audience.

Especially in their personal and pointed remarks aimed at many of the gentleman friends and prominent members of the Church.

Mrs. Crawe, in the end-song, "Here Comes the Whip-Poor-Will," assisted by the chorus, scored a great success, and the quartet, composed of Miss West, Mrs. Jackson, Mrs. Wakefield and Mrs. Jewett, the selections, "Under the Cotton Moon" and "Stop at Chattanooga," was most excellent, the voices blending beautifully, and the singing was very pleasing to the audience.

Mrs. Sly's song and dance, "All Aboard for Dixie," was most clever and entertaining, and she came in for a large share of merited applause.

Mrs. Wakefield, in "On My Way to Mandalay," by Mrs. Moore was certainly a "winner," and she deserved all the encore she received.

Mrs. Fred Mann was exceedingly clever and amusing in the end-song, "Just A Dream," which was replete with personal "knocks" at well-known gentlemen, presumably among the audience.

Mrs. Wakefield, in "On My Way to Mandalay," by Mrs. Moore was certainly a "winner," and she deserved all the encore she received.

Mrs. Augustus L. Wakefield might well be credited among the "stars" of the evening and the "Camp Meeting Band," a lively, rollicking song and dance, was received with great enthusiasm.

sonal acquaintance with her that she has lived as pure a life, as unselfish and Christian a life, as is possible for a denizen of this world; and in all that she has done she has considered herself but a humble disciple, seeking to learn more of the spiritual meaning of the Bible that she might impart it to the world, and to its great advantage.

Opposing Mentalities

Although it is generally admitted that Christian Science heals both sickness and sin by the mental process, fully 90 per cent of the popular misconception concerning it relates to the mental quality that heals. Some mistake it for the human will, others suggestion, and they are the polar opposites of Christian Science. We need therefore to recognize with Paul two types of mind, "for to be carnally minded," says Paul, "is death; but to be spiritually minded is life and peace." How then shall one differentiate between the carnal and the spiritual? From the viewpoint of such divine laws as honesty and goodness; for the psalmist has said "Thy law is the truth." Moreover, "By their fruits ye shall know them." Some of the fruits of the carnal mind are the human will, suggestion, anger, malice, persecution, evil criticism and so on. These are continually at war with the fruits of the spirit, which are goodness, honesty, health, joy, a pure affection and so on. The laws or attributes of God eternally link man to God; they communicate the power of God to the human consciousness, and make for life and peace.

Carnal Mind Discredited

As the attributes of God have been analyzed to indicate the operation of the spiritual mind, so must we analyze briefly some of the characteristics of the carnal mind, that we may thereby differentiate more accurately between them. Jealousy, for example, as a characteristic of the carnal mind is always the result of ignorance of some sort, and never should be indulged. It never can know the truth about anything. Again, dishonesty always bears the mark of ignorance. A dishonest man cannot know whether another man is really honest. It is largely guesswork with him. Like most sinful men, he invariably suspects others of his own baseness, often unjustly. Only an honest man can really know whether another man is honest. To illustrate: Suppose you are in need of an employee. You advertise in the morning paper, and a half dozen men may respond. In looking them over, you may recognize one man in the group to be thoroughly honest. How do you know? You may say that you can see it in his countenance, but what is it that enables you to discern the honesty expressed in a man's face? Can you describe it or tell what it looks like? Yet you are sure you can discern it; but how? Do you observe it with your eyeballs? Even our physiologists teach that it is not the eye that sees, but rather the mind back of the eye. It is not the ear that hears, but rather the mind back of the ear. Is it not, therefore, the mind or intelligence expressed through honesty in yourself that enables you to recognize the corresponding quality expressed in another? The Scripture declares, concerning God, "In thy light shall we see light." Honesty is spiritual light that lights up the countenance, whereby it may be intelligently recognized. It is positive intelligence. Dishonesty, on the other hand, is negative, non-intelligence. Thus we might continue in the analysis of the characteristics of the carnal mind and we could prove them all to be negative, non-intelligence. The carnal mind, however, assumes to be intelligent, even as Satan pretended to intelligence concerning Job's goodness; but it is destitute of intelligence. It also claims to be honest. Indeed it pretends to be the same mind that Jesus employed to heal; but Jesus said of this carnal mind, it "is a liar, and the father of it." Since a lie is untrue, it must be in its ultimate analysis unreal. That is why it can never be understood. The psalmist asks the question, "Who can understand his errors?" Nobody can. That only can be understood which is true. No one can understand an error that may be introduced into a mathematical problem, and no intelligent person will try. Rather will he seek more thoroughly to understand the rule of truth that governs the problem and to act in obedience thereto. Whereupon the error disappears. But where? Into its native nothingness. That is why Jesus said, "Ye shall know the truth," not the error, "and the truth shall make you free." Whatever is destitute of truth and of understanding, is necessarily mindless, lacking in the very qualities that characterize mind or intelligence. Hence the so-called carnal mind is no mind at all.

Suggestion

An extraordinary claim of the carnal mind is to project itself through suggestion. Beginning mildly, these suggestions become more insistent only to the degree they are believed or indulged by the individual. Consequently he alone endows them with all the seeping power they ever had. Psychology has seized upon this mode of operation, so peculiar to the carnal mind, and developed its suggestions into various systems. Some of these systems have been called hypnotic suggestion, vibratory suggestion, auto-suggestion, therapeutic-suggestion, psycho-therapeutics, and even so-called Christian psychology. They are all conceded to be the operation of the human will or vibratory suggestion, the product of the carnal mind whose basis is a lie. Anciently these systems of suggestion were employed by the magicians, astrologers and necromancers. It is a matter of record that those magicians and sorcerers were continually at war with Moses, Daniel and the early Christians, even as the representatives of these modern systems of suggestion are continually at war with Christian Science. And why? Because they are the product of the carnal mind; and the Scriptures declare that the carnal mind is "enmity against God." By reason of its peculiar operation, one may determine with accuracy the nature of his thoughts, whether they are good or evil; for evil operates through suggestion and appeals to the nerves; the power of God is expressed through the divine attributes and appeals to the intelligence or reason. And "Know ye not, that to whom ye yield yourselves servants to obey, his servants ye are to whom ye obey; whether of sin unto death, or of obedience unto righteousness?"

Jesus repudiated the use of human will, for he said, "I can of mine own self do nothing; . . . because I seek not mine own will, but the will of the Father." We might repeat those words and substitute honesty for an added meaning. "I can of mine own self do nothing; . . . because I seek not mine own sense of honesty, but the honesty of the Father, from Principle." It is only that honesty from Principle that has the spiritual power to overcome dishonesty. It is only that goodness from Principle that has the spiritual power to overcome evil. It is only that Mind or will of God—the divine Principle—that has the spiritual power to overcome sickness and disease. Christ Jesus specifically declared that he used or employed only that will or Mind which is God—the polar opposite of suggestion. Christians are, moreover, enjoined by the Scriptures to "Let this mind be in you, which was also in Christ Jesus."

One Mind

Job declared concerning God, "Thou art in one Mind;" and Jesus recognized but one Mind—the Mind which is God. He referred to Him as "My God and your God." He is therefore my Mind and your Mind; He is my life and your life; my honesty and your honesty; my intelligence and your intelligence; for, as Paul says, "In Him we live, and move, and have our being." Endowed with that "mind which was also in Christ Jesus," we may fulfill the scriptural injunction "be not overcome of evil, but overcome evil with good." Some might say however, "If good will overcome evil, so will evil overcome good." But that is not true, for the reason that good and evil are not alike. They bear precisely the same relation to one another as do intelligence and non-intelligence, as do the positive and negative, as do light and darkness. Intelligence will destroy non-intelligence, but non-intelligence can never destroy intelligence. So it is that light destroys darkness, but darkness, cannot destroy light, cannot so much as put out a lighted candle, and it matters not whether a room has been maintained in darkness for five minutes or fifty years, the light of spiritual intelligence will dispel it with the same ease. It will illuminate thought to conscious strength in the good to rule out evil.

Sin Not of God

Jesus employed the term sin in over one hundred places in the four Gospels, and in each case the corresponding word in the Greek manuscripts is "hamartia." The first meaning imparted to this word "hamartia" is "miss the mark," as in the throwing of a spear. The Greeks were much given to the enjoyment of athletic games, and if one were to hurl a spear and miss the mark, he committed "hamartia," the same word which Jesus employed for sin. So it is with archery. When a man pulls his bow and shoots his arrow, if he fails to hit the mark, he has transgressed the laws of archery or committed "hamartia." Even so sin is the transgression of the divine law, and it is so defined by our lexicons.

What is it that would make a man transgress the laws of archery? Is it not his ignorance or lack of practice? And what is sin but the result of ignorance or disobedience of the divine law? No educated person could transgress the simple law that two and two are four, for he not only understands it but practices it, and he will tell the child that his errors are not in the mathematical law nor of that law; that mathematical law knows nothing of mistakes but heals them, even as intelligence dispels ignorance. So it is that sin is not in the divine law nor of the divine law. God never visited a man with sin. God not only is not the author of sin, but He never afflicted a man with it, for as the prophet Habakkuk has said, "Thou art of purer eyes than to behold evil, and canst not look on iniquity." Sin is the transgression of God's law, the result of ignorance, fear or wilfulness. When therefore Jesus came to fulfill the law and to teach the understanding of it, he was removing the possibility of sin; and incidentally the wages of sin.

Disease Mental

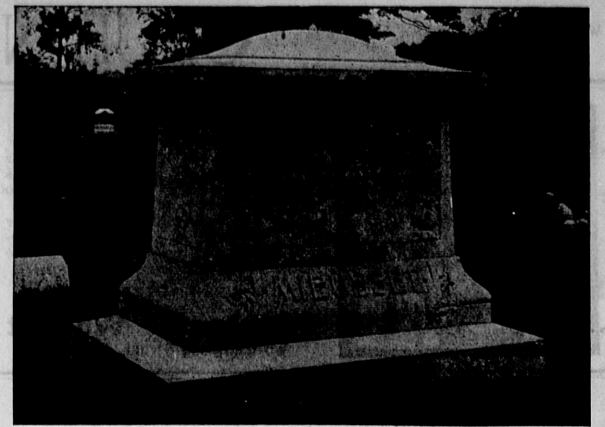

Christian Science presents the understanding of the Christ law with such simplicity and accuracy that even the children and young people readily gain its spiritual meaning which liberates them from suffering and sin of every sort. That is based on the recognition that disease in its cause is mental. Consumption, for example, is considered by many to be an incurable disease. It is generally conceded that no known drug or medicine can heal consumption, especially in its advanced stages. Therefore the usual method of today is to resort to what is known as the nature cure; outdoor life, exercise, and pure air are resorted to in the hope of abating the white plague, as it is called. It is moreover generally conceded that consumption is largely a consuming fear and manifestly no drug or medicine can cure fear. Physicians readily admit the element of fear in nearly all disease, especially contagion. When a frightened child rushes to the arms of its mother, she instinctively employs the proper remedy. She does not rush for a medicine bottle. Rather does she soothe and comfort the child in his fear by her tender love and pure affection. The enduring affection that a mother entertains for her child, and that wipes out his childish fears, should point us to a greater Love—even the God who is Love. The Bible declares that "fear hath torment" but "perfect love casteth out fear." There is no known remedy for fear save only the tenderness and compassion of unselfed Love. It is that understanding of God as divine love that enables the Christian Scientist to wipe out the fear of consumption and to remove its physical effects. On the same basis Christian Science heals cancers, tumors, pneumonia, locomotor ataxia, etc.—and heals them permanently.

A Surgeon's Testimony

The question has been frequently asked, "How can some inanimate drug know just where to go and what to do?" An eminent surgeon once said in my hearing that "No drug, medicine, or physician ever healed anything." That is a remarkable statement, and might appear meaningless if uttered by some. The gentleman is, nevertheless, a practicing surgeon, examining physician for a large life insurance concern, and also instructor in physiology and hygiene in a well-known American university. Moreover, the declaration was made before a legislative committee on public health at the Massachusetts State House. A physician on this committee promptly challenged the declaration; whereupon the surgeon cited citations, and the committeeman cited appendicitis and pneumonia. "Two very good cases," remarked the surgeon. "Now let us suppose the case of a man said to be suffering from appendicitis. He may be operated on, his appendix cut out, and after a time he may recover; but he isn't healed, because he no longer has an appendix, and he ought to have one. So it is with pneumonia," he continued. "No drug, medicine, or physician can heal it. We may assist the situation in helping to absorb the accumulation that appears; but we never can stop the accumulation nor heal the disease. If it is healed at all, it is nature that does the healing." And, strange as it may seem, the physician had nothing to say. He could not fail to recognize the great truth, that it is not the drug but nature that heals.

What is Nature?

What then is nature? It cannot be a thing in and of itself. It must characterize or be the nature of something else. Jesus said, according to the revised version of the Bible, "God is Spirit," and the nature of Spirit must be spiritual. It is spiritual nature that heals. But we cannot afford to wait blindly on nature to heal. The silly non-sense of trying to imagine one's self to be well, while one is suffering, will not bring a recovery. We may but turn to the man who, in his great extremity, cried out to Jesus, "Lord, I believe, help thou mine unbelief." There one may recognize the utter helplessness of a blind faith; but Jesus and his disciples, with their understanding, had dominion over all. Therefore the Christian Scientist proceeds directly to lay hold of the actual understanding of the same spiritual nature that Jesus taught and demonstrated. Whereupon, clothed with spiritual understanding, he may apply it intelligently to the specific case, and the sick and the sinning are healed quickly and wholly.

Conclusion

Therefore, in leaving this subject I would commend to your further consideration that Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures," whose only purpose is to unlock the spiritual meaning of the Bible that we gain, not through the human intellect, but through the exercise of spiritual faculties, rising to the recognition of God as absolute good, as the author of only that which is good and real and positive and immortal. Imbued with spiritual understanding we may demonstrate today the same divine law in life, liberty and salvation. It gives us that spiritual dominion which God gave to man from the beginning—that dominion which has never been withdrawn. Christian Science presents the spiritual understanding in such a way that it may be applied from the very outset with the more simple problems. Such fruits of Christian Science, spread over a period of nearly half a century, have done more to change the thought of the world to higher ideals than any religious statement or teaching of modern times. They have challenged attention to the fact that spiritual teaching improves the health as well as the morals of men. Such divine characteristics as health and life, which proceeded from God and are reflected through man, can no more be annulled, disintegrated, or destroyed than can God Himself; and we save ourselves by the conscious recognition of that fact.

Interesting Experiences On a Trip To and Thru the Lone Star State

To one who had never been south of Richmond, Va., the opportunity to make a tour of the principal cities of that part of the country under the auspices of the National Editorial Association, was not to be neglected.

The first part of the trip, from Boston to Washington is familiar to most of my readers, the only new feature to me, being the Pennsylvania railroad tunnel under the Hudson River, and the Union station at Washington, D. C. At New York, Philadelphia and at Washington, additions were made to our party, so that at the capital city, we numbered fourteen and subsequent events moulded us into a most congenial band.

As we travelled South, it was interesting to note the changes day by day of the foliage and weather conditions. While Newton had had a blanket of snow only a few days before I left, at Washington the tulips and hyacinths were blossoming in the parks and the trees were beginning to bud. We were met at Washington by friends of the President of the Association who was with us, and given a delightful automobile trip about the city. Our trip gave us some idea of the suburbs of the city especially Chevy Chase and its famous Club and golf links. While the Chevy Chase Club is well known, it appeared to me, a most amateur golfer, that the links of the Colonial Country Club only a short distance away, would be far more attractive to a true lover of the sport. The return to the city thru Rock Creek park, with an automobile ford over a small sized river, was also interesting.

A night in the sleeper, as it passed thru Virginia, found us early the next morning, after the usual uncomfortable experiences of that kind of a Pullman, in the mountains of western North Carolina. As I lay in my berth in the early morning, watching the passing landscape, the train stopped at a small, unattractive station, where a manufacturing plant and a dirty-looking ice cream saloon were the principal objects of interest and the unpainted, weatherbeaten cabins and houses were almost repellent. As we pulled slowly out of the place and passed the station, I was rudely shocked to see that the name on the sign was Newton.

The train ran slowly up the hills of this country, the most remarkable feature of which was the color of the soil. Usually a brick red color, it showed in spots, a brilliant orange, burnished copper or a rich brown, and the roads all over the landscape could be followed by their gashes of color. The fields were mostly newly tilled and where the crops had begun to appear, the effects were almost opalescent, and were really beautiful. The country, however, looked poor and the inhabitants even poorer. The villages were built around mudlans for streets and the buildings were weatherbeaten and lacked even flowers for surroundings. At one fairly large town, the brakeman told us that the village contained two millionaires, and pointed out their residences with considerable pride. He became quite indignant when one of our party wondered why anyone with a million dollars would be contented to live in such a place.

The ride up the Blue Ridge mountains was picturesque indeed. At one point, the railroad can be seen in 15 different places as it winds its way in loops, horsehoes, and figure eights, up the mountainside. At the top of the mountain, we were shown the height of land on one side of which water ran into the Atlantic and on the other into the Gulf of Mexico.

I was rather astonished at the few negroes noticed in this country, and was told by a passenger that the mountaineers would not allow them to settle near them if they could help it, and in one valley in that vicinity, he told me, the inhabitants would not even allow a negro to pass thru.

On the western slope of the mountain are a large number of summer homes of wealthy people from all over the country, some of the residences being quite comfortable, altho all of them were somewhat primitive.

At Blount station, we had our only view of the famous estate of the late George W. Vanderbilt. The station and approach to the grounds reminded me considerably of the railroad station at Winchester.

We stopped about ten o'clock and spent the rest of the day at Asheville, N. C., which to my surprise is really a summer and not a winter resort, altho it is rapidly becoming an all the year round resort. We were entertained by the Board of Trade with a trip about the city and by the Grove Park Inn with a delicious luncheon. Asheville has grown something like Topsy, without much plan or thought and contains much of the new and considerably of the old. Some of the residences are most attractive, while other streets give an opposite impression.

The view from the hotel verandahs across the valley to the hills and mountains in the west is magnificent and must fully justify the name of Sunset Mountain given the hill immediately behind the hotel.

I learned some things about Asheville, which ought to prove interesting to Newton. North Carolina, as we all know, is a prohibition state, and Asheville, a city of 18,000 people normally, but with a far larger population during the season, must obtain its liquors from the adjoining state of Tennessee. For the last year, I was informed, approximately 100,000 gallons of whisky were received by the local express company at Asheville, the law limiting each shipment to quantities of one gallon or less. The 200,000 gallons of liquors, mostly beer, which Newton received last year, seems rather small when compared to this enormous quantity of hard liquor actually received at Asheville from outside the state.

Another night on the sleeper brought us to Chattanooga, Tenn., where we made a quick change into a day coach for Birmingham, Ala., where we arrived about the middle of the forenoon. The foliage here was considerably farther advanced than at Washington, the maples being in full blossom and cherry and peach trees in full bloom.

We were greatly surprised at Birmingham. I had imagined this city to be a second Pittsburgh, full of smoke and factories and generally to be avoided. We found a clean, modern, up to date city, with splendid roads, a skyscraper of 25 stories, two million dollar hotels almost completed, and the city far more northern than southern in appearance. The people of Birmingham, given only short notice of our visit, certainly proved most hospitable hosts.

We were given a delightful automobile ride of some 30 miles and shown some splendid residences, well paved streets and a part of the manufacturing districts and the careful consideration shown the housing of their employees by the local organization of the U. S. Steel Co. Later in the day we were given a fine banquet at the Press Club rooms, which are certainly as fine as any in the country.

The sleeper that night brought us to New Orleans, pronounced New Awlins, if you do not wish to be deemed a provincial. This city was certainly the most unique I have ever seen and I was delighted to find that we could change our schedule which called for only a short stop here and a daylight ride to Houston, to an all day stop and a night ride to Houston. The St. Charles Hotel was our headquarters and we were left to do as we pleased. I covered the city by a ride in the belt line of trolley cars, by a ride in

CITY OFFICIAL RESIGNS

Forest Commissioner Bucknam To Enter Private Business

Another change in one of the important city offices will be made June 1st when Forest Commissioner Charles I. Bucknam resigns to enter private business. Mr. Bucknam was appointed Forest Commissioner by Mayor Hutchinson in 1908, when the Forestry department was created and has filled that office with diligence and effectiveness. While there have been rumors that Mr. Bucknam has had some friction with the new administration, it can be authoritatively stated that no grounds exist for such statements. Mr. Bucknam will engage in forestry work in Newton, having organized the C. I. Bucknam Forestry Co.

BUSY DAY ON THE RIVER

The record for canoe accidents on the Charles River was pressed close Sunday, when between 4 and 9 P. M., there were eight upsets, involving fourteen persons. None of them had fatal results, but in two there was an opportunity for rescue work by the police.

One canoe with three men overturned and the men were having a bad time of it in the water when patrolman Michael Ryan paddled out, pulled them into his canoe and brought them to shore. Officer Coombs and Ray E. Lamb of 1219 Walnut street, Newton Highlands, took part in other rescues.

A man and a girl were upset about 9 o'clock in the evening near the B. A. A. boathouse, but he swam to the shore with his companion. Soon after another young woman, getting out of a canoe at Norumbega Park, fell between the canoe and the float.

Although in all 14 persons were ducked, while the record for a single day is only 16, the proportion of accidents was very small considering the great number of canoes out. The day was by far the busiest of the season.

FLAG UNFURLED

The Newton Democratic Club unfurled our Star Spangled Banner on Wednesday night at Hibernian hall, Nonantum square, before an audience which completely filled every corner of that building. The formal exercises in the hall were preceded by a procession which marched from Nonantum to the hall headed and escorted by the Hibernian Rifles.

Mr. Timothy D. Murphy, the president, was in charge and the program included an address of welcome by Mayor Edwin O. Childs, an oration on the Flag by Mayor Thomas F. Kearns of Waltham, and speeches by President Arthur W. Blakemore of the board of aldermen, Alderman Reuben Forknall, P. Sarsfield Cunniff, James S. Cannon, and M. J. O'Leary of the Democratic state committee. Miss Gertrude A. Moran gave a patriotic reading and there was singing by the school children.

The remarks of all the speakers were received with enthusiasm and the unfurling of the flag by Miss O'Connell was the occasion of great applause.

Alvord Brothers have sold for Charles L. Barnes to Ada Moore a lot of land on the easterly side of Elgin street, Newton Centre, containing 22,581 square feet.

Alvord Brothers have rented the Ransom house, 55 Ballard street to H. A. Hagaman.

MORE WATER AUTHORIZED

State Board of Health Grants Petition of City For Additional Water Supply

The State Board of Health, authorized by the laws of 1912 to act on the request of the city of Newton to take more water from the Charles River valley, has been considering the petition of this city to take three million gallons per day in addition to the present limit of five million gallons a day, has recently rendered its decision. It will be recalled that the legislation requested by this city in 1912 for more water was openly opposed by Mayor Fitzgerald of Boston and indirectly by the Metropolitan Water Board, because they wished Newton to enter the Metropolitan water district and incidentally aid Boston and the district in paying for the general water service. A compromise was finally made so that the method and amount of water to be taken by both Brookline and Newton were to be determined by the state board of health.

The decision of that body is that the city of Newton may, in addition to its present taking of five million gallons, take three millions daily during the six months beginning Dec. 1 and ending May 1st of each year. The amount which can be taken between May 1st and Dec. 1st is to be determined monthly and will be based on the rainfall for the previous six months in the Charles River watershed, as determined by six rain water gauges in different parts of the valley. When the average rainfall for the preceding six months is 18 inches or more, the city may take the full amount of three million gallons additional, during the current month, where it is between 17 and 18 inches, the limit will be two million gallons, between 16 and 17 inches, it will be one million gallons, and under 16 inches, no addition to the present limit of five million gallons will be allowed.

Water Commissioner Whitney believes that this section will be sufficient to give the city an ample supply of water, especially during the summer months, when the consumption of the city has sometimes been 4,600,000 gallons per day.

At the annual meeting held last Monday night, the following officers and committees were elected:—

EXTRA INNING GAME

Waltham Beats Newton In a 16 Inning Contest

Newton was defeated last Saturday at Waltham by the home ball team by a score of 4 to 3 in a contest which went to 16 innings. Twelve hundred people watched the game, which was replete with brilliant fielding.

On the pitching end, Fagan of Waltham struck out 10, passed three and allowed 14 hits, while Higgins struck out 11, passed eight, and allowed but five hits. Waltham's excellent fielding helped Fagan out of many difficulties, although he proved himself the master in the pinches.

Waltham's winning run was the only one which was not really earned, it coming on an error by Wansker, Newton's center fielder, who had played first-class ball up to that time, getting five putouts, many of them hard catches.

Waltham scored in the fourth, getting three runs with two out on an error by Higgins, a pass and hits by Pickett, Johnson and McGilivray.

Newton scored in the sixth on a three-bagger by Rice, followed by a single by Bryson; and two more in the eighth, one of them on poor judgment by Johnson, who held the ball protesting a decision, while Rice, who singled, calmly trotted from second to the plate. The next one followed on a hit by Bryson, driving King home. That ended Newton's scoring.

Waltham's winning run came with two down on passes to Varley and Johnson, followed by a wild pitch which advanced them to third and second. Then Leary hit to center field and Wansker, running back about 15 feet, had it in his hands, only to drop it, and Varley scored.

RECEPTION TO NEW PASTOR

Rev. G. Charles Gray, the newly appointed minister at the Methodist Church, was tendered a reception last week on Wednesday evening by the members of the Ladies Aid Society of which Mrs. Frank O. Barber is president.

Mrs. Barber was assisted by a committee of ladies of the parish under the chairmanship of Mrs. Elliston H. Bell.

There was an attendance of about 200 and addresses were given by Rev. Laurens MacLure, D. D., rector of Grace Church, Rev. Harrie R. Chamberlin, pastor of Immanuel Church, and Mr. H. W. Bascom, Secretary of the Y. M. C. A., Rev. H. Grant Person of Eliot Church, and Rev. George S. Butters, D. D., of the Centenary Church, were unable to be present and sent regrets. Rev. Mr. Gray also made a very pleasing address. Mr. Alonzo R. Weed was master of ceremonies, and in the receiving line were the presidents of the various societies and associations of the church.

The members of the Junior League presented Mr. Gray with a book. The church parlors were attractively decorated for the occasion with palms and cut flowers and refreshments were served under the direction of members of the reception committee. An excellent musical program was given by a trio composed of Miss Glennis Polard, violinist; Miss Mildred Elchler, cellist, and Miss Elsa Leonard, pianist.

SMOKE TALK

The Clafin Guard Veteran Association will hold a Smoke Talk with light refreshments and entertainment at the State Armory, West Newton this evening, at 8 o'clock.

Mayor Childs, Capt. Bruce with his two lieutenants, and other guests will be present.

THE MAY BREAKFAST

Attracts a Good Attendance and a Substantial Sum Realized for the Hospital

The second annual May Breakfast which was given Saturday morning under the auspices of the Social Service League of the Newton Hospital was very successful and altho' the proceeds were less than those of the previous year the results were more gratifying in that the affair was run on a much more systematic basis and as a consequence a much better breakfast was served in all of the six wards and the service and supply was much more satisfactory.

It was rather a difficult problem to calculate the exact number to prepare for and the chairman of the various committees, had their hands full in giving efficient service. Many flattering comments were heard concerning the excellence of the breakfast and the prompt service.

At Eliot Church over 400 were served and the flower table and the cake and candy tables netted over $100. After the breakfast a successful food sale was held and a large basket sent to the Pomroy Home.

At the West Newton Unitarian Church there were about 450 served with a good breakfast and commendable promptness. A business men's table was provided for the convenience of the gentlemen, and proved quite popular. A food sale followed the breakfast and the food remaining was sent to the West Newton Day Nursery and the Newton Hospital.

475 were served at the New Church, Newtonville, 517 at the Newton Highlands Congregational Church, 325 at the Newton Centre Methodist Church and 400 at the Abundant Congregational Church.

CARD OF THANKS

The Social Service League of the Newton Hospital wishes to extend, thro' its chairman, its hearty appreciation of the combined efforts of all those people who in any way whatsoever, helped to make the annual May Breakfast such a great success. To those villages of Newton, which raised money by other means, and to sections that kindly gave their financial support to the standing committee of the various churches who made the giving of the Breakfast possible.

Y. M. C. A. NOTES

Capt. Jack Crawford, the Post Scout, is to be in Newton two days, Saturday the 18th and Sunday the 19th. The Newton Y. M. C. A. has gladly granted to the Boy Scouts the use of their building, grounds and Assembly Hall for their Scout Rally which Capt. Jack is to address Saturday evening.

On Sunday afternoon, however, at 4 P. M., Capt. Jack is to be the guest of the Newton Association, and will speak in the Auditorium. This is a rare opportunity for the men and boys of Newton to hear the Post Scout and a large audience is assured.

Here are some of the things which have been said about Capt. Jack and his lectures:

"The famous 'broncho buster' looks just as splendid as when we first learned to know him, three decades ago. Tall, straight as an arrow, his long wavy hair, now turned white, falls on his shoulders. He wears a dark sombrero, and on his coat he shows the bronze button of the Grand Army man and his old Corps badge." "It is not alone as soldier and scout that Crawford is known to fame. His hundreds of poems, published in several volumes, are found in nearly every library in the land. They show him to be not only a writer of high attainment, but a true student of nature, and some of the finest contributions to the literature of today are his productions."

POLICE NEWS

Raymond Archambault, arrested by inspectors Fletcher and O'Halloran, charged with the unlawful appropriation of a horse and carriage, the property of William B. McMullin of 846 Chestnut street, Upper Falls, and also on a warrant charging breaking and entering more than a year ago in this city, was held in $1000 on each count for the Grand Jury by Judge J. C. Kennedy Wednesday. The horse and wagon were stolen some time Monday night, and the inspectors located the rig Tuesday afternoon in Natick, on the Holliston road. The warrant against Archambault, charging him with breaking and entering, was sworn out on April 10, 1913, and the police have been looking for him since. He pleaded not guilty and was unable to raise the necessary bail.

EDITORIAL

The improvement in political conditions from a Republican standpoint is noticeably indicated by the candidates suggested for the Republican nomination for Congress in this district, now represented by a Democrat.
Of all the names suggested, however, there will be none which will meet the hearty approval of so many persons as that of Mr. Edward C. Mansfield, the retiring postmaster of Boston. Mr.
Mansfield would be an ideal candidate for the position, having an excellent knowledge of political affairs, a wide acquaintance with public men and questions, and a personality which makes friends wherever he goes. The fact that he is reluctant to enter the contest for the nomination should only spur his many friends to the task of making his nomination and election sure.

During a recent visit to several Southern cities, I made careful inquiries as to the practical operation of the commission form of city government which has been prevalent in that section of the country for some time. While there is an apparent universal sentiment that the commission form is far better than the previous aldermanic system, I found plenty of evidence that the commission government is not the panacea of civic ills that has been claimed for it. One well informed city executive came out flatly in favor of the city manager plan of government which has been recently adopted in Dayton, O., and it is very plain that it is men and not forms, which produce the best results.

The resignation of Forest Commissioner Charles I. Bucknam is a matter of regret to all our citizens who know of his most efficient work on our trees for the past six years.
The city government has shown its appreciation of Mr. Bucknam by frequent increases in salary, all of which were entirely deserved. What the city in general will lose in Mr. Bucknam's resignation will in some measure be gained by citizens in particular, as Mr. Bucknam will continue in forestry work in this city as a private contractor.

I have commented so often in these columns on the fact that this end of the senatorial district should have the honor of naming the next state senator that I am somewhat reluctant to broach the matter again. I wish, however, to suggest the name of Mr. Alfred L. Cutting of Weston as the Republican candidate for this office, believing that the state and the district would be well served by his election.

While due honors should be paid the memory of those unfortunate young men who died for their country at Vera Cruz, let us not forget that their deaths were entirely unnecessary and with a proper administration at Washington would not have occurred.

It is still too early to judge what effect the refusal to grant liquor transportation permits will have on the city, but it is a safe wager that plenty of liquor will be brought into Newton in some form or other.

The suggestion that Representative Thomas W. White of this city should be nominated on the state ticket for auditor of the Commonwealth meets favorable response from all portions of the state.

AN APPEAL TO ENLIST

To the Patriotic Citizens of Newton:

The present state of affairs of our country makes it necessary for its citizens to interest themselves in the responsibilities of citizenship. If it should become necessary for the President to call for volunteers, it is the desire of our Governor to send to the front as many men as our state can send. In order that our state be one of the first to give the services of its young men to our country, we must first be prepared.

In the city of Newton, January 1911, was thrown open to the young men of the surrounding district one of the finest and most expensive armories in the state. Among the attractions contained in the building are a bowling alley, pool tables, reflecting ranges, on the drill floor 80x120 feet is the tennis court, also basket ball and indoor baseball space. A large company room is provided with piano, papers, magazines, books, etc.
The expense of maintaining the armory is borne by the state, the building itself being taken care of by a janitor or armorer, under the direction of the captain of the company who is custodian. The company consists of three officers and sixty enlisted men,
as follows: Captain, 1st Lieut., 2nd Lieut., 1st Sergeant, 2nd Sergeant, 4 Sergeants, 6 Corporals, 2 Cooks, 2 Musicians, 1 Artificer, 43 Privates. The above is the organization of a company of infantry in the militia, and if called upon to mobilize for war, it would be increased to a company of 150, which is known as war strength.

At the armory located in West Newton is quartered a company of infantry known as the Clafin Guard designated as Company C, 5th Regiment of Infantry, M. V. M., under the command of Captain Philip B. Bruce. And it is the desire of Captain Bruce, if the emergency should arise wherefore, the 5th Regiment, of which it is a unit should be called upon to mobilize, he would have to send forth to the camp of mobilization a full war strength company of 150. At present Company C is recruited up to its full strength as a militia company with a waiting list of eight men.

In order that this company will be in readiness at a moment's notice, we would ask that the young unmarried men of Newton and Watertown call at the armory and register their names. The company drills every

Monday evening from 8.30 to 10 P. M., visitors are welcome, a section of the balcony is reserved for ladies.

Company C should have the loyal support of the citizens of Newton and Watertown, and it is their duty to speak to the young men and interest them in the company.

The company has a good record for answering the call to arms, having seen nine months' service in the Spanish War, seventeen days duty at the Lawrence strike, and it is now going to be ready to answer the call to Mexico.

Although our President and Secretary of State are being unjustly cri-tiqued for not at once declaring war against Mexico, by militant-minded fanatics, the intelligent and patriotic citizens approve of their methods of exhausting all honorable means before engaging in war. It is but human nature that we do everything to avoid war in these days, as we lay away the remains of the young men who lost their lives at Vera Cruz. Not only so, but they shall not have died in vain,
but in the expectation of years, may not give up their lives, unless it is absolutely necessary that they should do

Therefore, let every citizen support necessity should arise.

The time is now opportune for the young men to show their loyalty to their country and to:

Your flag and our flag,
And how it floats today
O'er your land and my land,
And half the world away.

The one! the great flag!
The flag for me and you!
Glorified, all else beside,
The red and white and blue.

SCIENCE and INVENTION

MAN CAN WALK UPON WATER

Invention of St. Louis Man That Was Suggested by Sinking of Titanic—No Aid to Swimmer.

August Sommerfeld, an inventor, has perfected and patented an invention enabling him to walk across the Mississippi as rapidly as a pedestrian could make his way across Eads bridge, says a St. Louis correspondent. Sommerfeld has spent many weeks on the Mississippi and on Creve Coeur lake. He says it was originated for life saving.

The invention consists of a canvas-covered pneumatic tube that is pumped up like an automobile tire. It fits under the arms, extending entirely around the body, and is held in place by a belt around the waist and straps over the shoulders.

Used in connection with a webber arrangement fastened to the ankles, the wearer of the air belt is able to walk as rapidly as though on land. He has experimented with it as an aid to duck hunters. There is but little recoil from a heavy shotgun fired while the hunter is poised in the water.

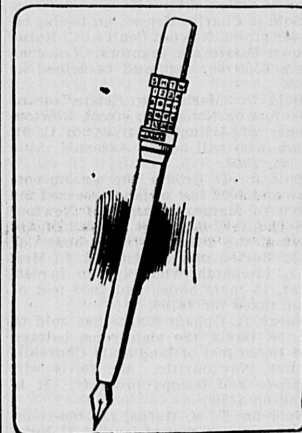

The invention was suggested to Sommerfeld by the sinking of the Titanic. It is not intended as an aid to swimmers.

"The fact is," says he, "the wearer cannot swim. The shape of the device is such that any movement piles up the water in front of the swimmer's breast. But it is easy to walk with its help in water ten feet, 1,000 or 10,000 feet deep."

ual calendar, and once the user gets the habit of setting this calendar each morning, he is never at a loss for the day of the month. Rows of numerals, representing the days of the month, revolve around the handle. Above these numerals are the days of the week and below is a band that is adjustable at different points on the handle and that serves as a frame for the date or the week that the user may want to pick out, usually the present one. Thus a busy man may always have the day's date literally at his fingers' ends, and any other date of the month will be quite as convenient for a ready reference.

chanics. Some of the hulls adopted resemble more or less those of motor-boats of the hydroplane order, to be sure, but would create a queer impression if seen floating in the water with an aeroplane upper works removed, while the hull of the Farman machine might easily pass as an ordinary boat.

Noiseless Typewriters.

Promoters of a new noiseless typewriter contend that its loudest sound is that made by the impact of an operator's fingers on the keys.

TEACH CHILD SELF-RELIANCE

Wise Parent Can Inculcate Invaluable Quality at an Extremely Early Age.

One of the most valuable lessons that a child can learn is that of self-reliance. A great many parents think that this characteristic is inborn, but it is not altogether so. Of course, some children are more gifted in this respect than others, as it is largely a matter of personality, but at the same time it is a trait which the parent can do much to help the child to attain. It is certainly a characteristic which will come into play in his later life more than almost any other, and, therefore, the less self-reliance a child shows in his early years the more careful the parents should be to help him develop it.

There are many ways in which this can be inculcated, and once the idea is given the child will do much to develop it himself. Teach him to rely as far as possible upon his own talents and abilities, and help him to cultivate them so that as early as possible he may depend upon them for his own support. Let him learn to find his way about alone and not be afraid to travel without the company of an older person. Teach him to plan things for himself.

Let him learn to do things. Show him that you trust him and that you know you can depend upon him. This is very important, as a child that feels that his elders have not confidence in himself, and, therefore, seldom accomplishes anything by himself—in short, he has not the quality of self-reliance or self-confidence, and is not in a fair way of acquiring either one.

CHILDREN IN COTTON MILLS

Pressing Social Problem That in the Near Future Is Going to Call Loudly for Solution.

The labor of children in cotton manufacturing plants presents one of the most pressing social problems of the day, for the industry is living up to its reputation as a large employer of children, says a bulletin from the census bureau. "The average number of children under sixteen years of age employed as wage-earners was 39,306, of whom nearly one-half were girls," it states. "Children constituted 10.4 per cent. of the total number of wage-earners. In three of the southern states, Alabama, North Carolina and South Carolina, nearly 19 per cent. of all wage-earners were children under sixteen years of age. In Massachusetts, the leading state in the industry, however, only 5.7 per cent. were children. Practically one-half of the wage-earners employed in the cotton manufacturing industry in 1909 were in establishments where the prevailing hours of labor were between 54 and 60 per week, and nearly one-third were employed in establishments where the hours were 60 per week." About one-fifth of all the cotton mill workers in three southern states are children less than sixteen years old.

Still Controls Spirit of Music.

Despite his seventy-eight years, Saint-Saens recently appeared before a representative Berlin audience and played with remarkable fluency, transparent clearness and evenness of passages, while his touch was elastic, his tone full, round and of a beautiful quality. Moreover, the ease and nonchalance with which he played astonished his hearers. He exhibited an astonishing amount of vitality in other respects, too. When Claire Dux sang two vocal numbers—an aria from the opera "Henry VII." and the chanson "La Cloche"—Saint-Saens sat down at the piano and played the accompaniment with exquisite touch and refinement, following the singer with the greatest fidelity. He played both accompaniments and also his piano solos from memory.

Puzzle in Electricity.

It is amazing what a tremendous electric shock a man may receive and yet not be killed. No less amazing is it how small a shock will kill. It all depends upon the circumstances of the shock. To kill, the shock must pass through the brain, heart or upper part of the spinal cord. A shock from a weak current, if received over a large area of the body, will do more damage than a shock from a powerful current that effects only a small and not vital part of the body.

Dr. H. Zangger of Munich, in a recent paper, asserts that a 50-volt current is dangerous if received under the most favorable conditions.

Law Aimed at Injustice.

Bank clerks and matrimony have been the subject of legislation by the Australian parliament. The assembly has approved of a new clause in the criminal code bill, by which any person or corporation, prohibiting, under threat of dismissal, the marrying of any employee over twenty-one years of age, will be liable to a fine of $1,500, or three months' imprisonment. The clause is the outcome of evidence in the arbitration court that the Western Australian banks prohibit the marriage of clerks receiving under $1,000 per annum.

Safety in Submarines.

A new life-saving device was tried out at Spezia, Italy, when a turret invented by Capt. Virgilio Cavallini, for fixing on submarines, was experimented with. Should the submarine sink to the bottom from any cause, the sailors can take refuge in the turret, which, by an ingenious mechanism, is then detached from the vessel and rises to the surface. The experiments are said to have given conclusive proof of the practicability of the invention.

Advertising Talks

HOW ADVERTISING LOWERS PRICES

Consumer Does Not Pay Bill Because Volume of Business Is Increased.

Does the consumer pay the advertising bills? Many economists have maintained that he does, and that in the large sums which manufacturers, wholesale houses and retail dealers are spending for advertising lies one of the chief reasons for the present high cost of living. There is, however, much convincing evidence to show that the right kind of advertising produces exactly the opposite effect and that, instead of raising prices, it lowers them and improves the quality of the goods into the bargain. In other words, you get a better article at a lower price when it is intelligently advertised than when it is not.

To understand why this is so, consider the two functions of all advertising—first, to individualize the product; and, second, to increase the demand for it. The importance of the first function is apparent to all who have even a superficial knowledge of modern trade conditions. A nationally known and nationally advertised trademark is an asset that market fluctuations cannot dissipate. It has at all times a fixed, marketable value.

Whether advertising raises the selling price or cheapens the quality is a matter concerned entirely with the second function. Can the demand be increased without the consumer having to foot the bills? That is the question.

It has been proved again and again that the saving in manufacturing costs per unit between a maximum sale per thousand on an unadvertised brand and a like sale on an advertised brand is far greater than the cost of advertising. Those who do not advertise do not get either the reduced cost of manufacture that comes from a large volume of sales or the decreased selling costs which come with trademarking and advertising. Advertising, then, by reducing the cost of production, and also the cost of selling makes it possible to give the consumer either a lower price or a better product or both without lessening the manufacturers' profit.

Certain silk manufacturers inaugurated some time ago an advertising campaign in the interest of a trade marked line of silks. Within a fixed period $60,000 was spent in this campaign. The sales made in this period amounted to $3,000,000; or $50 in sales for every dollar of advertising. Because of the volume of business the manufacturers were able to produce their goods at the lowest possible ratio of cost, and to sell on the same basis. The consumers, therefore, were a direct beneficiary.

Another manufacturer was selling his line through salesmen on a 10 per cent. commission basis. He began a country-wide advertising campaign, and soon after found that the demand for the line was so great, that he was able to cut his salesmen's commission to 5 per cent. Today the salesmen are making more money at 5 per cent. than they formerly made at 10 per cent. Not only that, but the manufacturer has sliced 3 per cent. from selling costs, as the advertising averages only 2 per cent. of the sales.

TO SEEK RECRUITS BY ADS

Novel Method of Obtaining Soldiers Will Be Tried Out by Military Heads of Great Britain.

A newspaper advertising campaign for recruits to the British army is to be undertaken in all parts of Great Britain.

The war office has become convinced of the value of the newspaper as a medium, and has placed a contract with the head of a regular advertising agency to conduct the campaign during the next year on a large scale.

Not less than 40,000 men are needed to fill vacancies in British regiments. The advertisement will point out that the young men who enlist will be fed, clothed, housed, get $2.50 a week pocket money and have free medical attention, as well as receiving a pension at the age of thirty-six years if the recruit is not over eighteen at the time of his enlistment.

HE WOULDN'T ADVERTISE.

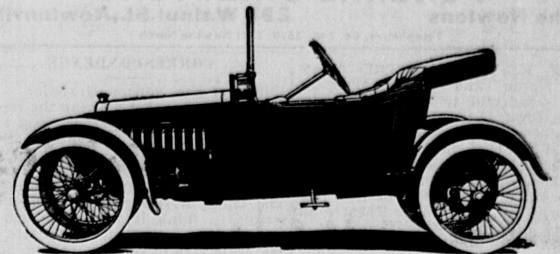

There was a man in our town,
And he was wondrous wise;
He swore (it was his policy)
He wouldn't advertise.

But one day he advertised,
And thereby hangs a tale;
The ad was set in quite small type,
And headed "Sheriff's Sale."

A Good Investment.

It costs a little money to take stock, but it's worth it; and the time when stock was taken once a year has long since passed. Your advertising may be running along quite nicely now, but make an analysis at regular intervals—it may cost a little money, but it's worth it.

B. F. KEITH'S THEATRE—"Waddy," "Mollie" and "Tony." Miss Orford's wonderful trio of trained elephants, towards the purchase of whom the children of New England contributed $6,500 that they might become permanent inhabitants of the Franklin Park Zoo, will enter upon the second and positively last week of their engagement at B. F. Keith's Theatre on Monday afternoon, May 18th. As a special feature Mr. Keith has arranged to present every child with a souvenir baby elephant, an exact model of cute little "Tony." The surrounding bill is exceptionally attractive to the children. Bud Fisher, creator of "Mutt and Jeff," will draw some original pictures. Fred J. Ardath and his rural cut ups have a unique act called "Oh, Hiram," with a big company of comedians and clowns and a funny trained mule; the Great Leon is a Hindoo wonder worker, with a spectacular musical offering in two big scenes. Muller and Stanley are two of the cleverest fun makers in vaudeville to-day. Pauline Welch is a charming little singing comedienne; DeWitt, Burns and Torrence have a novelty called "The Awakening of Toys," with its scene laid in a toy shop and the principal characters a wooden soldier, a Jack-in-the-box and a Pierrot; Kenny and Welsh are two clever entertainers; and the Rosaires have a daring aerial act on the tight wire.

HOW THE GREAT STARS AND CONSTELLATIONS MAY BE KNOWN

(For the Newton Graphic)

The open Books of Nature are numerous and large affording much pleasure and interest, to those who can turn over some of their leaves and become acquainted. To be sure, it requires persistent endeavor if we are to gather any satisfactory results from any one department. And although many of these Books are sealed, the seal is easily broken by steady application. And many glorious things are seen, noble and right.

The Book to which I am about to refer, is the Stella Heavens. These Worlds in Space shine for all, but very few are pressing to know about them, it is not the talk of the street; a newly discovered gold mine is much more interesting; and yet, the stars have their devotees in all quarters of the Globe, who watch their favorite Shimmers as they pass under the great dome of the heavens.

Without possessing much scientific knowledge, we may become sufficiently acquainted with many of the constellations and their great local stars, as to be at home with them, and maintain a healthy progress towards further advancement.

In this little talk, I am going to show how any one may begin to know the stars, and be on friendly terms with them in a comparatively short time. You do not need any special books. Begin in the same way as you would begin to save money, get a start and keep on, and consider that every star that you know is a newly discovered friend which you are to hold on to, and keep adding to as opportunity offers.

Let me just say right here, there are about 88 constellations all told and about one-fourth of them are below the southern horizon round about the South Pole, and of course are not open to our vision. There are only about 20 stars of the first magnitude all over the sky, but 5 or 6 of them are hidden from us for the same reason as the constellations, leaving us 14 or 15 of the Alpha, or the largest stars, and it is no great task to learn to identify every one of them. This can certainly be done in less than a year with occasional little helps, as I shall give at the end of this little talk.

I am saying nothing here about the planets, which are also stars in appearance, which most people very well know. In order to know them from stars proper, we must regard them as the sun's solar family—very numerous and very different in size.

There are not less than 500 all told, and some are being added almost every year. While some few of them are several hundred miles in diameter, there are very many not more than ten miles, there may be some not more than five. Our glorious sun seems to take care of them and holds them in place, and I do not remember hearing of any of them becoming wrecked. In regard to the eight regular well-known planets, I will describe them a little later on, with such other matters regarding them, as will make them interesting and worth while.

Most everybody knows the dipper, or ursum major, the Great Bear. The pointers to the North Star are the two stars opposite the handle of the dipper and point upward to the North. The same stars point in the opposite way to the constellation of Leo or Lion, and the big star Regulus, which is situated in the lion's breast. The popular name, however, for the lion is the Sickle, and the bright star is the jewel on the handle, but it cannot be seen very well just now before the fall again.

But we can just now, turn the handle of the Dipper into a very good pointer by using the last two stars, and follow their pointing and you will easily see a very large bronze colored star, whose name is Arcturus, first of Arcturus, the Bear Driver. This star is supposed to be the fourth largest star in the whole heavens, and is fifty years in sending us his light, so that if it were destroyed it would shine to us for fifty years longer.

By extending the pointing of the two stars just named, beyond Arcturus, we reach another big star in the constellation of Virgo, named Spica. Once find this star and you can always identify it ever after as one of the big stars, though by no means as large as Arcturus. It is also one of the zodiacal stars of which there are but five belonging to the first class, in the twelve constellations which form the zodiacal belt. And, as I said above, almost anyone with an ordinary amount of intelligence, may readily find a considerable amount of the starry heavens.

PLYMOUTH THEATRE—"Under Cover" will draw another step nearer in its great progress towards establishing the longest run in the theatrical history of Boston. On next Monday the piece enters upon the twenty-second week of its engagement at the Plymouth Theatre, Boston. The fact that this remarkable play has already scored the greatest success in years only partly speaks for its extraordinary merits. The press and public have been unhesitatingly gratifying in their praise. Mr. Edward H. Crosby, the eminent critic of the Boston Post, declared that it is the best play that has been seen in Boston for years. There is plenty of action during every minute of the four acts that keeps you wide awake and guessing as to the outcome. The comedy is brisk while there is enough love sentiment to make the contrast delightfully enjoyable. The regular matinees are given on Thursday and Saturday.

BEFORE VERA CRUZ

Letters From the United States Battleship Arkansas

In letters dated April 18 and 23 C. A. Taylor, who is one of the expert gun crew on board the U. S. Battleship Arkansas, writes his mother, who resides on Cornell street, Newton Lower Falls, describing the operations about and the occupation of Vera Cruz by the American forces.

Mr. Taylor says: "We left Norfolk, Va., at noon on April 15. All the battleships on this coast are on their way down here with us. On the 15, 16 and 17 nothing eventful transpired. We had plenty of drilling in preparation for war and also a school at which we studied maps of Mexico and officers and men discussed the situation.

"April 18 we found the weather becoming warmer every hour and we exchanged the blue uniforms for khaki. We passed Palm Beach, Fla., about 10 A. M., and were about three miles off shore. We could plainly see the hotels, with the aid of field glasses. We were almost dead with the heat, then and it was so far from Mexico. About the only thing we hear is war talk and it is a case of 'Everybody's doing it.' On Sunday, April 19, the U. S. battleship South Carolina joined us at 10 A. M., and we passed Key West at sunset.

"Our operations against Vera Cruz began with heavy firing, which continued for two days and we are now to land and expel the Mexicans from the city. Several Americans have been killed.

In his letter dated April 23, at Vera Cruz, Mr. Taylor said: "We landed here the 21st, at midnight, and took our positions before daybreak being stationed about the city. At daylight we started to take the city, the Mexicans were barricaded in every house. We had to smash into each one. Even the women and small children had rifles and were blazing away at us. The first day we took nearly one-fourth of the city, beating the Mexicans back only after driving 12-inch shells into the principal buildings. At night we bombarded the arsenal and citadel and captured them about midnight, taking nearly 1,000 prisoners.

"The streets here are mere alleys and we have fellows on the roofs of all high buildings with machine guns. I am on one of the roofs now, but not on watch.

"Talk about heat! You should be here! Sunrise is about 3 A. M. at noon later the sun almost roasts you. Whole flocks of huge buzzards constantly fly about and devour any kind of refuse.

"It sounds like the Fourth of July here. Every minute or two a huge shell comes along and knocks down a few towers, etc. The buildings here are built of sandstone and stucco and are crowded very close together. There are Mexicans, Indians, Spaniards and half-breeds, who make up the population.

"Our greatest difficulty is in looking out for poisonous reptiles, such as scorpions, snakes and centipedes, as they are everywhere. We may go inland from here and will probably be around the place until September."

CITY GOVERNMENT

The secret of the failure of popular government in our cities lies in the fact that the average voter hates economy and believes in spending money. He is convinced that the rich man pays the taxes and cannot be persuaded that in the last accounting every dollar paid into the public treasury comes out of the dinner plate and pocket of the worker and the pot and pantry of his home. That the social Atlas—the man at the bottom on whose back the whole social fabric rests—has to settle for all expenditures the increased prices of food, raiment and shelter is as plain as the nose on his face; that every dollar wasted in unnecessary expenditures and on unnecessary political parasites and loafers, means less comfort and food for the laborer is an ordinary economic truism; yet it is one of the hardest facts to get into the voter's crass matter.

If our friends, the reformers, would come down out of the clouds and give us a rest about social service, parks, playgrounds, and a lot of other decorative and expensive things and start in to teach people the plain principles of plain economy, and impress the plain man that he is the fellow who is paying the piper, they might get somewhere. The propaganda of the average reformer is just as dishonest and reprehensible as that of the plain grafter. Waste and extravagance, the indulgence in things that the city cannot afford, is only larceny with a less offensive name; and this city is full of persons, sentimental, virtuous and vocal, who are constantly exhorting the city that it cannot and should not take up, who would be shocked and scandalized were they stigmatized as grafters and wasters. Yet that is exactly what they are with all their fine phrases and humanitarian pretences.

"TRIAL BY JURY"

The large audience which was present at the Hunnewell Club Friday evening, enjoyed a real musical treat in Gilbert and Sullivan's operetta, "Trial by Jury," which was presented by members of the choir of Grace Church, Newton.

The program was of exceptional musical merit and delightfully varied and the solo singing by Miss Vanessa Denton, Mr. Frank Leighton and Mr. Edward S. Wheeler, contributed in no small measure to the excellence of the entertainment.

"Slumber Oh Slumber," by Simpson, was the first of two numbers by Mr. Wheeler, with piano accompaniment by Mrs. Wheeler, and for encore he sang, "Just Idle Dreams."

"At Dawning," by Cadman, and "A Dream of Arcady," by De Koven, were most delightfully sung by Mr. Leighton, and two selections of great beauty and sentiment, "Mighty Lak A Rose," by Nevin, and "I Hid My Love," by D'Hardelot, were admirably rendered by Miss Denton, who possesses a soprano voice of rare sweetness and purity of tone.

The operetta cast included Miss Marie F. Sladen, who was charming and vivacious in the leading role of "plaintiff," appearing in bridal veil and gown, and her singing was highly pleasing to the audience. Mr. Sladen was the principal comedian, taking the part of "the defendant," and shared honors with Mr. J. H. Kent, "the Judge," Mr. William Hanson "council for plaintiff," and Mr. Richard U. Clark, 3rd, "foreman of jury." Miss Gladys Forbush appeared well in the role of clerk of court, and Mr. Arthur Swansbourne was the court usher.

The brides-maids, eight very attractive young ladies gowned in white, and carrying floral wreaths, included the Misses Mildred D. Phippen, Polly Converse, Theresa L. Cram, Amy Hubbard, Edith W. Peakes, Emilie Whitteley, Madeline I. Hanson, and Margherita Kellen.

Members of the jury were James H. Townsend, F. Willard Meakin, T. Edward Cutler, William V. M. Fawcett, Geoffrey Baker, Bradford F. Story, Cyril W. Forbush and W. Edward Hollingsworth.

The production excelled in fine comedy effects, brilliant costuming, and lively, tuneful melody, and was well staged under the direction of Mr. Leverett D. G. Bentley. The singing was in charge of the choir-master, who also took a prominent part in the production, and the voices were excellently trained. The program was ably conducted by Mr. William G. Hambleton, the organist at Grace Church, and the piano accompanist was Mrs. George Owen.

The entertainment committee was under the chairmanship of Mr. Sladen and included Mr. Charles M. Ford, Richard U. Clark, 3rd, and William Hanson, and the patronesses were: Miss Elizabeth Angier, Mrs. Charles H. Breck, Mrs. E. P. Brown, Mrs. Frank B. Converse, Mrs. H. H. Ellis, Miss Florence G. Elms, Mrs. Frederick J. Fawcett, Mrs. Sydney Harwood, Mrs. Charles L. Harrison, Mrs. Welles E. Holmes, Mrs. William E. Jones, Miss Rose Loring, Mrs. Laurens MacLure, Mrs. Henry A. Nealley, Mrs. George Owen, Mrs. Charles F. Painter, Mrs. Frank M. Sheldon, Mrs. Charles N. Sladen, Mrs. Curtis N. Smith, Mrs. Irving U. Townsend, Mrs. Charles E. Riley.

A FAIR CRITICISM

Montclair, N. J.

Editor of Graphic—
Dear Sir—
Just after our return from a visit to Newton I noticed this paragraph:—"Montclair—Sixteen arrests for violating the law prohibiting automobiles from passing trolley cars while the latter are discharging passengers have been made here in the past forty-eight hours. Ten dollar fines were assessed in most of the cases."

Showing what is being done here to protect our citizens. The utter disregard of road laws (if you have any) by both police and automobilists in your city is something that causes much comment by visitors from other places. I hope your paper may be the means of helping to protect innocent lives.

—A Survivor.

NORUMBEGA PARK OPEN

UNDER THE GILDED DOME

In an interesting debate this week in the House, Mr. Washburn of Worcester made some sarcastic remark about the Newtonesque attitude taken by the chairman of the Ways and Means Committee. Representative White of this city. Later in the debate Mr. White countered on Mr. Washburn by saying that the Newtonesque attitude stood for sanity and consistency in legislation, while it was well known that the gentleman from Worcester was notoriously inconsistent.

Mr. White is making an extremely efficient legislator and it is a matter of much regret that he definitely announces that he will not be a candidate for re-election. It may be possible to induce Mr. White to become the Republican candidate for the Senate in this district, but it would be still better if he would accept the nomination for state auditor. Mr. White has made an excellent member and chairman of the Ways and Means Committee of the House and has a thorough knowledge of the financial affairs of the state. From a political standpoint, his nomination for this office would be ideal, as he has a wide, personal acquaintance all over the state and is making rapid strides in becoming a good stump speaker. Further honors are undoubtedly in sight for Representative White.

Representative Battfield, it is understood, will be a candidate for another term and while Representative Ellis is at present opposed to running again, it is hoped that conditions will so shape themselves that both these gentlemen will serve the city for another year on Beacon Hill.

Representatives Bothfield and Ellis voted with the majority against the bill to consolidate the Metropolitan Park and Metropolitan Water and Sewerage commissions, and Mr. White was not recorded. The same gentlemen voted against the bill to create a state board of barber examiners and Mr. White was also unrecorded. In this matter, however, our representatives were with the minority of the House.

Mr. White voted with a very small minority suspending the rule to admit the resolutions condemning the national administration for receiving proposals for hunting from foreign manufacturers.

On the bill to allow Spanish War veterans an additional percentage in civil service examinations, Mr. Ellis voted in favor of the amendment for a referendum, and Messrs. Bothfield and White against the amendment, while all three voted with the minority against the final passage of the bill.

Messrs. Ellis and White were opposed to the bill to allow labor on the Lord's day in household gardens, and Mr. Bothfield was not recorded. The bill passed the House by a vote of 99 to 90.

The Taxation committee has reported adversely on the recommendation of the governor relative to a change in the present distribution of franchise taxes, a measure which would seriously affect the income of this city. While this action may not preclude the final defeat of the measure, it is gratifying that the committee which gives the matter careful attention is opposed to the plan.

Mr. Bothfield is one of the five dissenting members of the Metropolitan Affairs committee on the bill to authorize a $500,000 boulevard from Harvard bridge, across Cambridge and Somerville to the Middlesex Fells. This bill has been before the Legislature for some years, but is a most expensive proposition, and would only benefit persons who use automobiles for pleasure driving. It would be a most expensive luxury, for which Newton could pay a large part.

There are some rumors that Governor Walsh would like to receive the resignation of Mr. James L. Richards of Newtonville, and Mr. Charles P. Hall of West Newton, who are members of the board of trustees designated to take over the stock representing the New Haven control of the Boston & Maine railroad. It is thought that these two gentlemen by their financial interests with the Boston Elevated would be somewhat biased by that fact in acting on the Boston & Maine situation. No one who knows these gentlemen, would, for one moment, dream that they would act otherwise than for the best interests of all concerned, and it is an undoubted fact that, in order to effectually divorce the New Haven and the Boston & Maine, it will be necessary to interest the men with money to invest, and in order to do this, it will be absolutely necessary to have some assurance that such investments will be carefully guarded by men of the calibre of Messrs. Richards and Hall.

been enlarged and the inmates are in excellent health awaiting the day of inspection. The Grape Arbor Cafe with its enviable reputation will be under the same efficient management.

LIEDERHEIM NOTES

Last Monday evening at Liederkreis, 387 Central street, Auburndale, the series of May Recitals was opened with a program of compositions by two of Boston's most popular composers, Grace Mayhew and J. C. Bartlett.

The young ladies from Mrs. Ruggles' Liederkreis School of Vocal Music together with young men from her private studio made possible a program of great variety and excellence.

The audience was especially favored by hearing Mr. Bartlett sing his own famous "Dream."

Next Tuesday evening comes another of these delightful "Composers' Evenings," which Mrs. Ruggles prepares every season. This time it will be the compositions of Mabel W. Daniels, who will be present and accompany her own compositions; songs, duets, trios and Glee Club numbers.

The closing Liederkreis Recital is free to the public to which a cordial invitation is extended. It will be held at the Parish House of the Centenary Methodist Church, Central street, Auburndale, Wednesday, May 20th, at 7.45 P. M.

CONCERT

A very successful concert was given Friday evening under the auspices of the choir of the Church of the Messiah in the parish hall.

A high class program of 13 numbers was presented, which included chorus singing, groups of songs by Miss Myrtle Lavina Jordan, soprano; cello selections by Miss Margaret E. Ruggles; soprano solos by Jessup Sholar.

A pleasing feature was the opening number of the second part of the program, consisting of an overture, "Midsummer Night's Dream," by Mr. Currie and Miss Florence Walsh and a reading, "Through the House," by Rev. John Matteson, Herbert McGill and Raymond Humes as soloists.

Selections by the Boys' Chorus, a group of songs by Mr. Frederic Russell, a trio by Miss Ruggles, Mr. Sholar and Mr. Currie, a group of songs by Mr. Edmund Wilson, and "Paria," by Miss Jordan concluded a program which greatly pleased the large audience.

CHILDREN'S PARTY

Miss Mary Chester Guild, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Chester Guild, celebrated her tenth birthday on Thursday at her home on Sargent street.

About 25 of her little boy and girl friends were delightfully entertained with games under the direction of Miss Madge Flynn.

Refreshments were served in the dining room, which was very attractively decorated in yellow. On the table Marguerites were arranged and in the center was a large birthday cake, surrounded with yellow candles in yellow holders, and a Jack Horner pie. It was a most enjoyable affair and the little girls looked very pretty in their white dresses and bright ribbon bows.

CASTLE SQUARE THEATRE—American scenes, incidents and characters combine to make "The Revivification of Aunt Mary" one of the best of modern comedies. Its action takes place in a quiet New England town, and its plot involves the numerous trials and tribulations of Aunt Mary with her scapegrace nephew. Merriment and humor fill every scene of the play and as produced by John Craig at the Castle Square next week it will offer a series of performances that will draw multitudes who love to laugh at play and acting that is filled with comedy. Its cast will include the leading members of Mr. Craig's company, and as acted at the Castle Square it will be sure to have a spirited and artistic presentation.

WOMEN'S CLUBS

Miss GRACE M. BURT, Editor.

A leaflet entitled, "The Problem of Immigration in Massachusetts," giving a summary of the findings of the Massachusetts Immigration Commission, has recently been sent out of the clubs with the hope of creating an intelligent public opinion on the matter. The note struck by the report is in brief, this: "The welfare of State and immigrant are inseparably linked. The State must safeguard its own interests by promoting the welfare of the immigrant population."

The report further points out that after the immigrant has passed inspection he is regarded as needing no more assistance than cabin passengers. "The man who knows nothing of either language or the conditions of a country is absolutely at the mercy of exploiters." Many instances are given telling how immigrants have been exploited when first trying to find employment. "In view of such cases," the Commission recommends that the state free employment agencies be provided with interpreters and otherwise equipped to handle immigrant labor."

It also suggests that, since one-fourth of the immigrants who came to the state during 1911-1912 had been farm laborers, many of these men of the state and increase its productivity and prosperity. "Much of the uncultivated land in the eastern part of the state could produce grapes under the painstaking cultivation of the Italian as profitably as lands in the western part have produced tobacco and onions, when owned by Polish farmers."

The Commission sees many ways in which these immigrants might be safeguarded were there a permanent State Board of Immigration.

The need of more flexible courses in the evening schools, lectures in the various foreign languages to inform the immigrant about the labor laws, sanitary regulations, and other things that he needs to know as soon as he reaches the country, are duly indicated. Then in the training of children, "Proper emphasis should be given to the contribution that Russia, Italy, Austria and other countries have made to literature, art or political history of the United States:—while we educate the children along American lines, we must not destroy the traditions around which their whole family life is built."

"The complexity of the situation can be only dimly pictured by the ordinary citizen. The problems, which come with this complex population have never been paralleled in the world's history: they can not be properly solved without profound, continuous, and practical study of the needs of the new comers. Such study and services can be given only by a Board whose first interest is in this matter—a Board which is not overburdened, as are all our existing Boards, with other duties."

State Federation

On Wednesday and Thursday, May 21 and 22, the Massachusetts State Federation will hold its annual meeting at Worcester by invitation of the Worcester Woman's Club. The morning sessions will open at 10.30. On Wednesday afternoon Mr. Ernest Harold Baynes will give an illustrated lecture upon "Birds." In the evening the hostess club will tender a reception to the delegates. On Thursday morning will come the election of officers, which this year for the first time will be by Australian ballot, the polls being kept open during the most of the morning. The reports of officers and chairmen of departments will occupy a large portion of the sessions on both days.

The executive board of the Newton Federation will meet at the New Church parlors, Newtonville, on Monday morning, May 18, at 10.15.

Mrs. Henry E. Williams, former president of the Monday Club, entertained the members informally in her home at 7 Norman road, on Tuesday afternoon, May 12th, from 2 to 5, until five. Little Elizabeth Ball, niece of Mrs. Williams, carried a basket of tea roses, from which she presented one to each guest.

There was a large gathering, and among those present were eight of the club's twelve presidents, and about the club having been organized twenty-eight years ago. The original chorus of the club, which had not sung together for eight years, sang several numbers in a very professional manner. Miss Amanda Webster, Mrs. F. A. O'Connor, Mrs. D. W. Eagles and Mrs. Geo. G. Phipps gave personal reminiscences of the early years of the club.

One of the most entertaining features of the afternoon was the dancing by Miss Belle Keeler, who gave some aesthetic dances and also in company with Miss Bray gave a very graceful exhibition of the modern dances. Miss Keeler is a fine exponent of the Art. Refreshments were served and dancing was enjoyed by some of the club members.

Newton Ladies Home Circle

The last meeting of the season will be held on Thursday, May 21, in G. A. R. hall, Newtonville. A tea will be served and an entertainment given with a good share of literary and musical talent. The Circle has most enjoyable meetings and holds a most honorable place among Newton clubs.

LADIES' NIGHT

The seventh annual Ladies' Night of the Immanuel Associates, of the Immanuel Baptist Church, Newton, was held in the church parlors last week Thursday evening.

During the banquet Frank V. Russell presided at the piano and all present joined heartily in singing popular songs.

President D. Webster Anders acting as toastmaster introduced the following speakers: Frank Wallace Chase, the founder of the club; Rev. Harrie R. Chamberlin; Raymond B. Johnson and J. W. Blaisdell, leader of the class. Mr. Blaisdell after a few very interesting remarks introduced Mr. Vernon A. Field, of Chelsea who narrated many interesting experiences of a recent trip abroad. Mr. Field had an unlimited supply of stories and poems and kept his hearers in a continuous laughter.

N. H. S.

An original comedy entitled "Checkmate," by Wm. L. Prosser, will be presented by the Senior Class of the Newton High School under the auspices of the English Club this evening. After the performance there will be a social hour in the library with refreshments. There will also be dancing in the gymnasium. The proceeds will be used to pay for the New Encyclopedia Britannica which the school has just received.

The candy sale given by the Fine Arts Seniors of the Technical High School last Friday afternoon in the gym was a big success from every point of view. About sixty-five dollars was realized. This money will be used for purchasing books for the library. On May 22nd there will be another candy sale in the gymnasium under the direction of Miss Ruth Peirce and Miss Ruth Homer. The proceeds from this sale and dance will be used to purchase a beautiful picture painted by Mr. Daniels.

ARCHERY NOTES

Interest in archery seems to be on the increase in the vicinity of Boston, and several of the Country Clubs in the suburban districts are considering the question of adding archery to their list of sports. The Winchester Country Club has gone so far as to purchase bows, arrows and other archery tackle and has laid out a sixty yard range. Archery as a sport was formally introduced at the Winchester Country Club last Saturday by an invitation exhibition match given by six members of the Newton Archers. The archery range of the Winchester Country Club is located at the foot of a slope overlooking Mystic Lake and during the shooting, the slope was occupied by a large and enthusiastic gallery. In addition to the Newton Archers, who took part in this exhibition match, there were eight or ten girls who had formerly belonged to a summer camp and who had had some instruction in archery at the camp. So much interest was manifested in the match that archery will now have a prominent place on the program of sports offered by the Winchester Country Club. The Newton Archers who took part in the exhibition match were Mr. and Mrs. B. P. Gray, Mr. and Mrs. C. Smith, G. P. Bryant, and Wallace Bryant.

ston is arranging for June 4, 5 and 6, on the old Allston Golf grounds, promises to be one of the largest and most interesting events in which club women of this state have participated for some years.

Plans are being carried out upon a generous scale and the program as arranged, is one of much promise. There will be a wealth of unique features, such as the "Push cart bazaar," the effort of the Junior committee, under the direction of Mrs. Lillian M. Dennison; the "Better Baby" show, and the dancing waitresses in the cabaret shows. Mr. Carroll J. Swan and Mr. Ralph Willis Menard are arranging the program for the Saturday evening cabaret and their names are a guarantee of excellence. It is whispered that they are striving to outdo themselves on this occasion. Miss Mary Ashton of the Professional Women's club is to put on a show several times during the fair days and some of the young ladies in this group will lend their aid as "barkers" and even as clowns. The horse show on Friday afternoon will be in charge of Mrs. W. J. McDonald and the pet stock show, for which the already a long list of entries, will be in charge of Mrs. William H. Short, formerly of Newton.

The clubhouse on the grounds will be given over to a big bazaar under the direction of Mrs. William H. Elliott and the spacious piazzas will be transformed into a Japanese garden where afternoon tea will be served. The big dining tent nearby, will be open at all hours, and will offer table d'hôte dinners, chafing dish or box luncheons and a cafeteria.

The extensive midway will have many attractions as well as all those familiar at such events, while the two band concerts daily will still further add to the gaiety. Open air dancing and moving pictures may be enjoyed at all hours.

"Greater Boston School day" has been announced for Saturday, when every effort will be made to please the children and young folk. There will be a base-ball game in the afternoon between two rival "Prep" schools, a children's coaching parade in the horse ring for those between the ages of 3 and 12, and a special entertainment in the big tent for the little ones. Necessary tags for this day may be procured of Mrs. G. F. Salisbury, Allcott street, Allston.

Nunez; treasurer, Mrs. F. B. Jenkins; auditor, Mrs. F. Graves; press correspondent, Mrs. E. L. Horsfall; editors, Mrs. C. B. Faith, Mrs. C. W. Ryder, Mrs. Everett S. Jones, and Mrs. G. W. Robinson.

The Club and especially the president appreciates the untiring assistance rendered by the retiring treasurer, Mrs. Ella A. Sweet, and as a token of such, presented her with a basket of flowers upon the acceptance of her resignation. At one o'clock luncheon was served for about forty members and their guests. Mrs. Samuel L. Powers and Mrs. William J. Pollett were the guests of honor. The table was most tastefully decorated with sweet peas. Between courses conundrums were greatly enjoyed. Auction made the afternoon most pleasant and the floral prizes charmed their winners. This meeting closed this, the first season of the club successfully and pointed to an enjoyable winter to come.

TRAVEL CLASS

The Travel Class of the West Newton Women's Educational Club held its annual meeting on Thursday, May 7, at the residence of Mrs. Robert Gorton, West Newton.

Two papers which had not been given at the appointed time at previous meetings, were read by the writers, one on "The Native States, Hyderabad and the Court of an Indian Prince," by Mrs. Francis Nowers, was extremely interesting, as references were made to places renowned in literature.

British rule in India was reviewed in a well written paper by Mrs. Bernard Early, after which a business meeting was conducted by the leader of the class, Mrs. C. Edwin Quinn.

From a number of suggestions as to the country to be studied next year, a final vote gave the preference to Egypt, with papers supplementary, from time to time, on Mexico of today. The study for the past year was India, outlined by Mrs. C. Edwin Quinn, whose efficiency is greatly appreciated, and at the close of the meeting, was acknowledged by a vote of thanks from the entire class.

The leader for next year, Mrs. Bernard Early, was unanimously elected, after which the Class adjourned to meet again in October.

The usual social period followed.

ROGERS-HARWOOD

In all the beautiful and impressive distinctiveness of a church ceremonial, the wedding of Miss Gretchen Harwood and Mr. William Prescott Rogers, was solemnized Saturday afternoon in Grace Episcopal Church.

The bride, who was a very popular member of the younger society set of Newton, is the only daughter of Mr.
and Mrs. Sydney Harwood of Waverley avenue, and the bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Edwin A. Rogers, of Boston, formerly of Newton.

The decorations at the church were worthy of more than ordinary note.
In front of the altar was a large screen festooned with southern smilax, with a cross on top and masses of white lilies, lilies and pink snap-dragons were arranged with a very beautiful decorative effect.

As the wedding party approached the altar, Mendelssohn's "Wedding March" was finely rendered by the organist. The bride was given in marriage by her father, and the ceremony was performed at 4 o'clock by Rev.
Laurens MacLure, D. D., rector of Grace Church.

The natural attractiveness of the bride, who is a charming young lady of the brunette type, was greatly enhanced by an exquisite wedding gown of ivory white satin trimmed with real old family lace, and white tulle. She wore a bridal veil of old point lace, with Castle cap fastened with a spray of orange blossoms, and carried a magnificent shower bouquet of white orchids and lilies of the valley. She also wore a necklace of seed pearls, the gift of the bridegroom.

The maid of honor was Miss Mildred Rogers of Boston, who was attractively attired in robin's egg blue tulle coatee and panieres, with white lace skirt and picture hat to match, and carried a bouquet of sweet peas.

The bridesmaids, Miss Evelyn Converse of Newton, and Miss Eleanor Phillips of Brookline, were effectively gowned in pink tulle coatees and panieres, white lace skirts, wearing picture hats of pink chiffon, and carrying bouquets of pink sweet peas.

The best man was Mr. Bartlett Harwood of Newton, brother of the bride, and the ushers were Messrs. Herbert W. Kelley of Winchester, Tyler Clark and Bradley Coley of New York, cousins of the bride, Paul Going, Arthur Sweetser, Gardner Chase of Cambridge, and Edward Loring and W.
Preston Rice of Boston.

The reception of brilliant reception was held immediately after the ceremony at the Harwood residence on Waverley avenue, which was artistically and most elaborately decorated for the occasion by Carbone, with pink Tausendeschon rambler roses, lilies, and hydrangeas, the decorative scheme being pink and green.

The reception room was the spacious drawing-room, and the receiving-party stood before a large mantel banked with Carolina huckleberry and southern smilax, which made a fitting background for the clusters of pink rambler roses.

The staircase was entwined with greenery and pink rambler, and on the landings were hydrangeas, and the roses were festooned about the entrance of the music room, where a 7-piece orchestra from the Boston Opera Company played delightfully during the reception.

Decorations of white and gold marked the festive occasion in the dining-room, where masses of lilies were arranged on mantel and buffet.
On the bridal table, around which was placed golden chairs, a beautiful centre-piece of Spanish Iris.

Mr. and Mrs. Rogers were assisted in receiving by their parents. Mrs.
Sydney Harwood was very beautif-fully gowned in changeable apricot taffeta with lace trimmings, and Mrs.
Rogers wore a handsome gown of blue changeable tulle.

Refreshments were served in two large tents on the lawn.
The wedding gifts were numerous and costly, one of the guest chambers being entirely filled with an assortment including gold, silver, cut glass, clocks of rare design, paintings, rugs,
hand-painted china and mirrors.

Guests of social prominence, numbering about one thousand, were present from New York, Fall River, Boston, Brookline, Lowell and the Newtons.

On their return from a wedding-trip
Mr. and Mrs. Rogers will reside at 431 Rock street, Fall River and will be at home after June 1st.

A TEXAS VISIT

the rubber neck wagon and by an automobile ride, the last being the far more satisfactory as we could go where we pleased. The levee was interesting, the palm decorated avenues were pleasing and novel, the architecture was certainly unusual, especially in the older portion of the town but the cemeteries were by far the most unique. On account of the fact that the city is below the level of the river, it is impossible to bury the dead in the earth, and so the interments are all above ground, and lead to all manner and kinds of tombs.

The Mississippi River was a great disappointment to me, as I fully expected to see a wide expanse of water.
Instead I found a river about as wide as the Hudson at New York City, and it really seemed as if the Charles near Harvard bridge was its equal.
I was told that the Mississippi made up in depth for its apparent deficiency in width and that it was from 300 to 500 feet deep in the channel. The streets of New Orleans are not creditable to any American city, most of them being paved with large flat stones over a foot square and but little care being taken in laying them so that the surface is very uneven. The gutters are any old depth and one could easily break a leg if care was not taken in negotiating the corners of some places.

I took a trip by automobile thru the segregated vice district and it was an experience never to be forgotten. I did not believe such scenes could be possible and certainly they ought not to be.

That night we took the sleeper to Houston, the most interesting portion of the trip was the transit of the Mississippi about ten miles above New Orleans. This is done on a large railroad barge escorted by two tugs. The train was broken in two and the sections placed side by side on the barge and the trip was made in about an hour.

We reached Houston early Thursday morning and made headquarters at the Rice Hotel, said to be the finest hotel in the South. It certainly loomed up high enough with its 18 stories and a roof garden. With another convention being held in the same hotel, there was naturally some difficulty in getting rooms settled and our own convention, in order, but after an hour's delay we managed to get down to our program.

More than a passing word should be said of the Grove Park Inn, the principal hotel of the city.

The Inn is 430 feet long and 80 feet wide and six stories high. Its architect and builder claim it to be the most costly resort hotel in the world. The costliness, however, is not the distinguishing feature, but the strikingly unique way or manner in which it is built.
The walls of the structure are of granite quarried from the mountain side, all laid in cement, while the outer face of the walls is covered with rough boulders picked up from the mountain side with no mark of trowel or hammer to change their appearance.
This produces a wonderfully rugged, but picturesquely beautiful effect. The men worked under instructions that when the Inn was finished not a piece of stone should be visible to the eye except it show the time-eaten face given to it by the thousands of years of sun and rain that had beaten upon it as it had lain on the mountain-side.
These great boulders were laid with the lichens and moss on them just as they were found.

The "Big Room", as they are pleased to call the lobby, is 80 by 120 feet.
There are six great supporting posts, which, together with the ceiling and supporting cross beams, were cast en bloc. The two great fireplaces in it burn twelve-foot logs, and each required 120 tons of boulders to build.

This great room is built up of the most unique collection of native boulders, flint and mica, and at night is illuminated by indirect lights which are reflected against the ceiling.

There are living forest trees eight-teen and twenty years old, standing over twenty feet high, growing in this room, in tubs hewn by hand from huge black walnut logs. "Backlogs" for the fireplaces are two feet in diameter and it takes ten men to place one on the andirons.

POLICE NEWS

Two automobile cases involving fatal accidents came up in the Police Court Saturday. The first was that of 16-year-old Louis B. McCarthy of West Roxbury, who was held for the Grand Jury in $2000 for the death of Timothy Cummings of South Boston. The boy's machine struck Cummings on Washington street, in front of the Newton Hospital, causing injuries from which the victim died four days later.

The case of Clarence M. Linn, chauffeur for Herbert M. Sears of Boston, and Prides Crossing, charged with responsibility for the death of John Zackofski of Needham street, Newton
Upper Falls, was taken under advisement.
Linn pleaded not guilty, and Judge Kennedy will announce his decision next Saturday.

Fasquelle Atonelli of Dedham street, Oak Hill, was arrested Sunday afternoon, charged with drunkenness and suffering from a severe cut on the head, received in an argument with another Italian. When taken to headquarters, his wound was in such shape that he was sent to the Newton Hospital, where he remained all night.
His case was placed on file and a warrant sworn out by him for the arrest of his assailant.

STEREOPTICON LECTURE ON ALCOHOL

A very instructive lecture-reading on "Alcohol" with 70 stereopticon slides, as prepared by the Scientific Temperance Federation of Boston, will be given by Rev. Robert Vankirk at the Lincoln Park Baptist Church, West
Newton, Sunday May 17, at 7.30 P. M.
This is a rare opportunity to acquire in a short space of time the information which is the result of many experiments, by scientific investigators abroad and in this country. If you place facts above theories, attend this lecture.

ANNUAL MEETING

Hospital Aid Association and Social Service League Elect Officers and Hear Reports

The annual meeting of the Hospital Aid Association and Social Service League of the Newton Hospital was held at the New Church, Newtonville, on Tuesday morning.

The most important report received was that from Miss Ethel Howland on the result of the May Breakfast just held in this city. Miss Howland's report was as follows:

The All-Newton May Breakfast for 1914 is now a thing of the past and we are receiving only congratulations upon its account, in sharp contrast to the storm of verbal brickbats that hailed about our ears only a twelvemonth ago. Now that we have learned what to expect from the general public, we have given proof that we are competent to manage a successful May Breakfast, but we could wish that on their side that same General Public had shown a little more confidence in our ability to learn by experience. Several hundred of them looked askance at our tickets and could not be coaxed into giving us a second chance. But we are mean enough to hope that they have been made sorry by this time after hearing from all sides what a fine breakfast they missed. Did not the ex-Mayor of Newton and a prominent member of "The Players" refuse to be pried out of their seats at one of our so-called "business tables," that A. M., because they were very evidently enjoying themselves to the utmost? When it was politely suggested that they had "held down" those chairs long enough, did they not tip the waitress, or order a second dish of strawberries, or that they might not have to leave? And, as their particular case did not come under the "monopoly-in-restraint-of-trade" law, we could not dissolve their partnership, and yet it was certainly a flagrant case of "capital, against labor."

In every breakfast-giving section of the City the reports have been most enthusiastic. Everywhere the breakfasting-public was well and promptly served, and the food appetizingly prepared. Last year there seemed to be considerable grumbling and such remarks as the following were frequent: "By the time I got my cream (if you call it cream) my coffee was stone cold and my egg had congealed on my plate, while I had to eat my roll butterless because the waitress in charge of the butter-plate couldn't be found!" Well, we acted upon every little hint of that kind, with the result that this second Saturday morning in May developed only such remarks as the following: "All the way down the hill I've been hearing what a success your breakfast is this year!"

And so we feel, that although our financial returns are not as large as the total sum for 1913 (in spite of the fact that the Herald reporter tried to make us think they were, by a very easy list of figures printed the next morning) we have in reality given a much more satisfactory breakfast this year, and one that assures us a future success whenever we care to strike the 7 A. M. gong a third time.

Our six chairmen, I think, felt disappointed that their reserve forces were not called into more violent action. Each one of them has since assured me that their particular Newton felt content it could have taken care of many more people than they were asked to serve.

The usual number of mistakes in filling our supply orders were made, and, unfortunately they all seemed directed against poor unsuspecting Newton Highlands this time, but its guests of the morning noticed no apparent hitch in the arrangements, thanks to the efficiency of the Committee that had to handle the rather overwhelmingly problems of no milk, no cream, and no butter on hand when the hour of seven approached. But I am not going to tell you how they procured a sufficient supply at such an unearthly shopping hour, because I know you are waiting patiently to hear the totals of this year's figures. West Newton again heads the list with the sum of $440.75. It fed fewer people than Newtonville or Newton in all probability, but the large returns brought in by the Soliciting Committee ($247.37 in all) sent its total soaring way above theirs. I would like to mention that the Catholic Church furnished $40.00 of this sum and that they seemed glad to be asked to cooperate with us in every way. An innovation for West Newton this year was the selling of cigars and cigarettes to the gentlemen as they left the hall. It netted $5.25.

Newton stands second on the Breakfast list with a total of $351.41. Her flower table holds the honors against all comers by the rather unusual amount of $71.72. Plants as well as cut flowers helped to swell this sum. Newton reports that the gas-cooking apparatus installed by the courtesy of the Newton & Watertown Gas Light Co. was very satisfactory and that thanks to its assistance they could accomplish the entire process of mixing and scrambling eggs in exactly seven minutes.

Newtonville wins third place on our list with a credit of $290.00. It has also walked off with the ribbon in the Candy Table contest, clearing $53.82. They not only sold cigarettes, but morning papers (at exorbitant prices, by the way) and packages of chewing gum.

Auburndale, the latest recruit on our breakfast force, has scrambled up to fourth place in line. This is all the more remarkable as many of her committee were serving at the Methodist Church Breakfast in that Ward the previous Saturday morning. Last year, for that very reason, it was not supposed possible that a second breakfast could be given in Auburndale. But Auburndale has sent us $255.00! That is $159.25 better than the sum realized on the Card Party of last year, proving conclusively that the Breakfast idea is more popular and more practical than the more restricted form of entertainment.

And next comes Newton Centre with the sum of $216.86. The Junior membership of this section shouldered the entire responsibility of the Breakfast unaided, and took hold with such a will that they reduced the expenses almost to the vanishing point by doing the work of dish-washing and scrubbing themselves.

Newton Highlands not only reports a more smoothly running breakfast than last year, but it has bettered last year's figures by several tens of dollars with a credited total of $173.83. Ten of the guests at their breakfast came over from Newton Upper Falls. In so far as I have been able to learn, this is the only way in which Newton Upper Falls has assisted the Breakfast fun for 1914. We miss their contribution of last year.

SECOND DEFEAT

Newton Loses To Somerville In An 11 Inning Game

The Newton High school ball nine received its second defeat of the season on Monday afternoon, when Somerville won by a score of 11 to 8, the game going to 11 innings. About everything possible in base ball took place in the fifth inning when Somerville scored six of their runs. Downing reached first when Wansker dropped a fly, took second on a passed ball and scored on a single through short. Ford was given a free ticket to first, and advanced on H. Robertson's out. Hyde came through with a single, scoring St. Angelo and Ford scored when Newell made a wild heave to third. J. Robertson was passed and Newell made a short throw to second, coaxing Hyde home. When he started, Bryson threw the ball several feet over Newell's head and Bianchi also came home from second on Rice's wild throw over King's head.

In the seventh, with three on the bases, Newell singled, scoring King and Bryson. Harris then hit to short, scoring Vachon and Newell. Newton tied up the score in the eighth, when successive errors by Downing, followed by a bunt by Newell, a sacrifice fly to right and a wild heave sent two runs over.

Newton had men on the bases in the ninth and 10th, but could not produce the necessary hit. In the last inning Somerville got three hits and three, assisted by two errors, wild pitch and a passed ball, put the game on ice with four runs.

DUNKLEE—WESTLAKE

The wedding of Miss Adelaine Augusta Westlake, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Isaac C. Westlake, and Mr. Lester Alvah Dunklee of Milford, N. H., took place Tuesday evening at the home of the bride on Carleton street, Newton, which was beautifully decorated with garlands of apple blossoms and evergreen for the occasion. The ceremony, which took place at eight o'clock, was performed by Rev. H. Grant Person, pastor of Eliot Church. The bride wore white satin and old point lace, a veil of white tulle, trimmed with orange blossoms and caught with a bar pin of pearls, the gift of the groom. She also carried a shower bouquet of bridal roses and sweet peas. Miss Gertrude M. Westlake, sister of the bride, was maid of honor and wore white crepe de chine trimmed with pink rosettes and carried a bouquet of pink roses.

Mr. Elmer R. Dunklee of Lynn, brother of the groom, was the best man.

Mr. and Mrs. Dunklee went to Boothbay Harbor, Maine, on their wedding trip, and on their return will reside at 5 Forest terrace, Lexington, where they will be at home after June 15th.

THE POPS

Mr. Andre Maquarre who is one of the best-liked conductors to appear in Symphony Hall during the season of Pops will take charge of the orchestra Monday night, May 25th, and will continue as conductor of the Pops for three weeks. The feature of the fourth week of the season will be the annual "Harvard Night", Tuesday, May 26th. This night always brings out the largest crowd of the year and the Harvard Glee Club will be in attendance as in the past to sing during the intermissions. Friday night, May 29th, Mr. Maquarre will give a program partly devoted to Wagner.

EXCELLENT WORK

Being Done At West Newton Neighborhood House

Nearly 100 boys and girls are now enrolled in the various clubs and classes connected with the Neighborhood House, 89 Elm street, West Newton.

All activities are in charge of Mrs. Elizabeth D. Moulton, a trained social worker.

Three clubs for boys have been organized, the Elmwood Club, the Webster Athletic Club, and the Middlesex Athletic Club.

The Elmwood Club has a membership of 16, with a long waiting list. The boys are from 16 to 20 years of age and are all in school or at work with the exception of one, who is unable to work.

Because of the great need of a place for the boys to spend their evenings a friend has given them the use of two large rooms in a nearby building. Other generous friends have helped them to furnish one as a club room and the other as a simple gymnasium.

These rooms are open every evening and Saturday and Sunday afternoons. Mrs. Moulton or a responsible volunteer leader is always in charge. Four men now give each one evening a week to the club, and there is need of more help of this kind. The Webster Athletic Club has a membership of 17 boys from 13 to 15 years old. This club meets one evening a week at the Neighborhood House.

The Middlesex Athletic Club has a membership of 7 boys from 11 to 13 years of age, and they also meet weekly at the House.

A group of younger boys are now in training for club organization.

Each club has its own president and officers elected by ballot, and its business meetings, which occur regularly every month are conducted according to parliamentary rules. Ten Camp Fire Girls from 16 to 20 years old are doing excellent work under a volunteer leader.

Clubs for younger girls are under consideration. The Neighborhood House believes strongly in the club idea. A club calls for team spirit which develops naturally into self-government.

Classes in cobbling, cane seating, cooking, millinery, gymnastics, sewing, dancing and dramatics are held regularly at the House.

Arrangements have been made for garden work through the summer. Good character is developed through activities that stimulate interest. This is the aim of our Neighborhood work. Will you help it. One dollar sent to Florence C. Thomas, treasurer, 240 Mt. Vernon street, West Newton, will give you a share in a movement which is already influencing for good, over ninety boys and girls in this village.

A SECOND HOLDUP

Another holdup was reported late Tuesday night by Miss Alice McDonald, a domestic in the employ of Mrs. Charles E. Billings, 285 Franklin street, Newton, who was robbed of her handbag containing 85 cents, while walking along Billings park, going in the direction of her home. The police were unable to get a good description of the robber.

Miss McDonald saw the man approaching, but paid no attention to him. When abreast of her he snatched her handbag and ran. Her cries awakened several people in the neighborhood, and also attracted the attention of patrolman S. Z. Burke, who was a short distance away. A detail of officers arrived in the police patrol wagon shortly afterward, and although they scoured the neighborhood no trace of the thief could be found.

MUST GRANT ONE PERMIT

Supreme Court Gives Opinion On Liquor Transportation Case

One or more permits must be given to an expressman or express company to transport intoxicating liquors into no-license municipalities, under a decision of the full bench of the Supreme Court Tuesday, in the mandamus proceeding brought by Arthur L. Rea & Co., against the Aldermen of Everett to compel them to grant him a permit to transport liquors into the city. A writ of mandamus was ordered issued against the Aldermen.

The court decides that the word "shall" employed in the Statute of 1906, Chapter 421, Section 2, is mandatory, and not discretionary, and officials in every no-license city or town must grant one or more permits.

The Aldermen of Everett voted to grant no permits at all to expressmen or companies to bring liquor into the city and Rea & Co., contended that under the law the authorities could not take that arbitrary position, but were obliged to issue at least one permit.

The Aldermen assumed the attitude that it was within their discretion to issue permits, and they need not issue any, contending that the word shall might be construed as permissive. The court, however, says it must be construed as mandatory, so at least one permit must be granted to some expressman or express company in the city.

Chief Justice Rugg wrote the opinion for the court. It is held that it is manifest that the Legislature had not intended since the repeal of the early Prohibition law and the adoption of the policy of local option for regulating intoxicating liquors as falls short of drunkenness.

The object of the liquor law has been to control only the sale and transportation of intoxicants, not their consumption, and there has been no statute to prohibit the carrying of intoxicating liquors into no-license communities. Legislative efforts have been confined, says the court, to a regulation of such transportation, to the end that illegal sales or keeping may be prevented.

The court further points out that the history of the statutes touching the transportation of intoxicating liquors does not disclose a Legislative purpose to confer upon the officers of no-license communities discretionary powers to prohibit such transportation for hire by common carriers other than railroad and street railway companies, but rather to require the issuance of at least one permit for such transportation, provided a reasonably proper person may be found conducting a general express business.

"If the public welfare requires a further regulation or restriction of such transportation," says the court, "it is a matter for the Legislature and not for the judicial department of government."

NORUMBEGA OPENS TOMORROW

Saturday May 23rd, marks the opening day of this famous recreation spot on the banks of the Charles River, for the eighteenth season of continued success. More beautiful than ever, hardly expresses the result of the weeks of preparation; as the landscape gardening effects are in the height of their spring glory. In the big steel covered open air theatre, an excellent vaudeville bill has been arranged for the afternoon and evening performance on Saturday. Sunday evening inaugurates the first of the Sunday concerts, which proved so popular last season, and the management promises a very fine program. For the coming week a strong bill of vaudeville will be the theatrical attraction.

Sweeney said that two men on the trolley car on which he was riding misinformed him when the car reached Tremont and Park streets, Newton, telling him it was Newton Corner.

They left the car with him and almost immediately hit him over the head and robbed him. While on the car he had refused their request for carfare to Jamaica Plain.

EDITORIAL

Alderman Bartlett's position that the board of aldermen must grant at least one permit for the transportation of intoxicating liquors in this city is endorsed by the opinion of the Supreme Court, announced this week. The action of the court will reopen the entire question for every expressman in Newton will demand that he receive the one license which the board must grant. If such permit is granted to some person doing only a small business in a remote section of the city, and that expressman refuses to deliver liquors outside of his immediate territory, a question will at once arise as to liability of that expressman as a common carrier and the rights of the residents of Newton to be served under such permit. Altogether the liquor transportation problem is in an interesting situation and possibly it might be well for the aldermen to give considerable heed to the opinion of Alderman Bartlett on the matter.

The passage of an order by the aldermen authorizing the city treasurer to return $15,000 in bonds to the estate of the late Frank A. Day calls attention to the splendid work done by Mrs. Day in establishing and maintaining the Nonantum Independent Industrial School for a period of five years, at a cost of approximately $25,000. The bonds in question were deposited by Mr. Day as security for the cost of the maintenance of the school, which the city paid in the first instance. The school is now incorporated in the Vocational High School, but Mr. Day was its father and benefactor.

A movement is now underway, it is understood, to open Clafin Field to the use of the entire community, instead of keeping it as the exclusive province of the High School and its Athletic committee. As this field was given to the city by popular subscriptions, there has always been a question as to the rights of any set of persons to control its use or to charge admission to any sports held on the field.

Newton Business Men are planning another big program for the observance of Fourth of July.

KATZENJAMMER KIDS ARE BACK

"Oh, joy of all joys!"
They're coming back.
Who?
The Katzenjammers!
You'll see them in next Sunday's Boston AMERICAN—right where they ought to be—in the Comic Supplement. Believe us, "dope boys" will be right on the job next Sunday and for unnumbered Sundays to come, piling up trouble on der Captain's bald head, ever scheming new plots for his discomfort and not at all awed by the rebuff that's sure to come in attack on der woodshed or wherever der Captain happens to nab them.

"Oh, joy of all joys!"
Yes, the Katzenjammers are with us. So order your Boston Sunday AMERICAN right now from your newsdealer. Better do it now, or you will regret it when the paper man tells you he's "sold out" of Sunday AMERICANS.

So order next Sunday's AMERICAN right NOW!

THE PAPER CHASE

A second performance of "The Paper Chase," by the Immanuel Associates was given last Thursday evening at the Y. M. C. A. Hall.

The play was in three acts and the characters were admirably portrayed by the following cast: Messrs. George Burnham, Walter R. Paine, William H. Cady, Beverly G. Secord, Edgar E. Libby, William D. Ward, and the Misses Dorothy Wellington, Louise MacCallum, Florence E. Hartop and Nettie M. Dolbier.

There was a large and enthusiastic audience and the play was under the able direction of Dr. Leslie H. Naylor. The proceeds are for the benefit of the Y. M. C. A. baseball team.

At the Porto Rico Panama Hat Shop, Boylston street, cor. Berkeley street, Boston, Mrs. Pratt is showing a quantity of panama hats for men, women and children at reductions that are unusual on such fine goods. Those wishing to take advantage of the opportunity would better do so at once as Mrs. Pratt is to be here but about two weeks longer, returning shortly to Porto Rico.

What Do You Require of a Newspaper

Do you expect, first of all, reliability in its news columns, not confined simply to special fields, but accurate reports of all the world's happenings, that healthy free-minded people are interested in?

Do you also expect to find its editorials authoritative and intelligently written, candid and independent?

Finally, do you in addition, desire these essentials of a first class newspaper supplemented by able illustrated articles on every subject worth while?

If you do, then your choice must be The Boston Evening Transcript, for it covers thoroughly just these things, and maintains today, as it has for 80 years, its position as New England's Greatest Daily.

The National Editorial convention at Houston was somewhat disappointing to me as I had anticipated receiving some valuable information in regard to circulation methods. There were few papers on this subject and those that were read were not given by their authors, so that there was no opportunity to bring out additional facts by questions.

There is but little of general interest in an editorial convention, the matters discussed are of considerable moment to persons in the business but do not appeal to the general reader.

The people of Houston certainly did all in their power to make us feel at home and to offset, as much as possible the effects of the weather. It rained when we had the opportunity to go about and was pleasant while the convention program was being considered. The Houston Press Club held open house all during our stay and served a light lunch each noon with the ladies and young ladies of the city as most charming hostesses. These ladies made everyone feel at home, introduced themselves and others, so that one felt quite at ease all the time.

Souvenirs of the city were given each person and cards to all the clubs in Houston.

Thursday night the Houston Press Club provided an entertainment followed by dancing. Friday night a masked ball was given by one of the prominent social organizations in the city, at which the costumes were quite elaborate. An entertainment was furnished between dances and a prize of four dainties for the best buck and wing dancing. As these fellows danced, money was thrown them by the spectators and their attempts to pick it up and still dance were laughable. The last one did some difficult dancing steps and "floor" work with a bucket of water on his head, and naturally was given the first prize. A new feature to me in dances was the naming of each dance after some person and who the dance was named after. The name of that person was called and he or she was given the honor of naming the dance which was to be given.

Saturday night the Chamber of Commerce gave us an elaborate banquet at the Rice Hotel and for a formal affair, was quite a success. Joe Mitchell Chappelle of the National Magazine of Boston was one of the speakers. Sunday we were given a trolley express ride to Galveston, about 50 miles distant, and on arrival were taken down the harbor on a delightful and most interesting boat ride to the battleship Connecticut which had just arrived from Vera Cruz with a large number of refugees from Mexico aboard. There were also other naval vessels and transports full of refugees, about 2500 arriving that day and being held in quarantine.

On reaching the wharf we took trolley cars and were given a ride about the city and shown the interesting places and told of its flood history. The new sea wall seemed strong enough to protect most of the city, if another inundation ever took place. The seashore has some excellent surf bathing and is surrounded with the usual beach casinos, restaurants, merry go rounds and dance halls. The Galvez, the new hotel, is in this vicinity and has a beautiful setting of lawn and shrubs.

The coconut palm, and sage palm, the date palm and palmetto trees are numerous and add greatly to the appearance of the streets and grounds. On the way over we were shown fig trees, strawberry plants in fruit and orange trees with ripe fruit upon them. The land is very low and flat and reminds one of the Lynn marshes, although immensely larger.

The causeway from the land to Galveston was a splendid piece of work, two miles in length and cost two millions. We were given an opportunity to see how its lift operated when vessels passed thru it.

Monday we were the guests at Sugarland, a sugar refinery about 25 miles out of Houston. We had special cars, a band, and would have had an interesting time if the rain had ceased. As it was the rain came down in sheets and spoiled every feature of the entertainment planned for us except the barbecue. This feature did not appeal to most of us as the meat was served without forks or salt and it being accustomed to eating with the fingers, the ladies especially, were more or less disgusted. After the barbecue was over, there was speaking and dancing until announcement was made that the train would return earlier on account of the rain. I saw at this place a genuine Texas cowboy and we had an interesting conversation with him for some time.

The lowness of the country was considerably manifested on the return by the standing water in the streets and country. Even in the paved streets of Houston, considerable water was found standing and the unpaved streets were beds of mud.

Houston appeared to be a most enterprising city with well paved streets, substantial business buildings and a general air of prosperity. The city is making a strong effort to prevent accidents and a Safety Committee carries large advertisements in the local papers urging "Safety First." In this connection "jay walking" is prohibited and police officers are constantly directing people to cross the streets at right angles and at street intersections. "Jay walking" might be prohibited in this vicinity with good results in my opinion.

The Tax Commissioner of Houston,

Mr. J. J. Pastoriza, has more than a local reputation for original ideas regarding taxation. Houston does not tax personal property nor improvements on real estate at their full value. Automobiles, for instance, are taxed at 60 per cent of the value the first year, 40 per cent the second year, and 20 per cent the third, and are considered valueless after the third year. Building improvements are taxed at about 25 per cent, of their full value and exemptions are authorized on new manufacturing plants in order to induce them to come to the city.

The Tax Commissioner's office is opened to the public for only two or three hours each day, the Commissioner saving the time for important office work.

The City Hall has a public market on the first floor, the city offices being in the upper part of the building. The Ship Channel is Houston's greatest commercial asset. It has given Houston the water route, while traffic over its waters amount to over $55,000,000 annually. Houston is a port of entry and a customs house is maintained. The improvement of the Channel to a depth of 25 feet has just been made under an appropriation of $2,500,000.

Houston is the railroad center of the Southwest, 17 railroads entering the city and making their terminus. Over 100 passenger trains operate in and out of Houston daily. Houston is the largest railroad center and deep water port combined in the South.

Houston is the financial center of the Southwest, with more banking capital, greater clearings and greater deposits than any city in Texas. Deposits subject to check average $45,000,000, while bank clearings are the second largest in the South. Several costly and modern buildings house Houston financial institutions.

Houston is the largest inland port cotton market in the world, handling nearly 3,000,000 bales annually, or the bulk of the crop of Texas and Oklahoma. Houston has greater concentration facilities than any city in Texas, with a compressing capacity of 3,000,000 bales per year. The greatest item of commerce over the Houston Ship is cotton, and the Channel alone saves over $6,000,000 annually to the cotton producers of Texas, as it reduces for a haul of 50 miles the railroad rate of 21 cents per hundred to six cents.

Houston is the oil center of Texas, 23 oil corporations with a combined capital of $70,000,000 being domiciled in Houston.

Houston is the lumber center of the Southwest, 89 corporations with a combined capital of $40,000,000 being domiciled in Houston. Annual business amounts to $37,000,000. The cut is confined almost entirely to a long leaf yellow pine, great forests of which are located within a few miles of Houston. Houston is the industrial and manufacturing center of Texas, with 347 manufacturing institutions, turning out 282 different articles and employing 10,000 factory workers. The annual industrial payroll of Houston is in excess of $10,000,000.

Houston is the sugar and rice center of Texas, being the center of the producing region for both commodities.

Houston has 40 tall buildings of six stories and over, ranging up to 18 stories, which is more skyscrapers of six stories and over than possessed by any other city of equal population in the world.

Houston has greater modern hotel facilities than any city in the South, having 200 more first-class hotel rooms than New Orleans, the nearest competitor. The Rice Hotel, of 18 stories, containing 600 guest rooms and costing $3,500,000, is the largest and costliest hotel in the South.

The Municipal government in Houston is by commission form. Taxable values are $110,000,000, the greatest of any city in Texas, and the taxable valuation of Harris County, of which Houston is the county seat, is $128,500,000, the greatest of any county in Texas.

Better Toll Rates

New telephone toll regulations provide that unless you talk to the person asked for there will be NO CHARGE FOR THE TOLL CALL.

Formerly a reduced rate was charged when the number called was reached, even though the person asked for was absent or not ready to talk.

Why not make a call now to some one who would like to hear from you to-day? No talk—no charge.

Wouldn't it be worth the price?

If you don't know the rate, ask the Toll Operator. No charge for a call for rates. If you want the Toll Operator to report to you the actual cost of a completed call, please notify her when you give the order for the call.

A toll call is more satisfactory than a letter or a telegram, and in some instances is more economical, because you get the message and the answer for one price.

SONG RECITAL

An enthusiastically, warm audience greeted Mrs. Edith Walcott Ross at her song recital.

Mrs. Ross has been singing in public at many of the different society functions throughout all of the Newtons for the past year or two, and in every instance with much success. On Tuesday evening, however, she aspired and attained greater heights than come to the opportunity of most singers, however successful they may be as performers. She was assisted by Walter E. Loud, violinist, and the accompanist was Florence P. Stoddard. The list of patronesses was a large one and the audience represented largely all of the music lovers of Newton.

The program was, to use a much abused word, exceedingly comprehensive. Comprehensive because it included such compositions as the "Requiem" and "Aria" from Mozart's "Marriage of Figaro", written, many years ago, and a group of English songs, or rather songs in English, some of which are absolutely new.

Mrs. Ross possesses a beautiful voice, and she has trained it most studiously by following the right traditions, and the result is, in her work, a voice of authority of the trained musician, and the recital was meritorious from all points of view, while the audience freely showed its appreciation and enjoyment by its hearty applause. Not a small measure of the success of her singing was due to her interesting personality. Pretty, graceful and charmingly groomed, (of course a mere woman would not be asked to describe the gown) she was good to look upon. She was faithful to artistic principles, and to those who understand the vocal art, her work was highly appreciated.

Best of all, and this was especially noted in the English songs, she has a fine degree of enunciation. In the Debussy "Mondoline" as Mrs. Ross sang it, one could fairly imagine the "Gay gallants and fair dames murmuring 'neath sighing branches" for this is what the song was about, although in French. Of course, as all people with musical tendencies know, Debussy is like tangosim hard to acquire, but when you have acquired it, you just simply love it. In the Strauss "Ständchen" she reached a true climax and gave a truly musical interpretation to the song. And where "The roses were wakened" by the morning's delight" one felt as though they could not blame the roses.

Considering the whole gamut of musical expression, it would be hard to say where Mrs. Ross excelled, whether in the dainty "L'heure Exquise" by Hahn, in the fantastic "Spring Morning" by Nevin, the group of modern songs in English, or in the familiar "Sing Smile Slumber" with violin obligato by Gounod. Sufficient to say that her singing was artistic, and true to pitch, with unusual evenness of technique, and a good degree of brilliancy.

Mr. Loud, the assisting soloist, played a most satisfactory violin. With the exception of his first number, "Rhapsodie Hongroise" by Hauser, all of his numbers were familiar. Especially the vorak "Humoresque", the "Meditation" from "Cello" and the "En Sordine" by Tellema. Mr. Loud fairly revels with artistic imagination and temperament and it is in the lighter, daintier things that he excels. In his obligato work he was obligingly unobtrusive, working truly with the soloist.

Y. M. C. A.

At a meeting of the Board of Trustees of the Newton Y. M. C. A. last Monday evening James E. Clark was elected Chairman to take the place of the late Frank A. Day. Loren D. Towle was chosen Vice-Chairman. Mr. William T. Rich remains as Treasurer and Allan C. Emery as Clerk. Other members of the Board are as follows: Hiram E. Barker, G. Fred Harwood, Francis Murdoch, Charles E. Riley and Herbert A. Wilder.

The Woman's Auxiliary to the Newton Y. M. C. A. will hold its annual meeting and Gentlemen's Night at the Association Wednesday, May 27th, at 7:45. After the reports of the year's work are read there will be a musical program in charge of Miss Grace Manning and Miss Eleanor Eddy. All members and their friends are urged to be present.

The Association has many calls to place men in all kinds of occupations and citizens are requested to notify the Association whenever there is an opportunity to provide work. Telephone North 592.

The Y. M. C. A. base ball team will play the Catholic Club on Saturday May 23, at three P. M., on the Clafin Field. This is the first game between the Newton District Teams and is looked upon with much interest for both teams are evenly matched.

Y. M. C. A. will send either Allen or "Peg" Wood into the box and with Ashworth at the receiving end, they expect to come out with the big end of the game.

DIES SUDDENLY

Mr. Charles Killian, aged 47, a mail carrier in Newton Centre for the past five years, died suddenly of heart trouble Tuesday evening at his home on Knowles street. After finishing his regular work he had just finished cutting down a small tree on his lawn when he collapsed, and died almost instantly.

He was a native of Roxbury and had worked in that section from September 14, 1895, when he was appointed to the service, until he came to Newton Centre. He leaves his wife.

MEMORIAL DAY

"Tramp, tramp, tramp, the boys are marching" but it is the quiet march of peace, which leads on into the shadows, from which many footfalls fail to echo. The Grand Army of the Republic is now but a "thin, blue line," and their younger brothers, the United States War Veterans, already have many gaps in their ranks.

With each passing year the meaning of Memorial Day sinks into our consciousness with deeper impress, and the fields of fluttering flags, gleaming in the bright sunlight of spring, remind us that the past still has a claim upon our attention and our affection.

In the fairest portion of the year, the nation pauses to render homage to its defenders and saviours. In the earlier years we were wont to leave the tribute of flowers and music and oratory to the men who "came back", but time has not only thinned their numbers, but many who remain go forth with faltering steps and saddened hearts, as they note the many new graves which claim their garlands and their tears.

It is time, therefore, for us to abolish the sports and amusements which have been so at variance with the spirit of the day, and to unite with the veterans in their tender tributes. To those men we owe the blessing of a united country, with a foundation which should and we believe will, make it the best upon earth.

Events of the past year have served to obliterate many old animosities and prejudices, and to unite the men who faced each other in the civil war in a bond of friendship which challenges the admiration of the world. In the same spirit, we have seen many manifested, and which was exemplified by their sons during the war with Spain, let us cast our flowers, with song and eulogy, alike upon the graves of all the nation's soldiers, not forgetting to strew a generous share of the fragrant blossoms of love, and respect, and reverence in the pathway of those who still remain.

CLAFIN GUARD NOTES

The company has a large balcony full of visitors, both ladies and gentlemen, every Monday evening, observing the drill since the intervention in Mexico seems imminent.

The company at present is drilling in extended order, which takes in the work of troops in the field. At present the company has its full quota of 2 officers and 60 men, with 8 men on the waiting list.

It is the desire of the Commanding Officer, Captain Bruce, to obtain as many names as possible, of young unmarried men between the ages of 18 and 35; the names to be kept on file and in case of a call for volunteers to be notified. If the President should call for volunteers, Massachusetts will be called upon to send its quota, and it is certain that the 5th Regiment, of which Company C is a unit, will be one of the first to be called upon to mobilize for service. It will then be necessary to recruit up to 150 men, which is a war strength company.

The Clafin Guard Veteran Association held a meeting last Friday evening at the Armory, presided over by Major Ernest R. Springer, President of the Association, entertainment was furnished by Prof. D. Gravel, and a collation was served after the meeting.

The Company under the command of Captain Bruce, will parade as escort to the Harvard Freshman team on Memorial Day afternoon, on Franklin street in charge of Rev. H. Grant Person, pastor of the Eliot Church. The interment was in the Newton Cemetery.

—Mr. and Mrs. Fred H. Loveland of Ruthven road, who have been touring in France and Germany, have arrived in Newton, and will arrive in the morning, returning June 9th on the Rotterdam of the Holland-American Line.

PARISH RECEPTION

The Men's Club of St. John's Church of Newtonville gave its annual reception at the Newton Club on Monday evening and a large number of the parishioners were present. The guests were received by President and Mrs. Cheney L. Hatch, assisted by Rev. and Mrs. Richard T. Loring and the ushers were Messrs. J. Howard Thaxter, A. C. Blunt, Edward M. Sumner, Roland F. Gammons, 2nd, J. Ellis Gammons, H. H. Ballard, W. N. Dudley, Elisha L. Avery, J. W. Merrill, John W. Condit, and Hubert G. Ripley Jr.

A business meeting of the parish was held after the reception, Senior Warden Frank T. Benner presiding. Favorable action was taken on the purchase of about an acre of land on Otis street, adjoining the church edifice, on which it is proposed to erect a parish house and rectory. A generous gift from Mr. Charles W. Leonard was announced and which made it possible for the action taken by the parish.

Dancing and refreshments completed the evening's entertainment.

WOMEN'S CLUBS

MISS GRACE M. BURT, Editor.

A good delegation of club women from Newton attended the annual meeting of the Massachusetts State Federation of Women's Clubs held at Worcester on Wednesday and Thursday. A full account of the meetings will be given next week, while an abstract of a few of the reports presented are included in this week's issue.

Home Economics Department

All interested club women are invited to attend a conference of this department in Perkins Hall, 264 Boylston street, Boston, on Wednesday, May 27, at 3 P. M. Suggestions for study classes, outlines of work, bibliographies and list of speakers will be considered at this time.

Report of the Corresponding Secretary

During the year 1913-1914 fifteen clubs have joined the Federation. The Boston Woman's Press Club has discontinued its membership in the Federation, one club has disbanded and the Boston Political Club withdraws at the close of the year. The Federation is now composed of 2 federations and 272 clubs, with a total membership of 53,726.

About 8000 tickets have been distributed for the Federation meetings. The helpful co-operation of club presidents has simplified the working out of the ticket problem. The large quantity of stationery, which has been printed and distributed, is indicative of the amount of work done by officers and departments—15,000 envelopes, 4900 letter-sheets, 5800 note-sheets and 1933 postal cards.

The corresponding secretary has sent out 350 letters and 60 post cards. Grace Vose Hibbard.

State Secretary

During the past year three clubs have joined the General Federation:—The Tuesday Societies of Lawrence, the Leicester Topic Club of Leicester and the Riverside Club of Saugus. An application from the New Century Club of Needham is in the hands of the Membership Committee. No clubs have withdrawn.

Last Fall at the request of our General Federation President a circular letter was sent to unfederated clubs urging them to join the General Federation. Your secretary feels that the campaign of education which has been carried on in behalf of the Endowment will result in a large increase in the number of clubs desiring direct membership in our national organization. The time is rapidly approaching when all women's clubs, entitled to the term modern, will consider it as much a privilege and advantage to join the General Federation as they do now to join the State Federation.

Your secretary would earnestly urge all club women and club presidents especially to become familiar with the history of the Woman's Club movement and to keep in touch with the work in other states by reading the General Federation Magazine.

NEWTONVILLE IMPROVEMENT SOCIETY

The annual meeting of the Newtonville Improvement Association was held in Dennison Hall, on Wednesday evening, May 20.

Those present made up in enthusiasm for lack of numbers and the evening was both instructive and social in character.

Mr. Charles D. Cabot, the retiring president of the society, made a short address concerning the good results of the association's efforts in behalf of Newtonville. Reports were read by the Secretary, Mr. C. R. Lynde, and the treasurer, Mr. Louis E. G. Green, followed by a brief appeal from the newly elected president, Mr. Albert M. Lyon for the co-operation of all members in continued work for the objects aimed at by the association.

In the absence of the expected speaker of the evening, Mr. Geo. W. Gallup, an impromptu discourse was given by the Rev. Kerr Boyce Tupper of Philadelphia.

Remarks were made by Mr. Vernon B. Swett of the Newton City Planning Committee concerning the present opportunity for securing to good uses the waste and now lying between the various civic centres of the city of Newton.

Mr. H. J. Kellaway spoke of the park system and Newton's relations thereto.

Refreshments and a social hour followed.

The list of officers for the coming year is as follows: President, Albert M. Lyon; Secretary, Charles R. Lynde; Treasurer, Louis E. G. Green, and a Board of 19 Directors, representing the various sections of Newtonville.

NEWTON CLUB NOTES

On Thursday, May 14, the clubhouse was filled with a large crowd who enjoyed bowling, billiards, dancing, and a delightful collation. The occasion was the final roll-off of the season between the winning team of the men's tournament, comprising A. E. Vose, J. J. Beatty, J. G. Odell, J. W. Field, W. H. Marsh, and the winning team of the ladies' tournament, comprising Mrs. H. G. Ripley, Mrs. C. A. Bouteille, Mrs. F. A. Toole, Mrs. F. H. Curtis, Mrs. H. O. Hunt. The ladies won with scores of 425, 437, 453, a total of 1315, and the gentlemen lost by a score of 407, 413, 444, a total of 1264. Prizes were awarded during the supper and created much enthusiasm and applause. The individual championship was won by John W. Field, and the president's cup was presented to the winner, Mr. F. A. Toole.

Mrs. Hubert G. Ripley having won the high single, high three strings, the greatest number of strikes and spares, also the pin-fall, was presented with a bronze statue of a lady bowler and a plaque. The winners of the tournament were Mrs. Henry A. Young and Mr. H. A. Hansen. The winners of strikes during the tournament were Mrs. R. W. Fitzpatrick and Mr. Henry J. Nichols, and the winners of the pin-fall were Mrs. H. B. Sly and Mr. C. F. Schipper.

The ball-room held one of the largest crowds of the season, the floor being occupied mostly by young folks, and an excellent orchestra made the dancing vivacious and enjoyable. The entire entertainment of the evening was given under the auspices of the bowling committee, which deserves much credit for its energy, thus carrying a busy season through to a successful finish. During the summer, the tennis court will be kept busy, and several tournaments are planned, and it is hoped that the members will continue to use the clubhouse during the heated months, as it is a cool resort and offers many opportunities for comfortable summer pleasures.

MR. DAY A TRUSTEE

Mr. Henry B. Day of West Newton has been selected as a member of the proposed board of trustees which will hold the Boston & Maine R. R. stock of the Boston Holding Company. Mr. Day will succeed Mr. James L. Richards who has just resigned on account of his other financial connections. Mr. Charles P. Hall of West Newton, who has been chosen as another trustee has resigned as a director in the Boston Elevated Railway Company in order to accept the position.

WOMEN'S CLUB

enforced in your own town? Are your inspectors appointed for a knowledge of the laws and products?

A conference on Civil Service Reform was held in Roxbury Masonic Temple in November. Fearing that the Spanish War Veteran's Preference Bill would be favored this year, early in the season a joint letter with the Women's Auxiliary was sent to club presidents, asking their assistance in a preliminary campaign against such legislation. Later the department sent a letter to all clubs urging them to use their influence with their Senators and Representatives to defeat all bills granting preference to Spanish War Veterans. Numerous telegrams and letters have been sent to the President of the United States urging him to help the interests of Civil Service Reform.

The study class instituted three years ago has been continued in the Lecture Hall of the Boston Public Library each month from November to May.

It is so difficult to interest clubs in the work of this department that the committee have given much time and thought to evolve some new way of popularizing civil service reform. Realizing the value of motion pictures, we turned our attention in this direction and have worked energetically to perfect this idea and be able to supply clubs with films for moving pictures that would illustrate the various phases of civil service reform. It has been "up hill work" and we have met with many disappointments, but the committee is still hopeful that their labors in this direction may in the near future be crowned with success.

Again this department appeals to you as club women to make an effort to know the real inner meaning of civil service reform, and to use the power which is yours to educate and create a public opinion that will demand a public service chosen by merit and fitness and not appointed by the favor of some political "boss" as a reward for partisan activities.

Department of Education

In December last, through change of residence this Department lost its successful chairman, Mrs. Emily E. B. Brown. She had formed plans for the year which the members of the department have followed with enthusiasm and devotion.

As the year progressed, a few topics were added and at the present time the subjects included by your Department of Education are: Moral Education, Better Newspapers, Home and School Associations, Study of History.

At an art conference, held at the Museum of Fine Arts in Boston not long ago, a question was asked which called for a concrete, thoughtful answer. The question was, "How shall a club begin the study of art?" One answer to this question is in the form of an Outline on Picture Study which your Art committee prepared and published early in the season. This Outline has been the guide to much of the work of the department this year, and to demonstrate the method of study suggested, several working conferences have been held. At each conference we have had original paintings, lithographs or chosen reproductions on the wall before us, so that the pictures themselves might answer the questions which the Outline suggests. The ages have proved that art is an expression of life. This was the message of the joint Conference held at Arlington, as the sister arts of music, painting and poetry brought each her tribute to the theme.

Each year sees a growing interest in our Boston Museum of Fine Arts. Twenty clubs are now subscribers to the Museum. A subscription of ten dollars gives to any club the admission of four members to the Museum at any time, as well as other privileges.

The Art Committee has a list of books on art for distribution carefully compiled last year. But the enjoyment of a work of art demands something more than books. We must become familiar with pictures, statues, fine buildings and craft work by sight. We must practice the observation of beauty.

The possibilities in the field of art study seem limitless, for we are constantly finding that art is not something framed and set apart; it is the living element in everything we see and do. We may practice folk-dancing, learn to make baskets, or study the development of painting in Italy in our art classes, but the thing we gain is not only a delight in rhythmic motion, or the training of the fingers as they band and weave the threads, the thing we are learning is that something of ourselves, some ideal of curve or line goes into the thing we make.

Art was equally an expression of life in mediaeval Italy and in Greece. Man's expression of his ideal of beauty in temple, in portrait, or in the Park of your country town—this is the element that links the life of all the ages by the golden chain of art, this is the power of beauty which knows no age nor time, the beauty which is all about us and but waits for our recognition.

Public Health

In summing up the year's work of the Public Health Department we can note the progress only by comparison. There is manifest in the clubs, as a whole, a growing conviction that this topic is in closer touch with human life and its welfare, with the making of a better race, and more efficient citizens than any other branch of club work.

The committee has had a most interesting year, having held one meeting a month during the club season.

It was the desire of the department to come into touch as far as possible with the different parts of the state. There have been four conferences in all practically covering the entire state. The Red Cross Society is doing much in Rural Communities. Miss Beard stated that while the Red Cross is a private society it could be characterized in time of war and her words were fresh in our minds when 1500 Red Cross Nurses stood ready to answer the call to go to Mexico. Miss Susan Holton of the Massachusetts General Hospital spoke on "The Dangers in the Painters' Trade," prefacing her remarks that industrial occupations cause more death than war.

In the matter of lead alone, there are over 150 trades where it is used. Thus we have attempted to bring to your attention a few of the many existing conditions hoping you may find one or more of the subjects which meet the requirements of your community.

In order to make a final reduction of all that is left of the Underwood's furniture stock by next Friday night, May 29, not even former wholesale cost of goods has been considered at all. The entire balance of this stock of good quality furniture, carpets, rugs and household goods has been put to a slaughter of low prices that will indeed amaze you.

WE ADVISE YOU TO ATTEND THE SALE DAILY, UNTIL THE FRIDAY, MAY 29, AND WILL WITNESS THE LAST DAYS OF BARGAIN GIVING SUCH AS HAS NEVER BEEN DUPLICATED BEFORE IN ANY SECTION OF THE STATE. Come before too late and secure the greatest bargains in furniture, carpets, rugs, stoves, household goods that it has ever been your privilege to share in. It is, indeed, a pity to sacrifice such a fine stock of furniture, stoves, carpets, rugs and household goods, a sacrifice which is without a parallel, consisting of furniture of every description, carpets, stoves, rugs and household goods, such as Underwood has carried in Natick, but this sacrifice had to be made as they were forced to have more room. That is the reason this entire stock has been thrown on the market at such ridiculously low prices. To those needing furniture, carpets, rugs, stoves and household goods, this Monster Unloading Sale of Underwood Co.'s furniture stock, which is now being sold by the National Sales Co., is truly a godsend to the public as it is right at the time of the year when you are thinking of replenishing your home and household needs. Make your preparations to be here without fail on one of the sale days of this Monster Unloading sale which positively ends on Friday night, May 29. Household goods and furniture of every description will be almost given away—it will be a sacrifice—a bargain event—an avalanche of majestic furniture and household bargains as will take the city and vicinity by storm. It will arouse a response from the people that commercial circles and would-be competitors will be astounded. It will be a bargain earthquake of low prices on good quality furniture, carpets, rugs and household needs that will be remembered by the town of Natick and vicinity for the next twenty years to come. Make no mistake, be careful and be sure you find the Underwood Furniture Co.'s big store. Look for the big sign on their building at 7 to 13 West Central Street, Natick, Mass. REMEMBER THAT FRIDAY NIGHT, MAY 29, IS THE LAST DAY OF THIS BIG SALE. NEVER AGAIN WILL YOU GET SUCH AN OPPORTUNITY AS THIS TO OUTFIT YOUR HOMES AT LESS THAN ACTUAL VALUE. DON'T BE TOO LATE. PREPARE IN TIME. SALE ENDS FRIDAY, MAY 29 AT 9 P. M.

PLAYGROUND MEETING

The playground question in general, with special application to the Charlesbank road section, was discussed before a large company of residents and property owners of the vicinity at the residence of Mrs. C. S. Mason, 119 Charlesbank road, on Thursday evening. Much discussion had been aroused in the neighborhood in consequence of the suggestion of the possible use as a playground of the large tract of land overlooking the river, between Charlesbank road and the metropolitan park reservation, near the foot of St. James street, and the meeting was arranged by Alderman Jarvis for the purpose of bringing full information to the residents and giving opportunity for free expression of opinion.

Mr. Jarvis presided and after a few opening remarks introduced Mr. Ernest Hermann, superintendent of playgrounds, who spoke at some length, giving much interesting information on the development of the playground system of Newton. He submitted plans which he had drawn showing a possible development of the tract for playground purposes.

Miss Marguerite E. Lichtenthaler of Russell road told of her observation of playgrounds in a suburb of Philadelphia, where she had been a supervisor, and emphasized the good results of supervised play in the development of character of the boys and girls.

Objections to the use of the Charlesbank road tract were presented by Mrs. Charles J. Brown, James M. Cannon, John T. Burns, Harris F. Austen, Fred A. Fernald, representing Miss Mary E. Emerson and others. Besides objections on the score of noise and annoyance to the abutters in a tract so closely surrounded by residences as is the place in question, it was contended that the lot was unsuitable for full development as a playground. The land is very uneven and slopes sharply toward the river, while its shape would not allow space for a regulation baseball ground. Even if a diamond were crowded in the small children would not only be deprived of a fair share of the grounds but would also be in constant danger from batted balls. It was stated that the owners of the land had refused to consider any proposition for its use as a playground without the consent of all the residents and landowners in the neighborhood.

The attractiveness of the site as one of the most beautiful spots in Newton was much emphasized in the discussion and the opinion was expressed that it would be a most desirable place for a small park or for a playground for little children.

The need of a playground appealed strongly to almost all present and after nearly two hours' discussion the meeting voted almost unanimously that there ought to be a playground somewhere in Ward 7, but voted in the proportion of about four to one against the Charlesbank road site. Meeting closed with votes of thanks to Mr. Hermann of his interesting talk and to Mrs. Mason for opening her parlors for the occasion.

ANNUAL MEETING

the soliciting for the Newton Hospital, netted $156.00. This is already in the Treasury of the Hospital Aid Association.

The Waban dance held in Bessey Hall on Saturday evening, April 18, 1914, realized 74.25. The full number of tickets issued were sold before the date of the dance, and more could have been disposed of if the capacity of the hall had permitted. Refreshments on sale during the party added to the income from the ticket money, and the chairman of the committee wrote the tickets themselves to save expense.

Newton Lower Falls and Wellesley Hills have sent in as their contribution $27.08, and I have been given the names of several people in Lower Falls who would probably form a separate committee there another year and try to make their portion of the sum equal the amount contributed by the Wellesley Hills side of the track, either by giving a card party, or in some other way entering more actively into the plans for the Breakfast Campaign.

In spite of the fact that business is supposed to be dull everywhere the advertising girls met with surprising success in their quest for material this year. Newtonville, Newton Highlands, Newton Centre, and Auburndale each bringing in more money than before, and helping to swell the total above last year's mark by over thirty dollars.

When we held our first Committee meeting preliminary to the Breakfast, we decided that it would be better this time, to direct our energies even if we had to spend more money to do so in order to make things run smoothly.

In accordance with this idea, each Newton borrowed or rented extra dishes and silver, and secured extra help if needed. Such expenses were optional and therefore may be found on the itemized accounts of the different Wards. The following figures are the expenses common to the All-Newton Breakfast:

H. P. Hood & Co., for extra milk and cream $25.62
D. Whiting & Son, for same 16.40
Quaker Oats Co., for cereals at cost 5.40
1500 6-inch Paper Plates at cost 1.50
Express on same45
Postals71
Express on Paper Napkins29

Total expenses to date, $50.37
Total receipts to date, $198.16
From May-Breakfasts $198.16
From Newspaper 244.30

Total receipts $229.46
Total expense 50.37
Cleared to date for 1914 $2179.09

Respectfully submitted,
Ethel Howland, Chairman.
Interesting reports were also received from Mrs. Ward, the secretary. Mrs. Gould, the treasurer, and Miss Riddle, the matron of the Hospital. Reports were also received from Miss Webster, secretary of the Social Service League, and Miss Lucas, the treasurer, and from Miss Baldwin, the social service worker of the League. Dr. Rosenau of Harvard College then gave a talk on the preventative medicines and the prevention, rather than the cure of disease.

The following officers for the Hospital Aid Association were elected, president, Mrs. Henry H. Carter; vice-president, Mrs. H. P. Bellows; treasurer, Mrs. W. H. Gould; assistant treasurer, Miss Rose Loring; secretary, Mrs. Samuel Ward.
The Social Service League elected these officers, Mrs. George H. Collyer, chairman; Miss Maida Flanders, vice-chairman; Miss Dorothy Lucas, treasurer; Miss Clara Webster, secretary; Miss Elizabeth Potter, assistant secretary; Miss Marjorie Bellows, auditor.

The third stage of my experiences in Texas included the "circle tour" of the leading cities of the state, embracing something like a thousand miles of travel on a special train of Pullman sleepers.

Our train was scheduled to leave Houston late Monday evening and after dinner that night I went to a moving picture theatre for an hour or so. Much to my surprise several excellent pictures of Boston Common, the State House, Tremont street and Commonwealth avenue, were shown, making quite a coincidence.

Early the next morning we reached San Antonio, the largest city in the state, and probably the most picturesque. After breakfast at the Hotel Gunter, we gathered at the Alamo, called the shrine of Texas independence.

The Alamo was formerly a church and fort combined, and the crumbling down walls of the fort are still standing near the old church edifice, and there is evidently some controversy among Texans as to whether or not the entire structure shall be preserved, or only the church itself. This has been kept in good condition and is well worth a visit.

It is sacred because in the battle for Texas independence from Mexico in 1836, nearly two hundred Texans were besieged for eleven days by 5000 Mexicans under Santa Anna, and the only survivors of that awful time were two women, two children and two slaves. 182 bodies were burned in one funeral pile after the struggle was over. On a monument at the state capital at Austin erected in commemoration of this event, is inscribed the sentiment, "Thermopylae had its messenger of defeat, The Alamo had none." One month later, however, Texas had its revenge, when General Sam Houston at San Jacinto with 750 Texans attacked and defeated Santa Anna with twice the number of soldiers and won the independence of the state.

Following our inspection of this interesting church, we were given a fine automobile ride over excellent roads, visiting the quaint old and ruined missions of San Jose and San Juan, which were erected several centuries ago by the Spanish.

We were also shown over the U. S. army post, said to be the second largest in the country, and which several of our Texas friends, unable to get over the habit of claiming everything big for Texas, insisted was the largest army post in America. During our ride we also noted the way in which San Antonio was attacking the modern problem of better transportation facilities. Several streets were shown us where the city was going to great expense in making widenings from 25 to 40 feet, and which when complete will furnish splendid avenues for that growing and busy city.

No mention of San Antonio would be complete without some description of the famous Buckhorn saloon. In this place there is not a space on the walls or ceiling which is not covered with a head and horns or a set of horns of some animal. There must be thousands of them in that room and over the back of the bar is a magnificent pair of Texas steer horns, over eight feet in spread. A river salmon, where the horns are shown to better advantage is also well worth a visit.

The shops of San Antonio are filled with many articles of interest to persons from the North and our pocket-books were rapidly depleted before the fine salesmanship of the good-looking young ladies who acted as clerks.

That evening the Chamber of Commerce gave us a Mexican dinner at a well-known Mexican restaurant. It was attended with considerable curiosity by most of us, who enjoyed some of the unusual dishes placed before us and somehow failed to appreciate the others. There were many and loud calls for water before the dinner was far along and the waiters were kept busy on similar lines all the evening. Some of us were shown our first fig tree in the grounds outside the restaurant, before the dinner, and most of us expressed some astonishment at the smallness of its leaf.

After the dinner we listened to the first of a series of speeches which continued all thru the week at similar occasions, and consisted of glowing eulogiums of Texas, its present and its future, most of which, I must acknowledge seem fairly well proven.

Late that night we went to bed in our Pullmans and early the next morning found ourselves at San Marcos. While our schedule only called for an hour or so at this bustling little city of 6000 people, every one would gladly have voted to extend the time indefinitely. In the first place the San Marcos people had planned to take us out to their famous river and give us a fish fry for breakfast, but the heavy rains had so flooded the river that it was found to be impracticable at the last minute. The ladies then took a hand and with but little time, served us a delightful breakfast at one of the halls in the city, which was greatly enjoyed by everyone. Then followed a fine automobile ride around the city, which is quite hilly, and entirely different from the other Texas cities we had thus far visited.

We were shown with some pride, the state Normal school, a Methodist academy and a Baptist seminary, besides the ordinary school buildings of the city. The U. S. Fisheries also has a hatchery at this place near the San Marcos river. While most of the Texas and in fact about all Southern rivers, are mud color, the San Marcos river rises at its full width from a large number of springs, and the water is clear and pleasant to look upon. We were given a boat ride on the river and all too soon were carried back to our train and bid good bye to the good people of San Marcos.

That noon we reached Austin, the state capital, and were greeted with a band and bouquets of roses. I am frank to admit that I am prejudiced against Austin because of some rather unpleasant personal experiences in that city. I will endeavor, however, to keep my personal views in the background as much as possible.

The state capital is a beautiful building with a fine dome, set in the midst of broad avenues and was our first stop. We were received by Governor Colquitt and also inspected the building. The legislative chambers are no where near as attractive or as convenient as those on Beacon Hill. Texas has 31 senators and about 135

THE PRETENDERS

Successful Performance Given In Bray Hall Newton Centre

"The Pretenders", a popular dramatic organization of Boston and Cambridge, entertained a large and appreciative audience on Saturday evening in Bray Hall, Newton Centre.

Three sketches were excellently presented, and included "The Rising of the Moon," by Lady Gregory, in which the scene was laid in a quay in a seaport town in Ireland. The characters were admirably portrayed by Tracy J. Putnam, as "Sergeant"; Lawrence E. Richardson, and Kenneth B. Murdock, who represented policemen, and Frederic S. Clark, Jr., as "A Ragged Man." "The Spirit of War," by T. J. Putnam, was very enjoyable, and the acting was well done. The scene was a cottage in the mountains of Tennessee, in Civil War times. There was a very good exhibition by the Boy Scouts, giving signals of distress, carrying their wounded comrades, etc. The cast included Martha Putnam, Ellen W. Rollins, Guy H. Lee, Charles W. Putnam, Charles B. Blanchard, and Kenneth B. Murdock.

The interesting program closed with the presentation of "Marvelous Benham," by Herman Hagedorn, a pleasing sketch representative of New York life. The scene was set in the Ruggles House on Fifth avenue, and the acting was exceptionally clever. The parts were taken by Charles B. Blanchard, Hannah B. Fiske, Charles W. Putnam, Frederic S. Clark, Jr., Guy H. Lee, Margaret Stoddard, Margaret D. Paine, and Tracy J. Putnam.

The excellent entertainment was under the direction of Charles W. Putnam, producer, Guy H. Lee, the business manager, and Frederic S. Clark, Jr., Kenneth B. Murdock and Tracy J. Putnam, who had charge of the stage, scenery, and properties.

Miss Margaret Winslow was prompter, and the pianist was Lloyd G. del Castillo. Society from Chestnut Hill and the Newtons were well represented in the audience. The proceeds are for the benefit of the Boy Scout work in Newton Centre and Chestnut Hill, and the special charitable work of the Newton Hospital.

INSTANTLY KILLED

John Harrigan, 48, married, of Watertown street, Newtonville, a line-man employed by the Cambridge Electric Light Company, was instantly killed Tuesday morning by a shock of 2300 volts from two wires, received while he was helping another line-man, Andrew Campbell, in cutting away old wires at the top of a pole at Hampshire and Prospect street, Cambridge.

Harrigan was wearing cotton gloves and his hands came in contact with live wires. His body fell upon two heavy feed wires.

Campbell dropped quickly from his perch and cut the feed wires, leaving the body entangled in ropes and wires until firemen of Hook and Ladder 2 brought it down. The body was rushed to the Relief Hospital, but all efforts at resuscitation were unavailing. Funeral services were held yesterday morning, with a requiem high mass, at the Church of Our Lady.

A NEW SCHEME

Thief Enters Houses Ostensibly To Get An Umbrella

A young man who gave his name as John Bruno, 22, of 14 Oliver place, Newton, was arraigned in the Police Court Tuesday morning before Judge Kennedy, charged with breaking and entering the home of Mrs. Grace P. Bestwick, 16 Islington road, Auburndale. He pleaded not guilty. On advice of Chief Mitchell the case was continued until June 5. Bail was set at $1000, which he was unable to secure, and he was committed.

Rev. Isaac Pearson of Wellesley identified the man in court as the one found in his house Sunday evening, and Mrs. Reed of Boylston street, Chestnut Hill, stated that he was the one found in her home on Tuesday night of last week. When detected in Mrs. Reed's home, he told her he was in search of a doctor for a friend.

Bruno was found in the home of Mrs. W. N. Walling, 49 Woodbine street, Auburndale, shortly before 8 o'clock Monday night on the second floor of her house. To her questions he replied that he was seeking shelter from the rain, and was in search of an umbrella. He hid by her and went out the front door. Mrs. Walling at once notified Lieut. Soule at Police Headquarters.

Lieut. Soule received another call less than 10 minutes afterwards from Mrs. Bostwick, who also informed him that she found a man in her front hall, about to go upstairs. To her questions he gave the same answer. Patrolman John J. Foristall was notified, and he picked up Bruno on Commonwealth avenue, near Bourne street.

While being taken to headquarters in the police patrol by Patrolman Foristall, Bruno stated that he would rather be dead than go to jail, and was in the act of opening a large knife when the officer detected him. The latter had a hard struggle before he was able to get possession of the knife. When further searched, a flashlight was removed from Bruno's stocking.

Soon after the arrest Inspector O'Halloran began an investigation. Although the young man insisted that his name was Bruno and that he had never been in jail or had his finger prints taken, he admitted when Inspector O'Halloran confronted him with the result of an investigation that his name was John Kadra and that he had served two years in the Concord Reformatory since 1907.

BEATEN AGAIN

Newton High was beaten by Harvard Second Tuesday on Soldiers Field, 6 to 0, and made only three hits, two of them by Chivers. Wilnot Whitney, who was a Newton player two years ago, started to pitch for Harvard and performed well for three innings and was supplanted by MacDonald.

Harvard bunched five hits with a sacrifice in the first inning for four runs. Pitcher Comich worked better after that, but in the third Capt. Phillips made a home run and Cartmell worked his way around the bases by a single, a steal, an infield out that put him on third and a wild throw to catch him that allowed him to go home. After that only one safety was made of Comich.

POLITICAL NOTES

Mr. Nathaniel A. Francis of Brookline is a candidate for the Republican nomination for Congressman in this district. Mr. Francis is most optimistic over the outlook for Republican success in the district.

PRIZE DRILL

Lasell Girls Give a Splendid Exhibition At Auburndale

The annual exhibition drill of the Lasell Seminary Cadets was held Monday afternoon on the campus near Carpenter Hall. The drill marked the opening of Commencement and many of the alumnae congregated to take part in the exercises. The khaki uniforms, which were worn since the battalion was organized in 1889, were dispensed with this year and white duck uniforms, which greatly showed off the gold on the officers, took their places. Each of the three companies had its coterie of enthusiastic followers.

Balloons, flags and flowers were used, Co. A's colors being yellow, Co. B, red, and Co. C, blue. All joined in the applause when the award was made to Co. B in the company competition. Capt. Julian I. Chamberlain and 2d Lieut. Harry I. Dougan of the 8th Regiment, who were the judges, awarded the prizes.

Each company had a winner in its ranks. Miss Clara L. Paton, Co. B, of Leominster, won the medal in the senior competition; Miss Carol M. Rice, Co. A, of Indianapolis, was awarded the first junior prize and Miss Rita H. Spiro, Co. C, of Danbury, Conn., the second junior prize.

Capt. Chamberlain, in making the award to Co. B, addressing the captain, Miss Clara P. MacDonald of Guadalupe, Mex., paid a high tribute to all three companies for their excellent showing.

ENGAGEMENT ANNOUNCED

At a luncheon given at the home of Mr. and Mrs. E. C. Bouve of Plymouth road, Newton Highlands, last Saturday, the engagement of their daughter Marion, to Mr. John Leland Marshall of Hudson, N. H., was announced. The following young ladies from the Newton High School and Wheaton Seminary, where Miss Bouve had attended school, were present, and helped make the occasion a very happy one: the Misses Vera McKean, Mary Bacon, Barbara Wellington, Phyllis Caldwell, Eleanor Keith, Emily Proctor, Ruth Howell, Marion Zinderstern, Mabel Thompson, Louise Washburn and Marguerite Wade.

Miss Dorothy L. Emery Christens the Steamship Atlantic at Fore River

A large number of Newton residents were present Tuesday noon at the Fore River shipyards, Quincy, when the 405-foot freighter Atlantic of the Emery Steamship Company, was successfully launched. Miss Dorothy Louise Emery, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ralph C. Emery of this city was the sponsor and performed her part in a highly creditable manner.

A special train was provided for the launching party which numbered nearly a thousand persons, and left

The hull of the steamer loomed high in the air above the heads of the special guests who climbed many steps to a high platform erected for the occasion, and adorned with the national colors. As the last piece of blocking was severed, and the boat began to glide slowly down the ways, Miss Emery broke a small bottle of wine against this iron bow and said "I christened thee Atlantic." The huge mass of steel moved faster and faster down the ways and before the entire hull had reached the water, the blocking was smoking from the friction. After the steamer was in the water, she was towed to the dock for final fittings. Her sister ship, the Pacific, which will be launched within a few weeks was in the adjoining cradle and was the subject of considerable interest.

The Atlantic was begun last August and represents an investment of about $600,000. She will be used in a coast-wise trade between Boston and points on the Pacific coast by way of the Panama canal.

Following the launching, a lunch was served in one of the buildings in the shipyards, at which remarks were made by Pres. William H. Randall of the Emery Steamship Co., President Powell of the Fore River Works and Mayor James M. Curley of Boston.

Among those present from this city were, Mr. and Mrs. Ralph C. Emery, Mr. and Mrs. Levi P. Powers, Miss Georgia Emery, Hon. G. Fred Simpson, Mr. and Mrs. J. B. Simpson, Mr. and Mrs. E. W. Pierce, Mr. and Mrs. T. W. Norman and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. L. D. Gibbs, Mr. and Mrs. R. E. Mandell, Mr. and Mrs. G. F. Uhler, Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Pray and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. L. C. Stanton, Mr. E. L. Bacon, Mrs. G. P. Pote, Mrs. W. H. Leach, Mrs. J. E. Trowbridge, Mr. Harry Trowbridge, Mr. Charles Hunt, Mrs. G. L. Parker and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. E. T. Ryder, Mr. H. R. Nash, Mr. R. C. Montague, Mr. L. D. G. Bentley, Mr. C. E. Jesselyn, Mr. H. E. Johnston, and others.

MISS DOROTHY L. EMERY

The South station at eleven o'clock Miss Emery was met on the arrival of the train by Mr. Joseph W. Powell of the Fore River Company and presented with a huge bouquet of beautiful roses. Later Mr. Powell presented her with a gold wrist watch inscribed with the words "Presented to Dorothy Louise Emery, sponsor of the S. S. Atlantic, May 26, 1914."

DEATH OF MR. McCAMMON

Mr. Frank Herbert McCammon, the son of Mr. and Mrs. John McCammon of Nonantum street, died last Thursday at Mineola, Long Island, after a week's illness with pneumonia. Mr. McCammon was born in this city and was 27 years of age. He was educated in the Newton High School and Rock Ridge Hall and for the past five years has been with the American Woolen Co. of New York, where he held a responsible position. Mr. McCammon was to have been married the coming fall.

His death is a great shock to his many friends here, as he was a young man of excellent character and with a bright future before him.

Funeral services were held from his father's residence on Nonantum street on Sunday afternoon, Rev. H. Grant Person, pastor of Eliot Church, officiating. There was a large attendance of friends and the many beautiful flowers bore eloquent testimony to the affection and regard in which he was held. The burial was at the Newton Cemetery, where prayer was offered by Rev. Wolcott Calkins.

Miss Caroline Aldrich of the Utica Public Library has received an honor from the Boy Scouts of America, the equal of which has never been given in this section of the country and, it is believed, never in the United States. It is a solid gold miniature first-class Boy Scout pin and is given in recognition of the help shown by her at the recent exhibit held in the library.

Not only has Miss Aldrich been awarded the pin, but she has been elected an honorary member of the local organization and, as such, she is entitled to and will receive the regular scout salute from all Boy Scouts in this city and vicinity. She will be entitled to all signs of respect that any of the officers or members of the local council receive.

Miss Aldrich will be remembered as a former popular assistant librarian in the Newton Library.

Mayor Childs again raises the Neagle issue with the board of aldermen in recommending an appropriation to pay for an additional police patrolman. Mr. Neagle, it will be recalled, was recently reinstated by Mayor Childs, and restored to police duty, altho the police appropriations were insufficient to provide for his wages. Unless the aldermen make an additional appropriation it is probable that Mayor Childs or Chief Mitchell will be personally responsible for Neagle's wages, as the charter expressly prohibits the incurring of any liability beyond the appropriations made by the city council. The board refused to make the additional appropriation when the budget was passed in April, and as it will require 14 votes instead of 11 to pass an additional appropriation, it is extremely doubtful if favorable action will be taken for some time. The Mayor has been badly advised on the Neagle case and has created a most unfortunate situation for the police department and the city.

The project of placing all fire hazard matters in the hands of a single commissioner in the Metropolitan district has considerable merit, altho there can be but little argument that this action is the first step towards a consolidation of fire departments in this district, leading possibly to a consolidation of the police departments and eventually to a Greater Boston and the loss of all local municipal government. The measure may be made palatable at the present time by the referendum, but it is a step in the wrong direction in my opinion. The fire hazard evils which the bill is intended to correct, can easily be remedied by legislation which will not have the tendency to future Metropolitan consolidation.

I trust the Republicans of Newton will insist that the senatorial candidate of their party shall be a resident of the eastern end of the district the coming fall. For seven years, Natick and South Framingham have had the senatorship and it is only fair play that the candidate should come this year from the metropolitan district. The new apportionment of senatorial districts which will be made next year should end the present arrangement and place Newton in a district where the various municipalities would have the same interests at the State House and not, as at present, in a district where the interests are totally divergent.

I wonder if our good prohibition friends who are fighting the rum devil so strenuously, still continue to patronize those Boston stores which make it a part of their business, at least, to furnish their patrons with alcoholic stimulants. It might be consistent, at least, to trade at home in the line of groceries, and know that our money is not going into the tills of those who profit by the sale of liquors.

The ladies of Newton are beginning to agitate the provision of providing screens for the windows of our school buildings. In these modern days when numerous crimes are attributed to the fly, it would seem as if the ladies were working in the right direction in this respect.

The absence of liquor transportation permits is undoubtedly responsible for the great increase in drunkenness noticed of late in the vicinity of Tremont street and Hunnewell hill, adjacent to Brighton.

The business men at Newton are taking early steps to repeat and even increase the success they made last year by a safe and sane observance of the Fourth of July.

THE PROBLEM OF IMMIGRATION IN MASSACHUSETTS

REPORT OF THE COMMISSION ON IMMIGRATION

The welfare of State and Immigrant are inseparably linked. The State must safeguard its own interests by promoting the welfare of the immigrant population. This in brief is the note struck by the report of the Commission on Immigration, which has just been presented to the Legislature.

The Report is a comprehensive pamphlet of some 300 pages. Here are some of the findings and recommendations:

Employment Agencies. The immigrant when he first tries to get work, is entirely dependent on the private employment agent, whose interests often conflict with those both of the immigrant and of the community.

The Massachusetts law regulating licensed employment agencies is woefully inadequate; moreover, the immigrants were to work in the copper mines. It was only with difficulty that they effected their escape. These were out a few out of more than two hundred Russians and Poles sent to Calumet last summer by two Boston agencies. How many knew their destination cannot be said. (pp. 43-44.)

Massachusetts Needs the Farm. Of the immigrants who came to Massachusetts in the year 1911-12, more than 1-4 — in the case of Poles and Lithuanians, at least 1-2 — had been farm laborers. Many of these men, though they must begin by a job in the city or town, look forward to a return to the land and begin at once to save up for that purpose. For example a Ruthenian farmer and his wife are now working in a Massachusetts cotton factory, buoyed up by the hope that they will be able to go back to Galicia and live on a farm. He could buy land much more cheaply in

A MONA LISA OF THE IMMIGRANTS—"THE ARRIVAL OF FROM 70,000 TO 100,000 NEWCOMERS IN MASSACHUSETTS EACH YEAR, MOST OF WHOM ARE UNABLE TO SPEAK ENGLISH, AND CONSEQUENTLY IF NEGLECTED OR IGNORED, ARE SUBJECT TO THE ABUSES, THE MISDIRECTION, THE PREJUDICES OF EX-PLORERS AND IRRESPONSIBLE AGITATORS, CANNOT BUT STRAIN THE SOCIAL FABRIC TO THE BREAKING POINT."—From Report of Commission on Immigration.

The Immigrant on the Land.

Because a slow movement from the town to the land is going on, many people believe the problem is solving itself. But for everyone who succeeds there are many more who might do so if a little help were given. And the agricultural development of Massachusetts requires their labor. Much of the uncultivated land in the eastern part of the State could produce grapes under the painstaking cultivation of the Italian as profitably as lands in the western part have produced tobacco and onions, when owned by Polish farmers. But it is practically impossible for the immigrant to obtain reliable information concerning farm lands in Massachusetts.

As a first step, the scientific "exploration" of the farm lands of the State. This information should be passed on, in his own language, to the immigrant who needs it, by some one in whom he has confidence.

The Commission believes that this could be done with very little expense and with great value to the State by a specially qualified person under the direction of the State Board of Immigration described below.

Immigrant Banks.

The only protection given those who use immigrant banks to deposit or transmit money is the bond approved in character and amount by the Bank Commissioner. This in some cases is as low as $500.00. No capital or reserve is required. There is no regulation of investments or loans; yet these banks, during the year 1912, sent abroad over $7,000,000.00 (p. 178.)

The frequent results of such lack of control may be illustrated by a typical instance. Last June an Italian disappeared from Lawrence, leaving claims estimated at about $8000. His assets were worth perhaps $150. In addition he had given a personal bond for $2500, whose value was uncertain at the time of the investigation. (p. 184.)

Beside efficient control of immigrant bankers, the Commission recommends especially that schools and other public agencies aid in spreading information about postal savings banks. In several towns the deposits made by immigrants in these banks in 1912 were estimated by the postmasters to be over 90% of the entire amounts received; in Lowell, on the other hand, only 6% of the total deposits were credited to foreigners, indicating that in this as in many other places, postal savings banks are little understood by them.

The Immigrant in the Courts.

It is frequently stated that with increase of immigrants comes increase of crime. The Massachusetts Commission finds no ground for this belief. On the contrary, it finds that the conclusion of the Federal Commission on Immigration holds in general for Massachusetts. "Such statistics as it has been possible to obtain indicate that immigrants are less prone to crime than are native Americans." (p. 100.) It further shows that of foreigners committed the proportion from English-speaking countries is more than three times as great as from non-English-speaking countries. (p. 101.) Moreover, the non-English speaking criminal is not always sure to get justice in court proceedings because of the incompetence and frequent corruptness of the interpreters. (p. 108.) The employment of official interpreters and of public defenders is advised in order to teach respect for the law. "The results of the immigrants' first direct contact with the law will do much to influence his future in America."

The Immigrant Parent.

Attention is called to the unfortunate relation often existing between immigrant parents and their children. When no effort is made by the schools to reach the parents directly, they are forced to depend upon their children's interpretation of what is right or wrong, necessary or unnecessary in America. Intelligent persons are realizing the danger in this situation and finding in it an explanation of the fact that crime and delinquency are commoner among the "second generation" than among their parents. This reversal of the relationships of parent and child means an inevitable breaking down of parental control.

"For this reason we need very carefully worked out plans for teaching respect for the virtues that these immigrant parents possess. Proper emphasis should also be given to the contributions that Russia, Italy, Austria and other countries have made to the literature, art or political history of the United States:—we educate the children along American lines, we must not destroy the traditions around which their whole family life is built."

Recognizing that methods of adult education have been little studied, the commission advises that normal schools should make a special study of the subject. It also recommends that lectures in the various foreign languages shall be given so as to inform the immigrant about labor laws, sanitary regulations, and other things that he needs to know as soon as he reaches the country. English classes for mothers, as well as for older men, are included among the important educational recommendations.

Naturalization.

The United States statutes give the right of naturalization to any United States District Court or to any State court of record. The Massachusetts legislature, however, has limited the rights of inferior courts so that the number of naturalization courts in that State is smaller than in most. This involves much expense and inconvenience. One man had to pay his two witnesses each $5.00 a day for two days in addition to the carfare to Boston and the loss of two days' work for himself—a total of over $30.00. (p. 155.) It is not surprising tween the needs of the immigrant and the rich civic, social and philanthropic resources of the community. There is no provision for aiding both State and immigrant by giving needed information to those desiring to settle upon the land. Above all there is no provision for giving to the bewildered immigrant that intelligent, sympathetic, disinterested advice of which he often stands so much in need and which would come from the State with an impressive authority.

The Commission accordingly recommends the creation of a State Board of Immigration, which shall perform these duties.

Immediate Action.

This report makes obvious the necessity of immediate action to safeguard alike the State and the immigrant. Scarcely had it been presented to the legislature when a meeting of public spirited citizens was called in Boston to consider how the legislative action recommended by the commission could be furthered.

A committee was formed under the chairmanship of Henry S. Dennison, which is to be completed by representative citizens from all parts of the State and from all walks of life.

The first hearing was on the proposal to create a permanent Immigra-that few of his countrymen can afford to be naturalized.

To meet these difficulties the commission recommends that naturalization courts should sit on certain evenings and on Saturday afternoons, so that working men may attend with the loss of little or no working time.

Permanent Immigration Board.

The complexity of the situation can be only dimly pictured by the ordinary citizen. In one little town of but 7000 inhabitants are twenty-one different nationalities with as many different languages, backgrounds, standards, ideals. A condition similar though less extreme exists in many towns and cities. The problems which come with this complex population have never been paralleled in the world's history; they can not be properly solved without profound, continuous and practical study of the needs of the new comers. Such study and service can be given only by a Board whose first interest is in this matter—a Board which is not overburdened, as are all our existing Boards, with other duties. Such a Board giving continuous attention to this subject, would be able to offer from time to time the expert advice of which the State, local communities, and social agencies are so much in need. It would gather information that would be available to such newspapers and public-spirited citizens as would use it. It would form the treasury from which could be drawn resources for this great intellectual struggle.

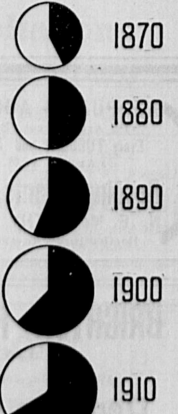

Such a Board would also provide for certain definite needs of the immigrant. Many of these, such as education, employment, and so on, can be met by existing agencies when suitably extended and modified. But there is no agency which attends to the complex and difficult problems that arise at the docks and while the immigrant is in transit through the State; there is no authority which can investigate complaints; there is none which can make connection be-tion Board; it was held on April 3d at the State House, before the Legislative Committee on Social Welfare. There was no opposition, but numerous speakers in favor of the bill.

But it must not be overlooked that the passage of such an important measure will be secured only by a state-wide demand. Every patriotic citizen, therefore, has a duty to perform, and should interest himself to the end that wise legislation may be obtained upon this vital matter.

Copies of the report may be procured on application at the Public Document Room at the State House.

NEAGLE HEARING

Charges filed with Mayor Childs about two months ago by Alderman Guy M. Winslow against the presence of Patrolman David Neagle on the police force, occasioned by the action of the mayor in reinstating that officer were heard by the mayor yesterday afternoon at his office in City Hall.

It will be recalled that Neagle was removed from the force about a year ago by Chief Mitchell after charges had been made against him of stealing milk from the Wellesley side of the river at the Lower Falls. Mayor Childs reinstated him on the ground that the removal by the Chief without approval of the mayor was illegal. Neagle's assignment to duty was the occasion of many protests from citizens, culminating in the filing of charges by Alderman Winslow.

Sgt. Armitage of Wellesley, the first witness, went into detail about catching Neagle as he was drinking the milk on the morning of May 21 and on the talk he had with him at the time.

Dr. Fred M. Lowe, city physician, testified that when he examined Neagle three or four years ago he found he had a weak heart, was hard of hearing and was unfit for service.

Neagle testified that he had been a member of the department for 16 years, and that during that time no charges were brought against him. In regard to the milk he said that he was making a shortcut from one end of his route to the Lower Falls Bridge, and in so doing went over on the Wellesley side.

When in front of Ayres' Bakery he was suffering from heart burn and took about a gill of milk. When he had gone about five steps he said he heard the door snap, and going back was confronted by Sgt. Armitage and Mr. Ayres. He said that he worked 5 days afterward before he was suspended.

In regard to his being physically unfit for service, Neagle said that when he took the test he received a mark of 100 percent and that the ailments he now had were received in the service.

In summing up the case Alderman Blakemore said: "I can assure you there is no personal feeling in the matter. From the evidence presented at the last hearing it showed that the officer left his route and went on the route of a brother officer, putting him in a bad position and also putting the milk dealer in a serious position by lowering the standard of his milk."

WOMAN'S AUXILIARY MEETING

The annual meeting of the Woman's Auxiliary to the Newton Y. M. C. A. was held Wednesday evening at the Association Building in the form of a gentlemen's night and social. Interesting reports were read from the various committees. The boys supper committee reported six suppers served to the Bible classes and the treasurer stated that $378 had been paid to the Association and $50 to the County Y. M. C. A. work.

These officers were elected, President, Mrs. F. W. Ganse, vice-presidents, Mrs. Louis E. Moore, Mrs. S. E. Warren, secretary, Miss Bertha Moore, assistant secretary, Mrs. Chester L. Cotton, treasurer, Miss Emma A. Page, Devotional, Miss Josephine French, flower, Mrs. A. F. Emery, house, Mrs. E. H. Franklin, social, Mrs. John F. Brant, pantry, Mrs. E. A. Whitney, finance, Mrs. John T. Lodge, Mrs. E. F. Peterson, boys supper, Mrs. Edwin Jones, auditor, Mrs. George W. Barber, board of managers, Mrs. Wm. T. Rich, Methodist Church, Mrs. J. W. Blaisdell, Baptist Church, Mrs. I. U. Townsend, Grace Church.

At the close of the meeting, a delightful musical program was rendered by Miss Grace Fanning and Miss Elinor Eddy, and refreshments were served.

The report of the secretary was as follows:

"We are very glad to be able to report a most successful year in every way for the Auxiliary."

"The present membership is 260, a gain of 51 new members. We have held 8 regular meetings the last Wednesday of each month at 3 o'clock, all of which have been well attended, the banner meeting being that of Oct. 29 when there were over 100 present. The Executive Board has met each month one hour previous to the regular meeting. This year at the suggestion of Mrs. G. S. Harwood a short prayer-meeting has been held just previous to the regular meeting, with special thought for the Y. M. C. A. and young men."

"The Annual State Conference of the Auxiliary was held Oct. 29-30 in Westfield. We were represented at this conference by Mrs. C. D. Kepper, Mrs. H. M. Bacon and Mrs. L. E. Moore, who brought back splendid reports of the work being done by other Auxiliaries and a strong determination to make our Auxiliary second to none."

"The Auxiliary attempted something new this year in the form of a mending committee to meet at 2 o'clock on regular Auxiliary days. The special work of this committee was to mend the stockings of the dormitory boys. Because of the small amount of work this committee has had to do, we have come to the conclusion that the boys are a good advertisement for Hole-proof socks or that they think the Auxiliary darning is not like mother used to do. We have been told that one of the Y. M. C. A. secretaries darts his own stockings and donated an apron to our March sale which he claims to have made himself. The young man in question is at present a bachelor but with these accomplishments we fear his single blessedness will be of short duration."

"We have purchased a dozen and a half more ivy vines to add to those already planted around the Y. M. C. A. building. March 28th we held a successful social sale. There was a most attractive tea-room. Useful and fancy articles and food of all kinds were for sale. This sale was followed April 2 by a supplementary sale, the total receipts of both sales being over $250. "Two of our members this year passed the 50th mile-stone in their married life. Mrs. H. E. Barker celebrated her anniversary Nov. 4th and was remembered with a purse of gold. Mrs. Moses Clark celebrated her anniversary March 17th and at our March meeting was our guest, and was presented with a string of gold and amethyst beads. A strange coincidence was the fact that Mrs. Clark is 75 years old and the string happened to contain just 75 beads."

"At the Sept. meeting we thought we would surprise Mrs. Babson by presenting her something appropriate to the celebration of her tenth anniversary. We in turn were surprised as it was only her ninth anniversary but the tin-ware was something every house-keeper can use and we hope it has stood the extra year's wear."

"For a long time there has been a feeling among the ladies that it was a shame to have such a finely equipped Gymnasium as that of our Y. M. C. A. stand idle mornings when so many of us feel the need of exercise such as cannot be gained from a daily wrestle with the broom and wash-board. To our great delight the Y. M. C. A. Board voted this Spring to allow the women to organize a Ladies' Gymnasium class for a course of 12 lessons. In spite of the fact that we had only a short time in which to organize a class, we started our lessons March 2nd, with a class of 29 with a most competent teacher, Mr. Wm. Macpherson. The classes were well attended, the average attendance being 24. In 12 lessons were over all too soon but the ladies all felt the Gymnasium lesson had proved a great benefit to them and as a result of our work together 14 members of the class became new members of the Auxiliary."

"We have been fortunate in securing unusually interesting speakers for our meetings. We started the year right by having 2 members of our own Y. M. C. A. Board as the speakers. Mr. Blaisdell spoke of financial and Mr. Kendrick on the social work of the Y. M. C. A."

"In Oct. Mr. Jay T. Stocking, who was at that time in Newtonville, gave us a most interesting and helpful talk on "Guarding our Boys." The November meeting was addressed by Mr. Frank Palmer, Educational Director of the Boston Y. M. C. A. In December we were fortunate in having as our guest and speaker, Hon. Edwin O. Childs, Mayor of Newton. We consider Mayor Childs one of our good friends and were glad to hear his views on the Liquor Problem. As Mr. Childs has been a member of a special committee appointed by Governor Foss during his administration to investigate the subject of Drunkenness he was able to give a most interesting talk on "A Great Evil. Suggestions as to its Cure."

"In January Mr. D. C. Drew, County Y. M. C. A. Secretary, told us of his work. Mr. Drew's work is financially supported by the different Auxiliaries and our Auxiliary this year contributed $50 to his work."

"Mr. C. C. Carstens, Gen. Agent Mass. Soc. for the Prevention of Cruelty to Children, was our speaker in February, taking as his subject "Protection of the Family Virtues, or the Woman who Arrives."

"The March and April meetings were addressed by members of our own Auxiliary. In March Mrs. Isabella Hardon read a paper on "Chataqua" and in April Mrs. E. A. Jones told us of Y. M. C. A. work in beautiful Hawaii."

"We are planning to raise our money this coming year by means of Dime-holders. Every member of the Auxiliary is to be given 1 or more holders, each of which will hold 10 dimes. We hope before our Nov. meeting to have in our possession most of the dimes that find their way into Newton and hope that even the men will become so enthusiastic in helping us fill our holders, that they will turn at least a dollar bill into dimes each night before coming home."

THE POPS

For the fifth week of the Pops beginning Monday, June 1st, only one special night is scheduled. This will be Tuesday evening, June 2nd, when Williams College will have its annual evening as a prelude to the ball-game with Harvard the next afternoon. "Williams Nights" are always very pleasant affairs and bring out large audiences. Mr. Maquarrie is having his usual success as conductor. His programmes are light and tuneful and he is playing a good deal of the new dance music so popular with the public nowadays. He has but one week more after next week to conduct and then his place will be taken by Mr. Lenom for the remainder of the season.

NORUMBEGA'S OPENING

The formal opening of Norumbega's eighteenth season, Monday, in the world famous steel constructed open air theatre was a decided success. An extremely well balanced vaudeville program provoked much laughter and applause. On Memorial Day, La Fricains Military Band will conduct concerts in the band court. Now is the time to enjoy the beauties of Nature in its springtime dress to the fullest extent and surely no other place has been so richly endowed in the natural beauties than this famous Park, on the banks of the Charles River. Dine in the Restaurant and enjoy the cooling breezes from the Charles and then visit the Zoological Gardens, which contain some of the finest specimens of wild animals.

NEWTON. The last meeting of the season of the Gleaners Club was held Tuesday evening in Eliot Church parlors. The finished garments were sent to the Newton Hospital for the use of the Newton District Association and an embroidered robe to the former president of the club now living in a distant city. A successful year closed with the club presented each member with a blue and white pennant.

B. F. KEITH'S THEATRE. Mary Nash, one of the most popular and cleverest of the younger generation of legitimate actresses, will make her first vaudeville appearance at B. F. Keith's Theatre next week in a one-act comedy entitled "The Watch Dog." Her new playlet is described as a one-act drama of absorbing situations and amusing surprises. Miss Nash will be supported by a most capable company. The surrounding bill includes a number of features exceptionally appropriate for the early summer. Hardman and Varady, one of Mr. Keith's most important captures of the season, is a really remarkable team of European entertainers brought to this country to appear on the Keith Circuit. It is impossible to describe their act, it must be seen to be appreciated. Other features will be Conlin, Steele and Carr, in bits of musical comedy; Welch, Welch, Healy and Montrose, the baseball enthusiasts in their acrobatic skit, "Play Ball"; Transatlantic Trio of singers and instrumentalists; Edwin George, the talkative juggler; Five Sully Family in the merry farce, "The Information Bureau"; Snyder and Halo, songs and dances; and the Arco Brothers, European novelty acrobats.

CASTLE SQUARE THEATRE. The announcement that "The End of the Bridge" is to be revived at the Castle Square next week is of great interest. This Harvard Prize Play, it will be remembered, had a run of nine weeks three seasons ago, and in every way, both artistically and popularly, it was a triumph. It is effectively dramatic and humorous, and there is certain to be a renewed interest in it as again produced by Mr. Craig. It will be staged exactly as before, and the cast will include Mr. Craig as the Doctor, Mr. Meek as Felix Marlett, Miss Henry Feta McDaniel as Peter, Mr. Roberts as the German, Miss Colebrook as the Nurse and Miss Mary Young as the Wife.

PLYMOUTH THEATRE. While the theatrical season is fast drawing to a close and with only a few of the first class houses open, the popularity of "Under Cover" remains unabated. The piece enters upon the 24th week of its engagement at the Plymouth Theatre, Boston, on next Monday, and gains another lap in its extraordinary record-breaking progress. There are few plays produced in Boston within recent years that can compare with this clean, wholesome and vigorous American play by Roi Cooper Megrue. Its wonderful record so far achieved only partly describes the unusual merits of the play. Despite the fact that the production has been in Boston since last December there are many playgoers who have not yet witnessed it, merely putting it off to a later date. However it would be wise to see the safe side and see the play now.

BOSTON THEATRE. Joe Weber and Lew Fields, who have scored one of the biggest successes of recent years, with their big musical comedy "Hokey Pokey" at the Boston Theatre, enter upon their second and last week at that playhouse on Monday, June 1. The engagement will close on Saturday night, June 6, which date will positively mark the last joint appearance of these world famous fun-makers on any stage. They will not appear in any other New England city and next season will once more go their separate ways. Mr. Fields to enter the field of legitimate comedy and Mr. Weber to devote himself to managerial activities. Not to have seen Weber and Fields together will be to have missed seeing the most popular "team" in the entire history of the American stage.

COSTUME PARTY

The Eliot Church Choir held their annual party on Monday evening, the ladies being in charge, and a most enjoyable evening was spent. The majority of the ladies were costumed to represent different advertisements or books and all but one of the men were dressed as ladies with placards on their backs, "Votes for Women." The exception was Mr. Will Ellison, who won the prize for the best costume. He represented an "anti-suffragette." Mrs. Black of Newton, costumed as the "Ladies' World," won the lady's prize. Other costumes were, Mrs. Cooper of Newton Highlands, "Dustless Duster"; Mrs. Davis of Faneuil, "Under Two Flags"; Mrs. Dyar of Watertown, "Velvet Kisses"; Mrs. Marshall of Newton, "Lavender and Old Lace"; Mrs. Mitchell of Somerville, "Readymade Soups"; Mrs. Rogers of Newton, "Ward's Tip-Top Bread"; Miss Estabrook of West Newton, "Saturday Evening Post"; Miss Morton of Watertown, "Boston Post"; Miss Bliss of Newton, "Welch's Grape Juice"; Miss Roberts of Dorchester, "Domino Sugar"; Miss Partridge of Newton, "Santal"; Miss Stafford of Newton, "Dutch Cleanser"; Miss Wentworth of Waltham, "Ridgeway Tea"; Miss Whipple of Newton, "Royal Baking Powder"; and Miss Della Wood of Watertown, "Lewandos." The men in costume were Norton Chapelle of Watertown, Edward Bacon of Newton, Ralph Somers of Chelsea, Everett Tette of Brookline, Robert Pillow of Allston, Philip Horne of Newton, Will Ellison of Newton, George Clarke of Allston.

There were numerous games and contests in which the prizes were won by Mr. Ralph Somers, Miss Helen Morton, Mr. Jenkins and Miss Della Wood, Mrs. Marjorie Dyar of Watertown, Mr. Bacon and Miss Bliss won prizes guessing their identity.

Later in the evening umbrellas were presented to Mr. Jenkins, Mrs. Rogers, and Miss Boothby for perfect attendance at 97 rehearsals and services. A second prize of a book, was presented to Miss Della Wood who had missed but one service. The booby prize was taken by Mr. Albert Kerr, who had been absent 46 times (the prize was diaphanous umbrella, with 46 holes in it).

A paper was read by Mrs. L. N. Marshall, knocking in good-natured fun, various members of the choir.

While refreshments were being served Mr. Truette, the director, was presented with a handsome umbrella from the choir, with his monogram engraved on the handle.

The committee in charge of this novel and most enjoyable evening consisted of Miss Ensign, chairman, Mrs. Cooper, Mrs. Dyar, Mrs. Rogers, Miss Roberts and Miss Wood.

DEATH OF CHARLES T. CALLEY

Mr. Charles T. Calley, son of Mr. and Mrs. Preston J. Calley of Newtonville, died last week on Thursday, after an illness resulting from a surgical operation performed about a month ago.

The deceased was 21 years old and had resided in Newtonville two years. The funeral was held Saturday afternoon at his late home on Washington park.

Services were conducted at 2 o'clock by Rev. Perry Bush of Chelsea. The burial was in the family lot in Woodlawn Cemetery, Everett.

Take Kellogg's
Tasteless
Castor Oil
and Keep Healthy

MOST sickness comes from the bowels getting clogged with poisonous impurities. Gently cleanse and lubricate these organs from time to time and much sickness and suffering will be avoided.

An Ideal Cathartic is Kellogg's Tasteless Castor Oil. It is but the pure oil of castor beans with the bad taste, so offensive in common castor oil, entirely removed.

Easy to take. Works perfectly. No gassy effects. Cleanses, heals, lubricates. Perfectly safe—never does any harm.

Far superior to common castor oil. Buy a bottle of Kellogg's Tasteless Castor Oil to-day and always keep it on hand.

At Russell Field, North Cambridge, Friday afternoon, Cambridge Latin beat Newton High, 5 to 3, in the opening game of the Cambridge League. It was the seventh successive win for Cambridge Latin.

Siebert pitched for Cambridge Latin and although troubled with a lame arm, he was effective in the pinches. Newton, owing to the suspension of Dave Higgins, was forced to use Keller on the firing line and he did well to hold Cambridge Latin to seven hits.

Cambridge Latin scored its first two runs in the second. Newton scored in the third and sixth. In the seventh, Cambridge Latin got a life after Sandford popped to Bryson. O'Connell walked and Lavey singled, sending O'Connell to second. Harbough fanned, but Burke beat out an infield hit to O'Neil and O'Connell scored.

MOTHERS' REST

The M. R. A. entertainment to be held at 3 o'clock on the afternoon of June 6 at the home of Mr. Addison Burnham, Bracebridge road, Newton Centre, is creating a great deal of interest with its tennis tournament, archery meet and Tea Dance.

A large number of entries have been made in the boys and girls singles and mixed doubles.

The drawings have been made and may be seen at Hahn's Drug Store. The first round must be played by June first at any place.

The finals being played on the exhibition courts on the afternoon of June 6. There will be cups for the winners.

That portion of the playgrounds used by the Archery Club is very accessible to the Burnham place and there the archery meet will be held and a cup presented to the winners.

Some champion archers have been asked to give an exhibition shoot that day and visitors may expect a rare treat.

The information about entering the archery contest will be given by Mr. Burton Payne Gray.

Refreshments may be had all the afternoon and supper will be served from 6 to 7 to accommodate those from out of town or who desire to stay over for the evening.

There will be dancing indoors and on the piazza to the music of Jack Spalding's orchestra. The grounds, situated in such a lovely part of Newton Centre, will prove a delightful spot for such an afternoon and evening. Tickets which include all the entertainments may be had from any member of the finance committee and also at Hahn's Drug Store. All those using the Boulevard cars will find it convenient to get out at Ashton Park and walk thru to Pleasant street.

WINS BALL GAME

Newton High easily defeated the Boston College High nine, 9 to 3, on Clafin Field yesterday afternoon. Edgar Gill started in pitching for Boston College High, but Newton got to him in the first and third innings for eight runs, and he was displaced by Capt. Robert Gill.

Newton High could not touch Bob Gill. Only one hit and one run were made, and he had the local players eating out of his hand. Keller was on the firing line for Newton High and he shone on several occasions by virtue of his fine handwork.

Newell and Wansker did the timely stick work for Newton. Capt. O'Neill, Bryson, King and Harris fielded well for the home team. The best all-round work Boston College High was done by Manley, Duffy and Spillane.

In the opening inning two bases on balls, one error, two fielders' choices and one hit enabled Newton High to score its four runs, while in the third two errors, two hits, a fielders' choice and a base on balls netted the Orange and Black four more tallies.

Brighthelmstone Club Country Fair

The Country Fair, for which the members of the Brighthelmstone Club have been working for many weeks, comes off next week, June 4, 5, and 6, on the old Allston Golf Club grounds. Thursday, the opening day, will be Mayor's Day. The attractions include a pet stock show, a play in the evening, a cabaret and general dancing in the big tent. On Friday, Governor's Day, there will be a horse show in the afternoon and another play in the evening. Saturday will be Children's Day and with all sorts of features appealing to the young folk, children's coaching parade, baby show, base ball game, etc., etc. A prominent feature will be the bazaar, which will occupy the entire clubhouse and overflow into enormous tents on the fair grounds. The doll booth will show a collection already numbering over 500. Each member of this committee is scouring the fashion magazines to discover some new pinner, coatee or tunic idea that can be introduced into the wardrobe of the dolls.

The proceeds will be used for club work and a generous patronage from Newton club women will be highly appreciated, there being many members of the club living within the borders of this city.

Annual Meeting of the Massachusetts State Federation of Women's Clubs

Sunny skies and warm weather greeted the delegates when they arrived in Worcester on May 20 for the annual meeting of the State Federation. A committee of Worcester women were on hand at the station to meet the delegates and direct them to the club house. Everywhere the Worcester Woman's Club was the gracious hostess and all the details were most carefully attended to, so that nothing which could make for the comfort or convenience of their guests was overlooked.

Miss Arabella H. Tucker, the president, gave a cordial address of welcome to which the Federation president, Mrs. George W. Perkins, responded.

The morning session was given up to the annual reports of the clerk, assistant clerk, corresponding secretary, treasurer, auditor, General Federation secretary and the chairman of special committees, including, badge, press and settlement work. Interest centered around the report of the Field Agent for the Endowment Fund, Mrs. Nathan N. Denison. The Massachusetts clubs had never been known to fall in anything which they had attempted and the delegates were not to be disappointed in the report of this effort, for $11,387.56 had been paid in by Massachusetts clubwomen, while but $10,000 had been apportioned to them. This report was received with great enthusiasm and the heartiest expression of appreciation was given Mrs. Denison for her untiring efforts which made the result possible.

Miss Georgia A. Bacon told of plans for the coming Chicago Biennial prominent among which may be mentioned the memorial service to be held on Sunday afternoon for Mrs. Sarah Platt Decker and other members of the Executive Board who have passed away during the Biennial period. Miss Bacon stated that it is expected that this Biennial will have the largest attendance and the best arranged program in the history of the General Federation. The Massachusetts delegation will leave Boston on June 8, at 1:45 P. M.

Mrs. Winfield S. Ripley gave some facts about the proposed Domestic Science and Pure Food Exposition, which the State Federation is to hold in co-operation with the Retail Grocer's Association in Mechanics Building during the month of October. She urged the clubs to take a tea room day, to make use of the Exposition stamps and to come to the exposition in large numbers.

The afternoon session opened with messages of greeting from numerous State Federations followed by the report of the nominating committee. The Australian ballot having been adopted by the Federation by vote in November, the voting did not take place until the following forenoon and much time and annoyance was saved from the meeting and giving at the same time perfect secrecy and freedom in accepting or rejecting the ticket presented.

Reports from four departments, Bureau of Information, Civics, Civil Service Reform, and Conservation followed, the session closing with a delightful and instructive lecture upon "The Birds of the World" by Mr. Baynes.

Mr. Baynes is devoted lover and observer of the birds and their habits and has the power of creating enthusiasm among his listeners. He showed many beautiful pictures of birds which have become extinct through the selfishness and thoughtlessness of man and of many wild ones which he has been able to tame through feeding and kindly treatment. "Create in the hearts of the people an interest in and a love for the birds and they won't want to injure them."

Visits to the Art Museum, to the new Tuberculosis hospital, the manual training schools and other points of interest were arranged at the close of the session.

In the evening the hostess tendered the delegates a delightful reception in the hall of the club house when there was opportunity to meet old friends and make new ones, a feature which should not be minimized.

The Thursday morning session opened with the presentation of eight new clubs: Auburns Woman's, Old Colony Union of Bourne, Leominster Fortnightly, North Adams Woman's, Southbridge Woman's, Worcester Fire-side, Worcester Tatnuck and the Winthrop Woman's Civic League. Mrs. W. S. Ripley urged subscriptions to the General Federation Magazine and a detailed account was given of some of the special features of the Domestic Science and Pure Food Exposition. This evening the annual concert will be given in the assembly hall, the proceeds to go to the library. The program will consist of selections by the orchestra girls' Glee Club, and the High School Chorus, assisted by soloists. All indications at present point to an unusually good entertainment, better even than those of former years which have been of a very high order. After the concert there will be dancing in the gymnasium.

Last Friday afternoon the last candy sale of the year was held in the gymnasium under the direction of the department of the Classical High School. Miss Ruth Peirce and Miss Ruth Homer had direct charge of the fair. Over fifty dollars was realized, this money will be used to purchase beautiful picture painted by Mr. Daniels, for the High School. Music was furnished by Spalding's Orchestra.

HILL CREST
 Have you ever been to Waban In apple-blossom time? You leave the noisy city— Its softness and grime, And you turn your weary footsteps Toward the setting sun, With Hades left behind you And Heaven just begun!
 Have you ever lived in Waban In apple-blossom time? When the orioles are singing And the year is in its prime— When the trees, in rosy snow-drifts Shed their petals on the grass And all the world is sunshine Where shadows swiftly pass.
 Have you ever lived in Waban In apple-blossom time? Then all the year you seem to hear A fairy wedding-chime— For I know a winsome Lady Of loveliness so rare, That if I ever fall in love, I know it will be there!
 O come with me to Waban, In apple-blossom time! One day of play, in Merry May— It cannot be a crime; I know a sunny hillside, Where shimmering pine-trees bloom— And my heart 's left behind me In an old Colonial room.
 When the orioles are singing, And the Spring is in its prime— Ah, come with me to Waban, In apple-blossom time!
 —ELIZABETH JACOBI.

UNDER THE GILDED DOME
 Representative Bothfield as chairman of the Metropolitan Affairs committee was in charge of the unsuccessful fight made Tuesday in the House to save the present Boston city council. Mr. Bothfield made a valiant fight but Boston Democracy as represented by Mr. Lomasney, had made too many trades and a bill giving Boston a city council of 17 members elected by districts was passed in concurrence with the Senate.
 Representative White, chairman of Ways and Means, has warned the House many times that a large increase in the state tax is inevitable, and it will probably jump from eight millions to twelve millions of dollars. This increase would add about $75,000 to our present state tax, making a total of nearly a quarter of a million dollars.
 A petition has been presented to the House asking for legislation to relieve municipal authorities from the present compulsion to grant permits to transport intoxicating liquors in No-license communities. At this late stage of the session, however, it is doubtful if any bill can be passed.
 Mr. White voted in favor and Messrs. Bothfield and Ellis with the majority in the negative on the bill to require the telephone company to equip public telephones with registers.
 All three of our representatives voted against the bill passed by a vote of 112 to 103 for an investigation of the present administration of Middlesex County. Personally I believe it is bad politics to refuse this investigation and firmly believe that any middle-minded investigation of Middlesex County affairs will show such an excellent administration as to end for some time, at least, the rumors that County matters are not as they should be. Middlesex County, financially, is in excellent condition, thanks to the care given that matter by the chairman of the County Commissioners, Mr. Levi S. Gould, and I am sure that all the other departments are equally efficient. The Republican party should welcome and even invite the closest investigation of all public matters in their hands, and the result will benefit the party candidates all along the line.
 $20,000 is authorized to be expended by the Metropolitan Police Commissioners for dredging Charles River between Waltham and Watertown by a bill which is now on its way thru the House. The dredging above the dam at Waltham has been indefinitely postponed.
 Governor Walsh has very properly vetoed the bill to reinstate a member of the Metropolitan police force who was removed on account of conviction for grafting. Why should the Legislature pass such a bill in the first place?
 The Senate has ordered to a third reading a bill to require another station on the Boylston street tunnel at Arlington street. Senator Hilton very properly represented his constituents in voting against this bill which not only imposes additional cost on the work, but will require additional time to make the stop. The Rapid Transit Commission has filed a report stating that in their opinion the present terminal of the Boylston street tunnel should be at Park street and leaving to a future time a consideration of extending that subway to Post Office square.

SUCCESSFUL BENEFIT
 Gratifying success attended the dramatic performance given Monday and Tuesday evenings in Norumbega Hall, Auburndale, under the direction of Mr. Charles E. Kennedy, who also appeared in the leading role.
 "Ici on Parle Français," a vaudeville sketch, was presented by a competent cast, and the hall was crowded at both performances.
 The audience was very enthusiastic in showing its appreciation of the acting and the characters were cleverly portrayed by Mr. Kennedy, who took the part of Victor Duval, Mr. John Turner in the role of "Major Rogers Rattan"; Lowell MacNutt, as Mr. Spriggins; and Mrs. William Fuller in the interesting role of "Mrs. Spriggins."
 Miss Edith Jacobs was excellent in the role of Julia (Mrs. Regulus Rattan) and Miss Ethel Brewster as "Angelina," and Mrs. J. R. Draper as "Anna Maria," were among the best in the cast.
 An attractive musical program was furnished by the Liederkreis School of Music. At the Monday evening performance Miss Miriam Herron contributed some finely rendered violin solos, and Miss Bertha Everett Morgan, teacher of Elocution at Mt. Ida School, entertained with readings.
 On Tuesday evening, Miss Hazelle Lorraine was heard in pleasing vocal selections, Miss Ruth Allen gave a demonstration in fancy dancing, and Mr. Harry J. West gave some amusing monologues.
 The play was well staged by Mr. C. W. Blood. The proceeds are for the benefit of the Auburndale playground fund.

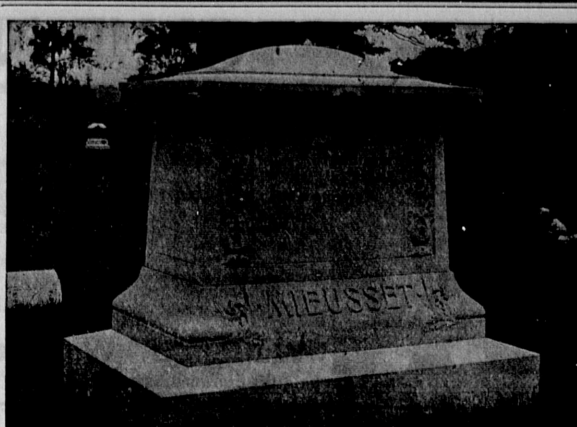

NEWTON BOWLING LEAGUE DINNER
 The Newton Bowling League, comprising eight teams, held its first annual banquet at the American House Wednesday night with about 50 present. Pres. Frank Crockett presided and Vice Pres. W. A. Hersey was toastmaster. Frank Wiley was chairman of the committee in charge.
 George Harris responded to the toast, "40 Years a Bowler." The teams in the league are Maugus, Neholden, Northgate, Newton, Hunnewell, Riverdale, Newtowne and Arlington Boat.
LAWN PARTY
 The Young Women's Club of St. John's Church, Newtonville, will give a Lawn Party and Cabaret on Thursday evening, June 4th at the residence of Mrs. Pitt F. Drew, 27 Grove Hill avenue for the benefit of the Parish House Fund.

 representatives, and is overwhelmingly Democratic of course.
 Trolley cars then carried us to a point on the Colorado river, where the city is building a huge dam for the purpose of furnishing power. On the way over, I had a brief talk with the mayor, and I learned that Austin pays but 20 cents a thousand gallons for its water, and makes a profit of $100,000 yearly at that. It has the usual Southern system of commission government, but I understood the mayor to say that he favored the city manager plan which is now being practiced at Dayton, O.
 At the dam we had another barbecue, the second on the trip. This barbecue was far better than that at Sugarland, as salt was provided, as well as some side dishes that were rather appetizing. I still believe that a barbecue is an acquired and not a natural method of taking food.
 There was some mixup of automobile arrangements that afternoon, and the most of us, after a hot and tiresome wait on the street sidewalk, were left to our own devices for the afternoon, gathering later at the Texas State University where there were more speeches. Later the governor gave us an informal reception at the Governor's mansion, with the customary handshake and good bye. A Dutch supper, with little to eat and considerable beer to drink was then served at a German beer garden in the city. Some of us broke away early from this unsatisfactory affair and enjoyed a good breakfast at one of the hotels. Austin has its main streets splendidly lighted with a series of small lights arranged diamond shape, with a brighter light in the center. The effect is remarkable. It also has a few of the cluster arc lights arranged on a high tower, a system which is being discarded about everywhere it has been used.
 Late that night we again turned into our Pullman berths, rather tired but still game for the program of the next day.
